U.S. Likes Peace Idea Of Indonesia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House today accepted an Indonesian suggestion that preliminary U. S.-North Vietnamese talks take place aboard an Indonesian warship in neutral waters.

Indonesia's foreign minister made the proposal after Hanoi and Washington for some weeks were unable to get together on a site for their initial contacts.

White House press secretary George Christian said he was not sure whether a formal reply had been sent to Indonesia, but he said carefully that the suggestion "is acceptable to the United States and you can be assured this would be conveyed to the Indonesian government."

Christian did not know whether the matter had been discussed by American and North Vietnamese diplomats in Laos where much of the discussions over a site have taken place.

News of the suggestion by foreign minister Adam Malik first came from Jakarta in news reports, although it was evident there had been earlier official contact by Jakarta with U. S. officials.

Asked whether the United States would be willing for the American - North Vietnamese meeting to be arranged aboard an Indonesian ship, Christian answered with a flat "yes."

U.S. Halts Possible New Red Hue Drive

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. paratroopers wiped out a North Vietnamese battalion in a two-day battle yesterday and today and possibly saved the city of Hue from a May Day invasion, front dispatches reported. Heavy fighting raged near Hue tonight (Saigon time).

UPI correspondent Raymond M. Wilkinson said men of the 101st Airborne Division killed 117 Communists today in their final thrust against a battalion which alreadyhad lost 217 men. So far this week the Communists in that general area have lost 791 dead.

The paratroopers battling near the village of Phuoc Yen five miles northwest of Hue also captured 95 persons, many of them found hiding in a river and breathing through hollow reeds. Prisoners said almost all of their officers had been killed in the fighting.

Tonight the paratroopers were being hit by rocket-propelled grenades at a rate of about 100 within a 30-minute period, Wilkinson said. The grenades were believed to be comming from another Communist unit in the area.

Still another Communist battalion was reported under attack by 101st Airborne units and South Vietnamese Black Panther troops a mile and a half to the west. Reports from the scene said these Red troops also were trying to reach Hue for a May Day assault.

South Africans Plan Pancreas Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPIK(—Heart transplant surgeon Dr. Christiaan Barnard disclosed today South Africa's first pancreas transplant will be attempted soon at Cape Town's Groote Schuur Hospital.

Barnard said he wouldn't be performing the operation himself as it was "immensely complex".

Committee Boosts LBJ Tax Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $22 billion dollar economic plan recommended by the White House and designed to free President Johnson's long-stalled tax boost.

Under the plan, Johnson's spending plans for the new fiscal year would be cut $4 billion. New appropriations would be cut $10 billion and $8 billion in previous appropriations would be rescinded.

CLOSED SESSION

The package was laid before the committee by top Administration officials at a closed session. It was put together at a White House meeting last night.

Republicans denounced the economy proposal as inadequate, and offered their own counterplan to cut spending by $6 billion, appropriations by $14 billion, and to rescind $6 billion in earlier appropriations.

The GOP plan was rejected and committee Republicans then abstained from voting on the Administration proposal worked out in a meeting by Johnson with key Democrats.

Senate-House conferees have been deadlocked over a Senate-passed bill to combine the tax increase with a $6 billion cut in spending.

SENATE REACTION

Asked how the Senate would react to the proposal for a smaller spending cut, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, "If it's the best we can get I suppose we'll have to take it."

Ways and Means members for months have been refusing to act on the tax bill until offsetting cuts were promised in government spending.

INDUSTRIAL ART'S SAKE

Wackiest Boats Get In The Swim

By ALAN JONES

A fine spring madness crept in through the side door of the Tamalpais High School swimming pool yesterday, leaving in its wake a flotilla of sunken and dismembered water buggies.

Inspired by a similar project at Stanford University recently, instructor Roger Griffith had his advanced industrial arts class build a collection of water buggies for a race in the pool.

Students could use any layout and any materials they wanted. The only requirements were that the buggies had to be foot-powered and had to negotiate two lengths of the pool, with the first buggy home the winner.

The enthusiastic students, aided by a small rooting section of coeds and teachers, assembled their inventions by the pool for nearly two hours before the fleet was launched and the race started.

There were plastic-wrapped logs, foam floats, frames of two by four timbers, welded assemblages of bicycle parts that looked like Tinguely sculptures, paddle wheels of all descriptions, hot water heaters and a dozen or more well-soaked students crowding the pool.

One water heater, cut open and equipped with a wicked-

$45 Million Refund In Court Gas Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's 5.5 million natural gas customers will receive $45 million in refunds under a U.S. Supreme Court ruling today, the California Public Utilities Commission estimated.

The commission said the court order also would bring a $7.5 million annual rate reduction to the customers of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. and Pacific Lighting Co.

However, the PUC spokesman said the refund to individual customers could not be determined as a formula would have to be devised since the amounts of gas purchased varied widely.

PG&E provides natural gas to two million customers in Northern California. Pacific Lighting serves the Southern California area.

Larry McDonald, a PG&E spokesman, said it was "impossible to estimate when or how much" the firm's customers would get back. "The amount is up in the air and will have to be decided by the Federal Power Commission."

He noted Pacific Gas & Electric had supported the FPC rate-setting order upheld by the court.

The court, in a 7-1 decision, upheld the FPC's power to set rates for natural gas producers and confirmed the commission's orders for gas produced at Permian Basin in Texas and New Mexico. The Permian Basin gas produced by El Paso Natural Gas Co. provides about half of PG&E's gas.

"El Paso, our supplier and producer, will now go before the FPC, which will determine the type and amount of refunds and the rates for the future. We're just a customer and haven't any idea what our new rates will be," McDonald said. "It's very difficult to estimate how much is involved."

Legal Fight Perils Marincello Future

Developer Faces Suit By Owner

By MARY LEYDECKER

Marincello, a center of controversy since the huge development on Marin headlands above Sausalito was first proposed, is today the center of a three-cornered legal fight that imperils its future.

Gulf Oil Co., owner of almost all of the Marincello land, has filed suit in Federal District Court in Los Angeles against Thomas Frouge, who was to develop the planned community.

TRYING TO SETTLE

"We have talked to Frouge for more than a year trying to settle disagreements arising from our 1963 agreement with him without success," the Gulf spokesman said.

"Now we are asking the judge to decide the matter for us," he added. The suit asks for "declaratory relief in the matter of contracts for purchase of land."

REMAINING ACREAGE

Frouge entered into an agreement with Gulf Oil Co. in 1963 which would allow him to purchase and develop land from the oil company, which owns about 2,000 of the 2,138 acres of the proposed development. Frouge owns the remaining acreage.

The law suit filed by the Gulf Oil Co. came on the heels of a complicated legal and financial tangle resulting in at least two other law suits and a request for

Marin Faces Fiscal Welfare Dilemma

An added $47,000 for public assistance in Marin was pictured yesterday as a drop in the bucket to what could happen due to a court injunction scrapping residence requirements.

Marin's supervisors at yesterday's board meeting speculated on the far-reaching ramifications of the injunction following the $47,000 forecast by the Marin County Department of Public Social Services (Welfare), and found themselves facing the possibility of an influx oof relief seekers or drastic cuts in aid to present recipients. (Other supervisors stories on page 38.)

Welfare Director Betty L. Presley appeared before the board asking policy clarification on the injuction handed down two weeks ago by a special three-man federal court in San Francisco! The court ordered all counties to abolish residency requirements for the aged, disabled, aid to families with dependent children and general relief.

Miss Presley pointed out that

Rockefeller Write-In Stuns Volpe

BOSTON (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who polled a flood of write-in votes only hours after announcing his candidacy, today was declared the winner of the Massachusetts presidential preference primary in a startling upset.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota easily won the Democratic race as expected

Heart Attack Means Lengthy Ike Bed Stay

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, victim of a heart seizure for the fourth time in 13 years, today faced long weeks of bed-bound convalescence in the hospital at this desert air base.

An Air Force spokesman announced yesterday the 77-year-old soldier-statesman had suffered a myocardial infarction —damage to the heart muscle as the result of a blood clot. He described the attack as "mild" and said a general prognosis cannot be made at this time.

'IN GOOD SPIRITS'

Eisenhower was reported to be "comfortable and in good spirits."

"Gen. Eisenhower will not depart for Gettysburg May 6 as previously scheduled," the spokesman said. "He probably will be at March Air Force Base for several weeks and eventually will be transferred to Walter Reed General Hospital (in Washington, D.C.) near his home for convalescence."

Eisenhower, who suffered "some chest discomfort" Monday, had a good day yesterday with no chest pain, the Air Force spokesman said. "Blood pressure has remained normal, and he has no fever. He has been visited by Mrs. Eisenhower," the spokesman added.

DOCTORS FLOWN IN

Like many bed-ridden heart patients, Eisenhower was on a low calorie diet with salt kept to a minimum. The diet was designed to hold down his weight while he is recovering. He has private nursing service around the clock.

The diagnosis of Eisenhower's ailment as a heart attack was made by two military physicians from Walter Reed Hospital, who flew to March Air Force Base early yesterday in a plane made available by President Johnson. They are Col. Loren F. Parmley, chief of Walter Reed's department of medicine; and Col. Robert J. Hall, chief of cardiology at the hospital.

Crime Bill Controversy Goes To Senate Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate took up today the major national problem, and key political issue, of crime in the streets.

Before it is finished the body must pass on some of the hottest controversies in public discussion —control of guns, regulation of wiretapping, federal versus local control of anticrime funds, and court handling of confessions.

The basic proposal is the Administration's so-called safe streets and crime control bill, a four-part measure designed to improve state and local law enforcement through federal grants for training and research.

The package drew far from unanimous approval of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and it faced about 20 major efforts to amend it, by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's estimate.

A major disputed provision of the bill is the machinery for allocating crimefighting funds. The Administration recommended allowing the attorney general to distribute the funds directly to communities, and the committee agreed by a slender 8 -7 vote.

The House, in approving its version of the bill last year, voted for "bloc grants" to state anticrime agencies, which then would allocate the money to communities. This view has substantial support among Republicans and Southerners in the Senate.

The gun control section adopted by the committee would ban mail order sales of handguns and limit over-the-counter purchases to state residents 21 and over. It faces attempts both to liberalize it and to tighten it.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., planned to lead the fight against the amendment dealing with Supreme Court decisions. The amendment would allow the trial judge to decide whether a confession was voluntarily given. If the judge was upheld by the highest state judge, the decision could not be reversed by any federal court.

Wedding Tragedy

BENARES, India (UPI) — A truck hit a tree and plunged into a ravine last night, killing 19 members of a wedding party. Police said 25 others were injured seriously. The bride and groom were not in the truck.

GROCER FILLS LONG RANGE SHOPPING LIST

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—John Haan, owner of a supermarket, received a shopping list in the mail, with $6 enclosed.

The list asked for pickled bologna, pickled pig's feet, chop suey, chow mein noodles, powdered milk, dry cereal, canned ginger ale, sugar and soft drink.

"Perhaps the list is a bit unusual, but it's for a GI on the other side of the world," said the sender, Spec. 4 Robert E. Bosma, 19, formerly an employee at the supermarket and now on duty with U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Haan said he'd fill the order and sent the $6 back to Bosma.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $112.8 million authorization for the Peace Corps passed the Senate yesterday and went to the House.

Poor People's March Sure To Help, Abernathy Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy said today he is confident the Poor People's March on Washington he is leading will yield "constructive results" in persuading Congress to act on new job, housing and antipoverty programs.

That was his reply to a reporter's suggestion that the mass demonstrations scheduled to get under way later this month might alienate rather than attract Congressional support for legislation aiding the poor.

"I don't know when Congress has acted on social legislation without some type of pressure," he said. "We certainly are not going to try to use physical force to coerce Congress.

"But we do intend to dramatize the plight of America's poor of all races—and make very clear that they are sick and tired of waiting for a better life."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Phone Pact Near

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiators in the crosscountry telephone strike indicated today they were nearing agreement on a new wage contract. Union sources said the basis for a settlement had been established. President Joseph A. Bierne of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) said union and management representatives "are seeing eye to eye on wage levels that the union can live with."

"Local committees in 18 locations are now wrestling with the remaining problems keeping us apart," he reported.

FBI Riot Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director J. Edgar Hoover says the FBI has no authority to control riots — and does not seek such national police power.

The FBI role in civil disorders, he writes in the May issue of the FBI's "Law Enforcement Bulletin," is to gather and disseminate intelligence, and to keep alert to specific violations of federal law.

Nevada Gives Hughes Go-Ahead On Casinos

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— The state of Nevada approved the sale of two more casinos on the Las Vegas Strip to billionaire Howard Hughes yesterday, making him the state's biggest gambling operator with a total of six clubs.

The Nevada Gaming Commission, by a vote of 3-2, permitted Hughes to purchase the Stardust hotel-casino for $30.5 million and the Silver Slipper casino for $5.3 million.

SEOUL (AP) — An American-made hand grenade exploded in a downtown cable office last night, injuring seven persons. Information Minister Hong Jong-chul blamed North Korean saboteurs.

Plans Parade

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israel went ahead today with plans to hold a military parade through unified Jerusalem in defiance of the United Nations and warnings from the Arab states. Jordan sent the former mayor of the Israeli-seized Arab sector of the Holy City to the United Nations for the Security Council meeting this afternoon to back demands the parade be called off.

Volcanic Danger

MANILA (UPI) — Philippine authorities today warned 32,000 homeless residents of Mount Mayon volcano's danger area to stay away from their homes despite a reduction in eruptions. They said there would be danger from hot mud slides and floods from the volcano, which burst to life April 21 and has erupted 82 times since.

6,000 Returned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says 6,000 U.S. servicemen have been brought home from West Germany in a shuffling of European defense forces and another 27,000 are to be deployed to the United States by next Sept. 30.

13 Suffocate

DAR ES SALAAM (UPI) — Thirteen persons suffocated in the Tanzanian village of Mwanza when local authorities jammed them into a tiny room for failure to pay taxes, federal officials said today.

President Julius Nyerere said the incident would be investigated and the responsible officials punished.

Actors Eastwood, Garner Buy Land

CARMEL (AP)—Actors James Garner and Clint Eastwood Jr. have purchased 340 acres of woodsy Carmel Valley land for $640,000.

The property was bought from the Howard Hattan estate.

Garner and Eastwood didn't say what use they intended to make of the land.

Can faith really help

Yes, it can help to beat the devil

If you're selling faith short, maybe it's because faith is in short supply in your way of life. How long has it been since you've given serious thought to your Christian faith! How often do you act as if you had some? Next week, the Encounter Crusdae will bring the full impact of faith to the lives of thousands of people. Maybe you'll be one of them. Maybe not. Reliable sources report the devil is alive and well in California.

looking propeller, looked like a winner. Unfortunately it lacked floating power, water seeping in through the prop shaft and turning the vessel into the only submarine in the race.

Another entry supported by plastic wrapped logs looked formidable with its two giant paddles driven by bicycle chain, but when its rider mounted it heeled slowly to port like a miniature Titanic, pitching the pilot into the water in slow motion.

This is the kind of thing they're supposed to learn," Griffith shouted above the racket as the welds gave way on another paddle wheel.

At post time, the submarine lay at the wrong end of the pool and the unbalanced buggy again majestically turned turtle as the other seven entries foamed furiously away from the gate, jetsam growing in their wake. At the first turn there was a dead heat between four buggies, two of them by now reduced to wooden frames powered only by foot-paddling pilots.

But when it came to turning around, the bicycle-driven buggies could not maneuver, while the two foot-paddlers simply reversed themselves and started the other way.

The leading buggies were impeded by a series of head-ons with traffic still coming the other way, but Jeoff Spelman finally broke through with his buggy — or what was left of it — and kicked to a narrow win.

He had started out with a pair of paddlewheels, a seat, a bicycle chain drive and pedals, plus two-log flotation.

The buggy he kicked to the finish line was nothing but a frame of two by fours, the rest lying at the bottom of the pool or floating about with the other debris.

Most civilized vehicle in the race was a buggy built by Sam Parker Jr., who kept bone dry aboard a bicycle seat pedaling a perforated metal disk that served as paddlewheel. The only trouble was the chain drive kept falling off, usually in mid-pool.

Parker, whose buggy was first into the pool, was still dry and fully clothed at race end, although nowhere near the winners in speed.

So four other drivers swam up, jumped on his buggy and sank bicycle, Parker and all.

On the Republican preferential ballot returns from 1,722 or 99 per cent of the state's 1,734 precincts gave Rockefeller 30,903 votes, Volpe 29,663, Nixon 26,021, McCarthy 9,501, Reagan 1,826 and Kennedy 1,400.

On the Democratic preferential ballot, returns from 1,722 or 99 per cent of the state's 1,734 princts gave McCarthy 116,416 votes, Kennedy 64,662, Humphrey 41,934, and President Johnson 6,589.

The results dealt a staggering blow to Volpe who has been considered a possible vice presidential contender.

Legal Fight Perils Marincello Future

an injunction which came to light yesterday.

The situation was revealed in the Bay Area when an advertisement appeared in a San Francisco paper announcing the sale by a New York firm of the Frouge Corporation's share of the development.

The auction of the contracts which Frouge holds with Gulf Oil for development and purchase of the property was announced by VTR Inc. of New York which said that the contracts would be sold on May 17 in New York.

Frouge promptly countered, however, that VTR does not have the right to sell his contracts with Gulf Oil Co. and asked a New York court for an injunction to prevent the proposed sale. A Frouge spokesman said that decision on injunction will be made Friday.

Frouge also said that he is not "pulling out" of Marincello and that he is "very optimistic" about receiving Federal Housing Authority commitments for financing the project.

Representatives of Gulf Oil Co. in Pittsburgh, Pa., main office said Gulf cannot comment on the complicated picture until the courts reach a decision.

Frouge and the president of VTR, however, were only too willing to give their sides of the dispute.

Frederick Gould, who became president of VTR in February, said that he is going to sell the contracts because the Frouge Co. did not live up to their part of an agreement with VTR and that the contracts were security for the deal.

Although Frouge agrees that the contracts were given to VTR in exchange for financing, his story and Gould's differ from that point on.

His firm and VTR entered a "Joint venture agreement" in 1966, Frouge said, and under the agreement VTR was supposed to put up $5 million for part of the preliminary development of the property. In exchange for the money, Frouge put up his contract with Gulf Oil Co. for development and purchase of the property as security.

Frouge, in his court action, says that VTR came up with only $800,000 and also that VTR furnished fraudulent financial statements on which the agreement was based. For these reasons, Frouge declared the agreement dissolved.

A suit against Frouge for the return of the $800,000 to VTR has been filed in New York.

Frouge claims the fradulent financial statements were made by four former VTR officials, including the president and vice president. The four, who are no longer with the firm, have been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in New York on charges of conspiracy, mail fraud and false statements in connection with their activities with VTR. They have pleaded innocent.

A Frouge spokesman said that the 1962-64 period covered by the indictment is part of the period for which financial statements were furnished to Frouge Corp. and on which the agreement was based.

Frouge has filed a suit against VTR, alleging fraud and asking $2.5 million in damages.

A local spokesman for Frouge said that Frouge and VTR became involved in the financing arrangements after they were "put in touch" by a New York bank. "VTR formerly was a tire company," he said, "and since they had sold out to a larger company, we were told they had cash to invest."

After the arrangement with VTR did not work out, the spokesman said, Frouge decided to stop work on Marincello and seek federal backing under a provision of the New Cities Act which provides financing of planned communities adjacent to urban areas.

"The studies necessary to get an FHA commitment kept the staff busy for the past year," he said. He added that Frouge is confident that the FHA commitment is forthcoming and added that financial backers "would be standing in line" if he gets the committment.

Work on the development has ceased during the past year except for maintenance.

Marincello, first proposed in 1964, has been strongly opposed by conservationists and other citizens largely on the basis that its population density would be higher than county standards.

Although only 8 per cent of the land would be occupied by "cluster-type" housing, the population of the city would eventually be 20,000.

Tomales Bay Principal Will Resign

David Raffo will submit his resignation as superintendent-principal of Tomales Bay School District to the board of trustees at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school in Tomales.

Raffo, who has headed the Tomales district for four years, said today he has signed a contract as principal of the new Crespi Elementary School in Laguna Salada School District in San Mateo County. The school will open for the first time with the start of the next term in September.

He said the new job will pay about $1,100 more than he receives in Tomales.

Raffo became superintendent-principal in Tomales after teaching for six years in the San Anselmo School District. He is a graduate of Marist College in Framingham, Mass., and received his teaching credential from San Francisco State College. While teaching in San Anselmo, he completed his master's degree at Dominican College in San Rafael.

The school board will set up a screening committee to assist in finding a new superintendent, Raffo said.

WELFARE

cases which would receive additional aid under the ruling would cost Marin an additional $7,902 for May and June and an estimated $47,412 for the fiscal year 1968-69 provided there was no great influx of needy persons.

Said Supervisor Peter H. Behr, "Our safeguards on what we spend have depended on residency requirements. If we lift them we may attract people from the Deep South.

"This is one of the major decisions of the year," said Chairman Ernest Kettenhofen. "Since people coming in here could only afford low cost substandard housing, this would force a poverty ghetto." The matter was put over one week for a progress report.

At stake in the decision is the county's policy of supplementing the minimum of state-federal assistance. Miss Presley gave as an example a mother with one small child. The minimum is $145 per month, a standard long at the same level. Marin County, allowing for rise in living costs, now supplements this to $184.

Figures supplied by Miss Presley today showed marked difference in supplemental aid to certain welfare recipients by neighboring counties. February figures showed that Marin disbursed $191,324 in dependent children assistance, $24,568 of which was supplemental aid, or 12 per cent.

Dependent children aid in other counties for February was: San Francisco, $1,745,811 with $111,363 in supplements, or 6 per cent; Alameda, $2,203,273 with $24,392 in supplemental aid for special needs and work training, or 1 per cent; Contra Costa, $1,219,674 with $30,950 in supplements, or 2 per cent, mainly for employment plan costs; Solano, $312,906 with $600 for emergency health care only, and Sonoma, $486,068, with no supplemental aid.

Miss Presley said Marin's policy is to provide recipients of dependent children aid with enough extra funds so that they can reasonably keep up with living costs. The principal policy of other counties, she added, is to provide supplements only for special needs.

Miss Presley took anxious note yesterday of the supervisors' desire to freeze the tax rate in 1968-69. Her department's allotment for supplemental aid is thus limited to $250,000, although it totals $273,000 in the current budget and her 1968-69 estimate is $387,000.

"We have to develop alternatives, other criteria, a uniform method of staying within a certain amount," said Miss Presley. Supervisor John F. McInnis suggested getting together with adjacent counties to set uniform standards.

Mrs. Ann McCrorry in the audience rose to demand that a public hearing "with adequate preparation" be held, and suggested that the board "try to see the whole matter of public assistance in a larger orbit."

Miss Presley revealed that since the injunction was handed down, her department has not increased grants, pending the board's decision. Asst. County Administrator Thomas P. Campanella informed the board that the increases must be granted until the injunction, which is headed for the U.S. Supreme Court, either becomes law or is thrown out.

Kettenhofen, debating the advisability of cutting assistance to a substandard level, said "I'm worried about hurting people who are our responsibility."

Behr noted that in any case, should a cut be necessary, recipients would be given 30 days at the current rate, time to adjust themselves.

Adding to the supervisors' woe, Campanella said that County Counsel Thomas Maloney "believes you cannot apply durational residence as a criterion."

Red May Day Orators Flay U.S. Actions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Soviet Defense Minister Andrei Grechko accused the United States today of creating the threat of a new world war by "imperialistic" adventures in Vietnam. His speech in Moscow set the tone of worldwide Communist observance of May Day.

Much of the May Day observance was spent in holiday partying in the non-Communist countries but police were out in force in Rome, West Berlin and Madrid in expectation of student anti-government riots. A silent protest was planned in Warsaw.

The first rioting was reported from Madrid where riot police swinging clubs, waded into hundreds of workers staging a May Day demonstration in the heart of the Spanish capital.

In Berlin, West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt accused the Communist regime in East Germany of provoking a new Berlin crisis in an attempt to sabotage East-West relaxation of tensions.

In Warsaw, Communist Party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka opened the celebrations with a verbal attack on the United States in which he said the 25,000 to 30,000 Jews in Poland are better off than the millions of persons of Polish extraction in the United States.

In Moscow, the Soviet Union staged its annual Red Square parade. Eight minutes of rumbling military tools including two 120-foot Dolphin nuclear-armed missiles which can destroy cities were followed by ranks of girls wiggling placards. Vodka glasses were hoisted to mark the end of another Russian winter.

Hanoi Radio broadcast that President Ho Chi Minh and Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap of North Vietnam attended a Labor Day rally in their capital. The broadcast, heard in Tokyo, described Ho as healthy and smiling.

In Prague, for the first time in 20 years, few Soviet banners flew in the Czech capital. Western observers said it reflected the rotting of Czech-Soviet relations since a more liberal Communist regime took power in Prague in January.

OBITUARIES

Albert Urbais Dies At 71

Albert Urbais, co-owner of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop, died yesterday at a local hospital after a brief illness. Urbais, 71, was hospitalized after a heart attack Friday.

Urbais and his son, Richard A. Urbais, had run the boat and tackle shop for 15 years, first at the old San Francisco Yacht Club building where the Ondine and Trident restaurants now stand, and later at the present location at Gate 6, Waldo.

Urbais, of 810 Spring Street, Sausalito, was a native of San Francisco, and had lived in Marin 15 years. He served in the Navy during World War I and was a member of American Legion Post 429 in San Francisco.

He is survived by a son, Richard A. Urbais of Novato; two sisters, Ruth Urbais and Mrs. William Woodfield, both of San Francisco, and a granddaughter.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private. The family prefers contributions to the March of Dimes birth defect research program or to the Heart Association.

EVELYN BARBIERI

Evelyn P. Barbieri, wife of retired Bank of America senior vice president Renolds John Barbieri of San Rafael, died at a San Francisco hospital yesterday after a long illness. She was 68.

A native of North Dakota, Mrs. Barbieri had lived in California 45 years. She and her husband had a summer home in San Rafael for many years, and five years ago they retired here. Their home is at 458 South San Pedro Road.

Mrs. Barbieri is survived by her husband.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Ignatius Church, Fulton and Parker streets, San Francisco. Private entombment will be in Holy Cross Mausoleum. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Halstead and Co., 1123 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

ANTHONY BOUCHER

BERKELEY (AP) — Anthony Boucher, 56, author, editor and literary critic who wrote a weekly review column called "Criminal at Large" in the New York Times Book Review Magazine, died Monday night of cancer. Boucher, whose real name was William A.P. White, recently finished editing the latest annual "Best Detective Stories of the Year."

As a mystery writer, Boucher four times had won the Edgar Allen Poe Award given annually by the Mystery Writers of America. As a science fiction writer and editor, he was a cofounder of the Magazine of Fantasy and Science Fiction and for many years was its editor.

Born in Oakland of parents who were both physicians, Boucher was educated at USC and later took a master's degree at U.C. in Berkeley. Planning to teach languages, he switched to writing plays and then took up mystery writing. Later he ventured into science fiction.

He is survived by his widow, Phyllis, and two sons, Lawrence of San Jose and James of San Bernardino.

A requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow night at St. Augustine's Church here, with private interment later.

FREDERICK RUOFF

Funeral was scheduled today for Frederick Jack Ruoff, a street sweeper with the San Rafael Public Works Department for 36 years.

He died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 67.

A native of Plymouth, Amador County, Ruoff came to Marin more than 36 years ago and made his home at 1741 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. His wife, Ruth M. Ruoff, is a secretary in the Marin County Sheriff's Office.

Ruoff was a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

He also is survived by two sons, Dale C. Ruoff of Inglewood, Colo., and Donald J. Ruoff of San Rafael; two daughters, Mrs. Anne Baccei and Denice Ruoff, both of San Rafael; a brother, Lowell Ruoff of Martinez; two sisters, Mrs. Hazel King of Oakland and Mrs. Maxine Peters of San Leandro, and six grandchildren.

Burial was to be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

CHARLES ROBBA

Charles John Robba, Mill Valley computer operator, died in his sleep at home early today. Deputy Coroner Keith Craig attributed death to natural causes.

Robba, 47, of 12 Valley Circle, had a history of heart disease. He went to bed at 11 p.m. yesterday and was found dead at 6:30 a.m. today by his wife.

Robba was a native of Austria who had lived in California 22 years and in Marin 12 years. He was a computer operator with the federal government. He is survived by his wife, Marjorie, of Mill Valley.

Autopsy and funeral are pending at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

VICTORIA MENZIES

Memorial service for Victoria W. Menzies of Bolinas will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at St. Adrian's Episcopal Church, Bolinas.

Mrs. Menzies, 79, of Brighton Avenue, died Tuesday at a Woodacre rest home after a long illness. Born in Chihuahua, Mexico, she had lived in California since she was 5 and had lived in Marin 10 years. She was a member of St. Adrian's Church.

She is survived by a son, Arthur L. Menzies of Stinson Beach; a sister, Grace Lowe of Sonora; a brother, Joseph Waithman of Berkeley, two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

ROCKEFELLER HITS LBJ'S VIET PLANS

Holds 'Control Territory' Plan Wrong; Ohio Demo Leaves Kennedy Campaign

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who has been a Republican presidential contender for only one day, broke his silence today on the Johnson administration's Vietnam strategy, calling it a "misconception." (See another Rockefeller story, page 1.)

In a speech before the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia Rockefeller said U.S. policy in Vietnam has failed because "we applied the maxim that victory depended on control territory" while the Communists' aim was to "disrupt orderly government."

FIRST CRITICISM

It was Rockefeller's first major criticism of the conduct of the war.

"Our misconception led to open-ended escalation — easily matched by Hanoi, Peking and Moscow — and a stalemate at an even-higher level of violence. Meanwhile, the war became 'Americanized' in manpower and direction."

RACIAL ISSUE

He also said South Vietnam responsibility for its own destsiny.

In other political developments:

Kennedy — The New York Senator said in Indianapolis that he hoped his candidacy would lessen the racial issue in politics as his late brother's campaign in 1960 helped eliminate the religious issue. Barriers between the races must be broken, Kennedy said.

Roger Branigin — The Indiana governor took his favorite son campaign along the banks of the Wabash River, telling smalltown rallies he needed votes to make Indiana a more effective force in the national Democratic party.

Humphrey — The vice president, visiting New York in search of money for his presidential campaign, said he welcomed Rockefeller's candidacy. It will "do a great deal to elevate discussion of the issues," he said, and "cause a little commotion in the Republican ranks."

INCOME PLAN

Eugene J. McCarthy — In an appearance before the Economic Club of New York, the Minnesota senator called for a new program "to assure every American of an adequate income." He said America "must be ready to spend the money it will take to implement the advisory commission report on civil disorders."

George Wallace — Petitions were filed in Nevada placing the former Alabama governor's name on the November general election ballot as a third-party candidate.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, today withdrew his endorsement of Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination. Young switched to a neutral stance in the race.

Young is certain to be named Ohio's favorite son candidate to the Democratic convention.

His shift was viewed on Capitol Hill as a lift for Humphrey, whose followers claim he has growing support in Ohio which has 115 convention votes.

On April 1, Young announced he was supporting Kennedy for president and McCarthy for vice president. At the time he urged all Ohio delegates to follow his lead.

Californian New AAA President

He succeeds the late George M. Frauenheim of Buffalo, N.Y.

Holt, 56 and a native of San Francisco, has been a senior vice president of the AAA since 1966 and a member of the executive committee since 1964.

He is vice president of the Holt Bros., an earth moving and industrial equipment firm.

Oregon Type Primary Is Poll Topper

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than 72 per cent of the California voters surveyed by the State Poll believe the state's primary election should be similar to those in Oregon and Nebraska —listing the names of all persons widely advocated for the presidency.

The poll, carried today in the Los Angeles Times, asked a cross-section of voters if California primary election laws should be changed so that the names of "all publicly recognized candidates for President would appear on the ballot, unless a candidate specifically says he will not run."

The results showed 39.4 per cent strongly agreeing, 33.4 tending to agree, 13.8 per cent tending to disagree, 5.1 per cent strongly disagreeing and 8.3 per cent not offering an opinion.

Dr. Alvin S. Haag of Novato is president of the Marin Association for Mental Health.

Coalition Government Advocator Is Jailed

SAIGON (AP)—The runnerup in South Vietnam's presidential election, Truong Dinh Dzu, was arrested and removed from a Saigon hospital today for advocating a coalition government with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

"I wonder why Robert Kennedy is not arrested in the United States since he advocated a coalition government, too," said Dzu's wife.

Dzu's family said he was arrested despite signed statements from three doctors—two of them from the national police —that he was suffering from heart trouble and should not be moved for several weeks.

Dzu polled 17 per cent of the votes in last fall's presidential election, half as many as President Nguyen Van Thieu. Dzu has been in and out of jail several times since the September election.

He was released April 14 after seven weeks of "protective custody" and shortly after reportedly told several newsmen that the only possible settlement to the Vietnam war was a coalition government that included the National Liberation Front.

GOP Indicts Demos For Fiscal Woes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Republican Party's highest council accused the Democrats today of leading the United States "to the verge of economic and fiscal collapse." It said the GOP had the way to keep the country both free and prosperous.

The indictment of Democratic policies and operations came in an election-year statement by the Republican Coordinating Committee, representing GOP leadership at all levels.

The committee also included in its 75-page report a series of specific Republican proposals, such as relaxation of minimum wage requirements to encourage the hiring of teen-agers and yearly cuts in income taxes to stimulate the economy after the Vietnam war.

The document, called "An Economy In Crisis," proposed eight Republican principles which leaned heavily on the GOP's position that private enterprise could lead the way to solution of many problems if the Federal government would stop stifling it.

Among other things the report advocated:

Creation of a new "Hoover Commission" to cut or eliminate spending on low priority programs and reduce waste and duplication among necessary ones.

Reduce tariffs, but insist that other nations do so reciprocally, including elimination of non-tariff trade barriers.

Expansion of vocational and educational rehabilitation for the jobless, more child care centers for families with parents at work or in training, and "incentives, rather than penalties to people on welfare who are able and willing to work."

Creation of a nonpartisan committee to recommend laws to handle national emergency strikes without resort to seizure or compulsory arbitration.

Return to the states and other local units of government a larger share of tax revenues and responsibility for programs.

Faces Mirror Competition In Recent Bridge Tourney

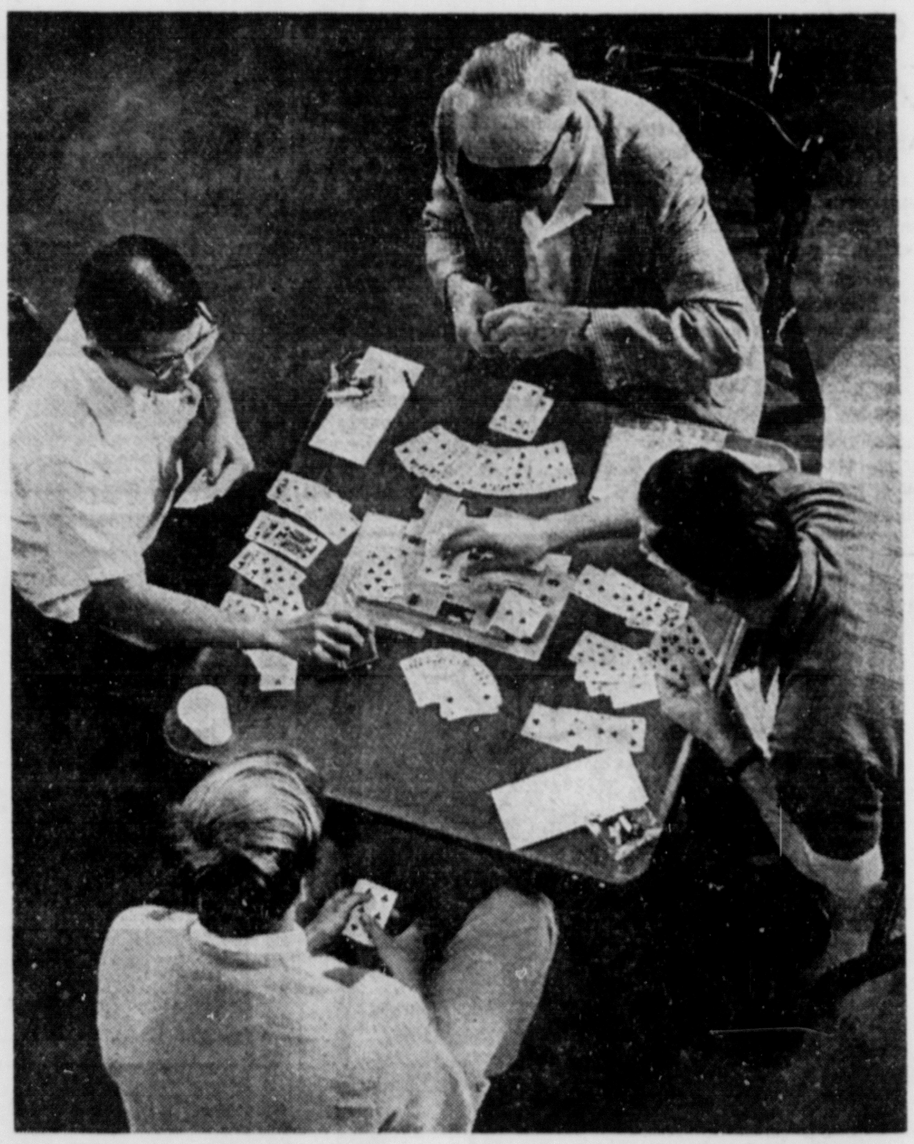
TASTE OF VICTORY — Patricia Zimmerman finds herself in a pickle on this tough hand. But she came out of it all right. She and partner, Jeanine Omo, won first overall in the women's pairs.

DETECTIVE AT WORK — You can't steal any tricks at this table. It's Lt. Lincoln Borba of San Rafael Police Department, ready to blow the whistle on anyone who "murders" a hand, tries to steal a trick, or brandishes a big club.

I DOUBLE! — And when Janine Omo of Terra Linda doubles, you usually go down plenty. That's what she and partner Patricia Zimmerman did to mow down all opposition in the women's pairs.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS — Mitzi Perkins of San Anselmo wonders whether she should take her ace now or wait to see if she can capture a king later. Deep concentration is required to make every play count.

SEVEN NO TRUMP — The ultimate in bridge bidding did not come up very often, but there were plenty of small slams bid and made during the bridge tournament at the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia. About 1,500 card sharks from throughout the state jammed the Armory during the three-day tournament, April 19-21. The Marin unit of American Contract Bridge League, headed by Hazel Strittmatter, hosted the annual event.



YOUNGEST LIFE MASTER — Robert Crossley, 17, (bottom) of Greenbrae is believed to be the youngest life master in the country. He's paired with grandfather, C. F. Crossley Sr. of Palo Alto, whose trademark is the dark eyeshade. Bob and his brother Dave, 19, won second overall in the masters pairs. Their mother, Mrs. Lura Crossley, runs bridge clubs in San Rafael, Greenbrae and Novato.

WOW, WHAT A HAND! — Player stares entranced at the beautiful hand he is holding. At left is Edsel Yarling of San Rafael, who decides to sit back and relax. With only one king in his hand, he's not going to do any bidding. Might as well light up a pipe.

UNIVERSAL GAME — Sedentary nature of the game makes it ideal for those who prefer competition that is less strenuous physically.

COOL CAT — Ron Von der Porten of San Francisco, ranked among the top in the United States, is a picture of calmness at the bridge table. Playing against him is like going up against Arnold Palmer on the golf course or Joe Louis in the ring. Von der Porten won second in the world championships held in New York in 1962.

SHORT OF GOAL

Easter Seal Drive Extended A Month

The Marin County Easter Seal Society will extend its annual Easter Seals campaign for another month after falling $7,500 short of its 1968 goal, Mrs. Phyllis Widdershoven, executive director, said yesterday.

As of yesterday, only $19,413.17 of the $27,000 goal had been collected. Although the traditional closing date is Easter Sunday, the campaign had been extended two weeks in hopes of making up some of the deficit, Mrs. Widdershoven said.

"If we do not reach our goal, our only alternative will be to curtail services to people desperately in need of them," she said, But she noted the society will try to raise funds from other sources before cutting back on services.

Reminder letters will be sent to donors who have not contributed so far this year.

Mrs. Widdershoven attributed the deficit to the "distressing events of the weeks preceeding Easter" especially the death of Dr. Martin Luther King. "People just shoved bills into drawers and forgot about them," she said.

The $27,000 campaign fund makes up one-half of the Easter Seals Society budget with the other half coming from private bequests, memorials, donations, fees and auxiliary fund raising events.

The society's budget covers special care for over 300 crippled children and adults including speech and physical therapy, adult recreation programs, camperships and individual case work projects.

Quentin Needs More Officers

Starting salary is $545 a month, increasing to $573 after six months and to a maximum of $663. After entering career service in corrections, promotional opportunities are offered as correctional sergeant, with a maximum salary of $768.

Applications must be filed at San Quentin or at the State Personnel Office, 515 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, by May 31.

Innocent Plea To Striking Of Deputy

William H. McInerney, 19, of Sonoma County, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that he struck a deputy at Marin County jail April 20. Preliminary hearing on the charge was scheduled for May 22.

McInerney and David C. Knowlton, 19, of Sonoma County, also entered pleas of innocence to narcotics charges. McInerney denied he possessed methedrine, Knowlton that he possessed marijuana April 19, when their car crashed on Highway 101.

Preliminary hearing on those charges was scheduled for June 6.

McInerney must also attend a preliminary hearing May 7 on a charge that he possessed marijuana Feb. 9 on the courthouse lawn in San Rafael.

He also is faced with the prospect of a pury trial next month on charges that he possessed narcotics equipment and a loaded revolver in Santa Venetia Jan. 1.

Farlatti To Ask Bigger County Motel, Hotel Tax

Ben A. Farlatti, candidate for supervisor from the Third District and a motel owner, said yesterday that he will propose an increase in the county's hotel and motel tax to the board of supervisors next week.

Farlatti, owner of the Tiburon Lodge, said he will present the proposal for the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, of which he is a director.

The chamber wants an increase from 4 to 5 per cent, Farlatti said, so that additional revenue will be raised to promote tourism. "I'm a firm believer in user taxes," he added, "which do not penalize property owners."

Farlatti said that money raised from both the county tax and by the cities which have such a tax amounts to about $60,000 a year. He predicted that the proposed increase would bring in about $12,000 a year more.

Farlatti also urged that cities collecting the tax use the money to promote tourism as the county does.

Tiburon Park Topic For Commissioners

California Sales Tax Up 5 Pct.

CHICAGO (AP) — California and Hawaii were among 14 states whose 1967 sales tax revenues rose at least 5 per cent from 1966, says a study by the Commerce Clearing House, a private reporting agency on tax and business law.

The study released today showed that Nevada was among four states whose sales tax collections increased by 10 per cent over the preceding year.

The report said nationwide collections of state and local taxes hit a record high after a jump of nearly 9 per cent from 1966.

Lawmaker Still Backs Withholding Tax Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Republican sponsor of state income tax withholding refused today to abandon hope for his plan, saying Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature may find "no other solution" to state money problems.

Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto said the state may have to "look at every possible alternative" to finance a deficit expected next year.

Reagan said yesterday that "I am still opposed" to withholding. He rejected any possibility that he would support the payroll deduction plan as an alternative to substantial cuts or borrowing from special state funds to balance the 1968-69 state budget.

But Veneman told a reporter that withholding still could be enacted "if we come to the end of the fiscal year and find ourselves in the situation of a budget where there is no other solution . . ."

Meanwhile, Assembly man Winfield A. Shoemaker, leader of the Assembly Democratic caucus, made it clear that it is up to Reagan, not the legislature, to break the deadlock on Veneman's withholding bill.

Shoemaker said the Democrats' standoff on Veneman's proposal doesn't mean the party opposes withholding.

"What Governor Reagan doesn't seem to realize is how much it costs the state for a full committee to debate endlessly a measure like withholding — only to have the governor veto it after the committee's efforts to send out a measure acceptable to both parties," Shoemaker said.

Girl Is Booked On Drug Probe

A 16-year-old San Rafael girl was arrested yesterday for investigation of possession of a hypodermic needle and a small packet of methedrine, Larkspur police said.

Officers said the girl, a student at Terra Linda High School, and a 15-year-old girl companion were questioned near Redwood High School. The older girl admitted having purchased the powder for $10 in San Francisco, police said, but refused to say from whom she purchased it.

She was booked in Juvenile Hall. The companion was returned home without charges.

Unruh Sees Reagan As Rocky 'Accomplice'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh yesterday challenged Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan to tell California whether he is planning to accept the vice presidential nomination on a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket.

He said he doubted whether Rockefeller has enough strength to deny the GOP presidential nomination to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "without an accomplice."

"The principal person in line to play that role is Gov. Reagan," said Unruh.

He called on Reagan to announce his presidential plans now "with complete candor" or else the people of California will conclude "he is part of the conscious attempt to stop Mr. Nixon and promote Gov. Rockefeller."

Unruh also asked Reagan to say if he will support Nixon "once his own candidacy has been rejected."

Reagan, however, told newsmen he doesn't want the vice presidency because "I don't believe that that position would offer the same opportunities for doing some of the things I believe in . . . that this one does," referring to the governorship.

And he said his own position about the presidency was unchanged — "I am not a candidate."

However, he will go to the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach in August at the head of California's 86-vote delegation, and with more votes from the South and possibly the midwest.

"He might be a compromise candidate" for president, said Leonard Firestone, Los Angeles industrialist and a member of the Reagan delegation. "I don't anticipate it, but it is a possibility."

Securities Laws Overhaul Wins Senate Approval

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A wide-ranging overhaul of the state's corporate securities laws has swept through the Senate nearly unanimously with no floor debate.

Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai, said the legislation approved 26-1 yesterday is to modernize stock sales review practices, to provide laws against fraud, to toughen controls on brokers and generally to protect stockholders more.

After the vote, the lone opponent, Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, told newsmen he feels present law would actually be weakened, especially by a section removing state control from stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Course Selection Plans Kept Alive

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A statewide testing program of public school students has been approved by the Assembly, thus keeping alive a Senate measure to liberalize school course selection.

The Senate bill rescued by the 76-0 Assembly vote yesterday would give local school boards greater power in determining which courses to offer.

But an Assembly education subcommittee earlier provided that measure would take effect only if the testing bill is enacted.

The author of the testing bill, Democratic Assemblyman Leroy Greene of Sacramento, reasoned that if school districts get more control over selecting courses, they should have his testing program "to see what they're doing."

$9 Million Suit Over Caricatures

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The woman who modeled an Iowa farmer's straightlaced wife for the painting "American Gothic," yesterday sued two magazines over parodies of the picture, which she said showed her undressed.

Mrs. Nan Wood Graham, 68, of Riverside, asked $3 million damages from the publishers of Look Magazine, and $3 million from Hugh Heffner's Playboy, another $3 million was demanded from the National Broadcasting Co., which was accused of displaying Look's caricature of the picture on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show.

Mrs. Graham took exception to the caricature she alleged Look published in July of last year, she said it depicted her in her bra.

Even the bra was gone in the Playboy version, published in October, Mrs. Graham's complaint alleged.

She charged that both caricatures showed her in a "vile and obscene" light. She claimed invasion of privacy and said the pictures held her up to contempt and ridicule.

"American Gothic" originally called "Iowa Farmer and His Wife" hangs in the Art Institute of Chicago. Artist Wood painted another picture, "Daughters of the American Revolution," which also has been the subject of numerous parodies.

The model for the farmer in "American Gothic" was the late Dr. Byron McKeeby, the Wood family dentist.

Auto Burglars Take Tapes, Stereo Units

Burglars pried the windows of two locked cars parked in a Sir Francis Drake High School parking lot yesterday afternoon to steal stereophonic sets and tapes, San Anselmo police reported today.

Officers said one set and 10 tapes, total value estimated at $175, were taken from the vehicle of John B. Bechtold, 5 Corinthian Court, Tiburon. A set and 15 tapes, total value of $190, were taken from the car of David L. Matteucci, 26 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo.

Sister City Program To Step Up Students

The Sausalito People-to-People Committee plans to send 12 to 14 Tamalpais High School students to Vina Del Mar, Chile, next fall in a major expansion of the student exchange program, chairman W. Bruce Shafer announced last night.

The program has sent only one pupil a year to Chile in the exchange program which started three years ago, while Vina Del Mar has also sent one student at a time.

The students will be chosen from 60 who have applied.

The committee chose new officers to assist Shafer. Don Olsen was named vice chairman, Kathy Plocki, secretary; James Symonds, treasurer, and Jean Dyk publicity chairman.

The Sausalito City Council has earmarked $500 in the 1968-69 budget to aid the sister city program, Shafer said. He also said letters will be sent to parents of Tamalpais High students seeking funds for the exchange program.

Shafer said the committee will emphasize a four-point program this year — Sister City Week starting Sunday, the student exchange, Chilean Independence Week starting Sept. 18, and the hospitality program. Chairmen and volunteers are being sought for the hospitality program to host Chilean visitors.

William Remak of Sausalito Artists and Merchants presented 20 copies of a Sausalito poster by artist William Dohrmann to be sent to Vina Del Mar.

The committee will meet again at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the office of W. Bruce Shafer and Co., 639 Bridgeway.

Angry Teen-Agers March On College For Admission

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— More than 100 angry teen-agers trouped through the administration building at San Francisco State college yesterday, hooting down officials who refused to guarantee their admission to the school.

The angry, shouting youngsters, most of them from Mission High, baited Dean of Admissions Charles A. Stone, 50, into making a written offer to resign. But college officials said the letter would be disregarded.

The youths, mostly Mexican-Americans, cornered Stone and loudly bickered with him for more than an hour when he refused to guarantee admission to them and 200 others whose applications they turned in.

Third World Liberation Front, a radical campus group, organized the teen-age invasion in an effort to force the school to admit more minority group students.

Kerner Reveals Date To Resign

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)— Gov. Otto Kerner, two term Democratic chief executive of Illinois, announced today he will resign at midnight May 19, to accept his judgeship on the U. S. Circuit Court.

Kerner, who announced in February he would not seek reelection, received confirmation of his appointment to the court last month. He is to succeed Judge Win G. Knoch, on the Seventh Circuit Court.

Kerner will be sworn in as judge on May 20 in ceremonies at the U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Lt. Gov. Samuel Shapiro, 61, will automatically take over as governor to serve out the remainder of Kerner's second term.

Third Charge On Burglary

Freddie Louis Hunter, 21, of Marin City, was arraigned on a third burglary charge, stemming from his capture by a night watchman April 19, in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

In the new complaint, Hunter is charged with burgling Eason Boat Works on Gate 1 Road, Sausalito, taking stamps, cash and envelopes the night of April 19.

The watchman at A. G. Schoonmaker Co. in Marinship fired four shots over Hunter's head when he allegedly caught him fleeing the company president's office that night. Hunter stopped and surrendered.

He faces charges in Superior Court for burgling the Schoonmaker office and Joe Ray's Auto Body Shop that night.

No-Bid Contract Bill Try Dropped

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill that would have permitted counties to award construction contracts without public bidding when the cost of a job was under $10,000 has been dropped by its author, Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

McCarthy withdrew his bill Monday at its first hearing before the Senate Local Government Committee. The bill was poorly drafted by the legislative counsel's office, McCarthy's administrative assistant, B. Michael Kahl, told the Independent-Journal.

Defects in the bill would have meant a cut in the amount of county work done by private industry and an increase in the amount done by the county's own work crews, he said.

Boundary Body Cancels Meeting

The meeting of the Local Agency Formation Commission, scheduled for tomorrow night has been canceled.

County Administrator Alan Bruce reported to the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that there was not enough business to warrant a meeting tomorrow night.

The local agency commission meets regularly on the first Thursday of each month.

Arraignment Held On Resisting Police

James Lee Clemons, 20, of Larkspur, found hiding on the roof of St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael after he escaped from county jail Monday night, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor charge of resisting a police officer.

Clemons, who ran from the jail as he was being led to his cell, asked that his case be continued until tomorrow for entry of plea.

Marin Sewage Discharge Faces Tighter Rules

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board yesterday adopted tighter standards for discharge into the bay by three Marin agencies, reported chairman Jerome B. Gilbert of Novato.

The three — Ross Valley Sanitary District, San Quentin Prison and San Rafael Sanitation District — were asked to submit to the board schedules of plans to comply with the new standards. The standards were set last year by the state, and the board is upgrading standards district-by-district.

All three agencies discharge at Point San Quentin.

Gilbert said each discharger will have a different compliance schedule because their needs differ. At present, he said, it is impossible to estimate the cost to the dischargers of meeting the tigher standards.

Rock Throwing

Boys throwing rocks near the Highway 101 underpass at Marin City Monday night broke two side windows on a car driven by Elizabeth Owens of 205 North Street, Sausalito, sheriff's deputies reported today. The incident took place at 5:40 p.m.

Fairfax Men Booked In Runaway Search

Two Fairfax men were arrested today and two teen-agers taken to Juvenile Hall by Fairfax police following an early morning search for three runaway juveniles.

Booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor were Richard James Dirienzo, 25, of 440 Scenic Road, and James Peter Mulligan, 24, of 200 Secnic Road, both of Fairfax.

The teen-agers, a 17-year-old Fairfax boy and his 16-year-old sister, were booked into Juvenile Hall for being beyond parental control and in danger of leading a lewd and immoral life, police said.

A third teen-ager, a 16-year-old San Anselmo girl, was cited on the same charges and released to the custody of her parents.

Police said they made the arrests after a search for the San Anselmo girl uncovered her car parked in front of Mulligan's home at 2:30 a.m. Officers said they saw the girl in the house as they were talking to Mulligan at the front door. While they were talking, several people ran out of the house and down the hillside, police said. They estimated there were over nine people in the house.

Two other adults, found asleep inside, were not arrested because they said they were asleep during the whole evening and did not know what had occurred, police said.

At least two other persons escaped, police said.

Fire Controlled

CORONA (AP) — A brush fire was controlled at 6 a.m. today after blackening 710 acres of watershed in the Temescal Canyon area of Riverside County, the State Division of Forestry reported.

Warrant Issued In Theft Of Car

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court yesterday issued a $1,000 bench warrant for the arrest of Robert Alfred Porter, 18, of San Francisco, charged with car theft.

Porter, who was released without bail by Judge Smith, failed to keep a court appointment yesterday. He was to have pleaded to a charge that he stole a car which was found wrecked on Shoreline Highway April 22.

No Budget Talks

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board canceled a scheduled budget meeting last night for lack of a quorum.

Broiled Bumble Bee.

That's Broiled Bumble Bee.

The fresh one.

Western Weekend's Site Issue Settled

Novato last night was assured its Western Weekend celebration with settlement of carnival site problems at the Novato City Council meeting.

Councilman M. E. Babe Silva reported that Frank Pinheiro, who leases the San Marin site on San Marin Drive west of Highway 101, would let the carnival use the site if 30 acres for the grounds were fenced in.

The council then voted to spend $100 to fence the area, using city public works crews. This will be repaid to the city by Western Weekends, Inc.

The council then voted to give Western Weekends, Inc. $1,000 as in previous years. The council also voted once again to waive the carnival business license fees, as in the past. The vote was 4-0 with Councilman Douglas M. Merrill absent during the first part of the meeting.

A statue of Abraham Lincoln reading to his son, Ted, stands on the west approach to the Iowa State Capitol.

Applications Due For Speech Camp

For the fifth year, the San Francisco Easter Seal Society Speech Camp is accepting applications statewide from boys and girls, aged 8 to 14, who have speech problems due to cleft palate and related congenital defects.

Completed applications must be received by May 15 at the San Francisco Easter Seal Society office, 1600 Lake Street. The six week camp will be held at the San Francisco YMCA conference grounds, La Honda.

Novato Councilman Scolds Rec Chief On Park Plans

The Novato City Council last night postponed until next Monday action on $11,250 funds for planning of two parks requested by the parks and recreation commission.

During the discussion of the park plans, Councilman M. E. Babe Silva scolded Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, for his handling of the plans.

"The council gave you strict orders more than a year ago that Pioneer Memorial Park should be the number one priority," Silva said, complaining that Adams had proposed developing Novato Creek Park first.

Silva said that the council had also told the parks and recreation commission the same thing.

"Now you come in with a request for $3,250 for plans for a park in San Marin; the people want Pioneer Memorial Park developed first," Silva said.

Mayor Harvey McAskill told Adams that last week's meeting with members of the Novato Civic Foundation "left no doubt in my mind that they do not want Novato Creek Park, but Pioneer Memorial Park because it is more centrally located."

At a special meeting of the parks and recreation commission Monday night, the commission asked for an additional $8,000 for plans for Pioneer Memorial Park.

The council set an adjourned meeting for 8 p.m. Monday at the Community House to consider the park proposals and hiring a landscape architect to draw plans. Councilman Douglas M. Merrill asked a definite written proposal from landscape architect Ribera and Sue, on work proposed for the amounts requested.

The Novato City Council Also:

SAN MARIN CLUB—Requested Adams to make a detailed study of the feasibility of the city leasing or purchasing the San Marin Club. In making the motion, Councilman J. Wayne Womack wanted it understood that "the city has no intention to absorb it in the near future just because it is available now."

BOND PERCENTAGE—Postponed consideration of a resolution proposed by the parks and recreation commission that the city council go on record favoring legislation which would allow passing park bonds by simple majority vote instead of two thirds vote.

SCHOOL BUSES — Approved an agreement with the Novato Unified School District letting the recreation department use school buses on recreation trips when they were not needed by the school district.

NAME PLATES — On the suggestion of Mrs. J. Wayne Womack, ordered name plates to be placed on the desks of the city department heads to identify them at council meetings. These are to be similar to those used by the councilmen.

APPOINTMENTS — After an hour-and-35-minute closed meeting, reconvened to appoint Lee C. Wise of 5 Boulevard Court to the planning commission to replace Wayne Hathaway, who resigned, and George Quesada of 1860 Virginia Avenue, Francis James Picchi of 16 Carmel Drive and John Stuber of 1450 Grant Avenue, to the plan review committee.

MOBILE HOME PARK — Granted a request from attorney Richard A. Clark, representing George E. Sandbachs that the public hearing on that proposed mobile home site on 12 acres south of San Marin Drive east of Simmons Lane, be held at 8 p.m., May 8 in the Community House. It was orginally scheduled for April 23, but Mrs. Sandbach died during the council meeting.

Transit Board Cancels Meeting

The Marin County Transit District board will not meet tonight because the directors decided the agenda had nothing that could not wait until next month.

"I don't think there are enough worthwhile items on the agenda for a meeting," said Ernest N. Kettenhofen during a meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday. Five supervisors and two city representatives are on the transit district board of directors.

After a poll of the supervisors and the two city representatives, transit district General Manager Seymour Kashin announced that the next meeting would be on June 5. Transit board meetings are regularly scheduled for the first Wednesday of each month.

State Employment Soars In March

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State officials report California employment last month reached the highest ever for a March—7,503,000 workers.

The report yesterday by the departments of industrial relations and employment said unemployment, meanwhile, dropped to 406,000, the lowest level for March since 1960.

HUMAN BARRICADE— Their ranks swelled by sympathizers after yesterday's bloody fracas with police, Columbia University students sit along the perimeter of the Manhattan campus, attempting to keep the school shut down.

Columbia Campus Shut; Sympathy Sit-In Follows Bloody Police Raid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Columbia University classrooms were locked for a "day of reflection" today under pressure from a student-faculty strike and charges of "cop terror" over a police raid which routed rebel students from a week-long campus sit-in protest.

What started a week ago as a peaceful protest over construction of a gymnasium and the Vietnam War ended in violence, the arrest of 720 persons and damage to five student-seized buildings which a school official said would "cost a fortune" to repair.

In a sympathetic demonstration today, about 50 students at the Stony Brook campus of the State University of New York occupied the business office of the Long Island school.

School officials made no immediate attempt to dislodge them.

"We were told by Columbia students the best way we can help them is to get something going on our own campus, on our own issues," said a spokesman for the Stony Brook group, freshman Mark Stanglet, 18, of New York.

Columbia students swept from sit-in strongholds by club swinging police early yesterday charged police with brutality. They were supported by legislators, clergymen, union leaders, physicians and alumni.

Some of the 720 persons, including 628 students routed from inside Columbia buildings, wore bloody clothing or bandages when they were arraigned yesterday on misdemeanor charges of disorderly conduct, harassment and criminal trespassing.

Rebel student ringleaders vowed to ring the campus today with a human chain to enforce their call for a student-teacher strike. A 250-member faculty splinter group and 60 top elected student leaders, headed by Student Council President David Pellegrom, joined in the strike call.

"We find the current brutality beyond comprehension," Pellegrom said. The sympathetic students said they had been neutral or opposed to the sit-ins before yesterday's predawn police raid.

Leaders of the student revolt called for the resignation of Columbia President Grayson Kirk and Vice President David B. Truman. But Kirk stood firm.

He said all classes were suspended today in a "day of reflection" for the college community to "reason together." His call for police action to end the protest was "the most painful decision I ever made."

Mayor John V. Lindsay said the student rebellion "clearly exceeded even the most liberal perimeters of the right to assemble and dissent." He said the right to "protest, to dissent, to demonstrate...is basic, but not supreme."

Lindsay said the demonstrators comprised less than 5 per cent of the 27,500-student university. He said he had asked Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary for a report on charges of police brutality.

Leary said his men did an "excellent job."

Drunken Driving

Sago Bethley of Vallejo was fined $200 and placed on a year of probation in Marin Municipal Court Monday for driving while drunk Jan. 6 on Highway 101. He pleaded guilty to the offense.

Tomales High FFA Speaking Team In State Finals

Members of the Tomales High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America Parliamentary Team left yesterday for the California Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo to compete in the state contest threre this week, according to Earl Smith, agriculture teacher at Tomales High.

The team, which is the northwest regional championship team, will take part in the competition which will end Saturday night and return to Tomales Sunday.

Members of the team are junior Glenn Parks, senior Pat Hendren and James Furlong, freshman Daniel Furlong and sophomore Bob Borello.

In addition, Parks, who is the regional speaking champion, will compete in the state speaking contest. As a member of the state FFA executive committee, he will also attend meetings of that committee, Smith added.

Airman Honored For Viet Duty

Four men at Hamilton Air Force Base have been presented awards by Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the Fourth Air Force at Hamilton.

Maj. George Calkins of 171 Westover Circle on the base received the Distinguished Flying Cross for his work as forward air controller in Vietnam from Feb. 22 through 25, 1966, when he flew air support missions aiding Army troops and exposing himself to deadly barrages of enemy anti-aircraft fire.

The Bronze Star was awarded to Capt. Caryl D. Allen of 119 Nova Albion Way, Apt. 306, San Rafael, and Senior M/Sgt. William H. Sidwell of 95 Midway Road, Apt. 26, San Rafael.

Must Answer On Burglary Count

George Franklin Battensby, 58, of San Anselmo, and Thomas Gaylon Wood, 28, of San Pablo, his son-in-law, were held to answer on charges of burglary after a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

The two allegedly stole furniture from Braverman's in San Anselmo Sept. 5.

Judge Peter Allen Smith discharged them on charges that they possessed the stolen goods in their homes.

Planners Hold Back On Putting Director's Power Into Writing

The San Rafael Planning Commission, with four members present, postponed action on several zoning code changes last night because one planner, Jorgen V. Lunding, felt the changes vested too much authority in the city planning director.

Lunding said one change, giving Director Herbert Hotchner authority to "interpret" a section providing reasons for denial of zoning permits, gave Hotchner too much power.

Lunding said he thought the planning commission and the city council should do the interpreting, not administrative employees. He also objected to an amendment describing the director's role and giving him power to delegate his authority to other city employees.

Lunding threatened to leave the meeting, robbing it of a quorum, if the three other planning commission members present attempted to vote the amendments.

Hotchner said the several amendments proposed at the hearing were not to give him more power, but merely to put in writing functions which he is already performing.

Hotchner and Lunding agreed that they had a basic philosophical difference about how much authority an administrative employee should have, and commission chairman Fred Robbins Jr. put the matter over to a meeting of the full commission May 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Robbins said he agreed with Hotchner that the proposed amendments merely put his job in writing, but he said if there was going to be a discussion of the planning director's zoning powers, the full board should participate in it.

The planning commission recommended to the city council zoning categories for nursing homes, sanitariums, hospitals and similar institutions.

The institutions are divided by the amendment into four general categories—major medical care, day care, group care and family care.

The commissioners also recommended to the city council an amendment increasing the allowable square footage for residences from 1,000 to 1,500 feet. The change is to meet standards of the city's general plan.

No Complaint Filed In Dog Theft Check

The district attorney reported in Marin Municipal Court yesterday that no complaint will issue against William Arthur Alexander, 53, of San Rafael, arrested on suspicion of dog theft Sunday night.

Police arrested Alexander when he brought a dog to be checked into the Marin County Humane Society. The dog had been stolen minutes earlier, officers said.

Innocent Plea To Possession Of LSD

Milton Fletcher of Lagunitas pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that he possessed LSD, a dangerous drug, when arrested during February's county-wide narcotics raid.

Marin Students For Kennedy Plan Art Fair

Plans for an art fair and dance will be discussed by the Youth for Kennedy group at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Room A of the student union at the College of Marin.

The art fair is planned for 10 a.m. May 11 in the parking lot of the Corte Madera Shopping Center, according to Joan Diamond, chairman of Marin high school supporters of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Proceeds from the art show and the planned dance will be contributed to a charity in Kennedy's name, she said.

Other members of the steering committee of the group are Peter Birdsall and Bob Roth, Redwood High School; Maureen Brennan, Marin Catholic High School; Chris Harris, Tamalpais High School; Diane Lewis and Martin Fowler, Terra Linda High School; Maureen Coyle, Novato High School and Tom Falkenberg, Drake High School.

TALLEST WEST OF MANHATTAN

Workman John Cardin Jr. welds a corner beam on the 100th floor of the John Hancock Center in Chicago, preparing for topping-out ceremonies next Monday. With its TV antenna, the building will be 1,110 feet tall, the highest building west of New York City. (UPI Telephoto)

Petitioners Seeking End To Tax

A petition is being circulated in Marin seeking a place on the November ballot for a constitutional amendment phasing out and eventually abolishing property taxes.

John Winters of 195 Marina Vista Avenue, Larkspur, the organizer of the petition in Marin, said it was being circulated statewide by United Organizations Inc., of Los Angeles, described by Winters as a volunteer "grass roots movement" of organizations concerned with property taxes.

The petition, requiring 600,000 signatures, called for abolition of property taxes imposed by state, county or city government except those necessary to repay current or amortized charges on bonded indebtedness.

As current bonds were phased out, Winters expected the total abolition of property taxes.

Hearing Slated For Sausalitan

Hans Von Atzigen, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of burglary and car theft. Preliminary hearing on the felony charges was scheduled for next Tuesday.

Von Atzigen, who pleaded guilty April 17 to another auto theft charge, is awaiting a decision by Judge Harold J. Haley of Superior Court as to whether he is in imminent danger of becoming addicted to narcotics.

Should the judge find he is, Von Atzigen would be committed until cured, then returned to face punishment for the car theft.

The California Highway Patrol arrested him Friday night, while he was free on bail. He stole coins from a soft drink machine in Mill Valley and stole a car in Sausalito, police charge.

Social Worker Leaders Get Union Status

Supervising social workers in the county department of public social services may join the same bargaining unit as other social workers, the Marin County Personnel Commission decided last night by a 3 to 2 vote.

Chairman Margaret Lewis and Commissioner Victor P. Reed maintained that supervising social workers are in the "Management" category, but they were outvoted by Commissioners Hugh Marchant, Bella Aaron and Muriel Appenzeller.

The decision means that 16 supervising social workers are eligible to join the Marin County social workers unit of Local 535. About 50 other social workers are already members.

The commissioners also considered the request by the Marin County probation workers unit of Local 535 for recognition as a bargaining unit and authorized Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott to start the certification process.

Next meeting of the personnel commission would fall on May 16, but this may be postponed until May 23 because a member of the commission cannot attend on the 16th.

Armed Guard Begins Stint At Armory

An armed sentry has been placed at the California National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia because of recent burglaries at armories in the state.

The Santa Venetia armory, on Madison Avenue, is used by Co. D of the 579th Engineer Battalion and Marine and Naval Reserve units. The sentry has been posted at night since Monday.

Sentries have been ordered by Maj. Gen. Glenn Ames, state adjutant general, at California's 154 armories.

The latest burglary occurred April 16 at the San Lorenzo Armory. Thieves took two M-1 rifles, two hand guns and many rounds of ammunition.

Poverty War Is Broadcast Topic

The future of the War on Poverty in Marin County will be discussed on the KTIM "Sounding Board" program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Panelists will be Victor Cary, director of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council; Mrs. Collie Gaines, director of special youth services which include the Teen-age Mothers program; Joseph Denhart, Headstart director, and Mrs. Lorraine Whitten, county Social Services Department staffer.

Listeners questions phoned in will be answered by panelists.

The program will be repeated by tape recording Sunday at 10:05 a.m. Moderator is Kitty Oppenheimer.

Bay Area Fetes For Norway King

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Norway's King Olav V planned to leave San Francisco today after a whirlwind 24-hour visit of greetings and receptions.

The 64-year-old regent is on a 17-day goodwill visit to the United States. His next stop is Seattle.

He was greeted at San Francisco International Airport yesterday afternoon by a group of girls dressed in Norwegian costumes and members of the National Association of the Sons of Norway.

Minaret Summit Road Opposed By Livermore

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Resources Administrator Norman B. Livermore Jr. said yesterday a proposed 32-mile Minaret Summit road would bisect the John Muir Trail — "a lodestar to conservationists throughout California and the nation."

But Assemblyman Ernest N. Mobley, R-Sanger, told the Assembly Transportaion and Commerce Committee a majority of residents in the area, south of Yosemite National Park, want the road.

The committee, on request of Mobley, put off until next week a vote on the measure to add the road to the state highway system.

Mobley said the proposed route "has been with us since World War I. It's time we move for the people of the central part of the state."

Collision Injury

Marie M. Stickle, 57, of 42 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael, was admitted to Hamilton Air Force Base hospital last night with a back injury after the car she was driving on Mission Avenue was hit in the rear by a car driven by Thomas Walter Beyer of 40 Elms Avenue, San Anselmo. Mrs. Stickle's condition today was reported good.

Lecture Series Subject: Drugs

Two experts will discuss "Drugs and Drug Abuse" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Olney Hall, College of Marin, as part of the admission-free concert-lecture series at the college.

Dr. J. Thomas Ungerleider, assistant professor of psychiatry at University of California at Los Angeles, has been an advisor to the National Broadcasting Company on LSD and author of many articles on the drug.

Dr. Duke D. Fisher, psychiatric resident at University of California at Los Angeles, is also psychiatric consultant for the professional journal, The New Physician. Both doctors have given testimony concerning LSD before the U. S. Senate subcommittee on narcotics addiction.

Police Sergeant Denies Marijuana

The 12-year police veteran of 36 was arrested on the steps of the Hall of Justice April 14 after lighting a cigarette alleged to contain pot.

Municipal Judge Walter Calcagno heard the plea and said he would set a trial date in two weeks.

Negro Promoted In Police Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —San Francisco has its first Negro police sergeant. He is Willie E. Frazier, 37, on the force nine years.

"You'll now be working for yourself," Chief Thomas Cahill told Frazier in a ceremony yesterday.

He added: "This is your first big step up the ladder. I want you to go all the way."

Frazier is a semester away from a B.A. degree at San Francisco State College. He was born in Monrow, La., and has a wife and four children.

Novato Boosters Fill Vacancies

The Novato Civic Foundation board last night filled two vacancies on its board of directors.

Edwin Grundstrom was named to succeed himself to another three year term and Marvin K. Soiland was named to fill the position vacated by Grant Morse, who asked not to be reappointed.

Jack Burgi was accepted by the board as the representative from the Novato Rotary Coub.

Grundstrom reported that in the past year more than 1,000 trees had been planted at Stafford Lake and that the foundation had contributed money to the parkette at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue, the Arroyo Avichi Park and for turf and trees on the playground at the San Ramon Elementary School site.

Marin City Tenants Organizing Council

Public housing residents of Marin City will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the new Manzanita Center to form a tenants council.

Being organized under sponsorship of the Marin City Economic Opportunity Council, the tenants council will seek better living conditions for people in public housing and a stronger voice in the affairs of Marin City.

Marin Senior In Finals For Bank Scholar Awards

The Bank of America will hold the finals of its annual achievement awards competition May 9 in San Francisco.

Among 29 outstanding high school Bay Area seniors competing will be James McGinnis, a science and mathematics contestant who is a senior at San Rafael High School. Mel L. Morse of San Rafael is one of the judges in the competition.

The judges, having already reviewed the students' academic records and extra-curricular activities, will question them on topics relating to their fields of study.

Top prize of $1,000 will be awarded in each of the four study fields — liberal arts, science and mathematics, fine arts and vocational arts. Second place in each field is worth $500, while third place carries with it an award of $250. The 16 runners-up will each receive $150.

Theft Of Tools

Someone took a tool box and tools valued at $85 from his car while it was parked in the alley behind the Novato High School last Thursday or Friday, Ralph E. Twitchell, of 5050 Lucas Valley Road, Nicasio, reported Monday to police.

Youths Accused On Marijuana

Sausalito police arrested two Marin youths last night for investigation of possession of marijuana after finding them in a parked car.

Patrolman Robert D. Glynn said he approached the car at 9:54 p.m. and found one man lying in the front seat and one lying in back. He said he smelled marijuana smoke when a window was rolled down, and that a check of the two produced a small quantity of suspected marijuana.

Stephen Thompson Lauritsen, 20, of 1 Sunrise Avenue, Mill Valley, and Robert Warren Holtz, 19, who gave his address as the Wilkins Hotel, San Rafael, were jailed without bail and were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Legal Secretaries Award Scholarships

Gail T. Gastmann and Pamela L. Johnson, College of Marin students majoring in business, have been awarded $50 scholarships by the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association.

The students, both of San Rafael, along with their instructor, Mrs. Dorothy L. Kinkade of Fairfax, will be guests of the Legal Secretaries Association at its annual installation dinner May 10 at the Marin Country Club in Ignacio.

Marijuana Case Sentence Slated

Melkon Melkonian, Mill Valley mechanic whose arrest on a marijuana charge started a drive to repeal laws against the drug, will appear in San Francisco Superior Court Department 24 at 10 a.m. Monday for sentencing.

Melkonian was convicted of selling marijuana and was originally scheduled for sentencing four months ago but was first sent to the Vacaville State Medical Facility for examination.

After two months there, he was returned to court but told Superior Court Judge Joseph Karesh he wanted another 60-day delay in order to have an operation on his back.

James A. Kane, associate superintendent at Vacaville, has recommended Melkonian be sent to jail, not given probation. Vacaville psychologist Raymond P. McDonald has suggested probation.

Bike Safety Contest May 11 In San Rafael

A bicycle safety roadeo will be held in the Bank of America parking lot, San Rafael, on May 11. It will be part of an outdoor show on the premises May 11 and 12.

The bicycle riding competition will be in two age groups, eight to 10 and 11 to 13. Two bicycles will be awarded as prizes.

Barham Claims GOP Groups' Support

Clay Barham, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Seventh Assembly District, today said he has been endorsed by both the Marin County Young Republicans and the Marin chapter of the Young Americans for Freedom.

Barham resigned the presidency of the Marin YR to seek the seat held by William T. Bagley of San Rafael. The Marin County Young Republicans this winter joined a group of ultra-conservative chapters in bolting the statewide Young Republicans.

SIR HAROLD NICOLSON
Writer, diplomat

Sir Harold Nicolson Dies At 81

LONDON (UPI)—Sir Harold Nicolson, the insider who chronicled Britain's ruling Establishment in a score of books, died today in his Sissinghurst Castle home. He was 81.

As diplomat, member of Parliament and husband of the late writer Victoria Sackville-West, Nicolson worked and played with the men and women who pulled the strings of power in politics and the arts for three generations.

Nicolson won a world reputation in the last half of his life by writing it down —the authorized biography of King George V, polite but revealing books on British diplomacy and an essay on the English sense of humor that even amused the English.

PEACE TREATY

Nicolson served on the British delegation to the Versailles conference that wrote World War I's peace treaty. His book on the conference is still considered perhaps the best by many historians.

Born in Tehran in 1886 as the youngest son of Lord Carnock, former British envoy to Czarist Russia, Nicolson was born into the so-called Establishment, the usually upper class if not always wealthy group that provided most of his country's leadership.

Joining the Foreign Office in 1909, he served until 1929 as a diplomat before quitting to write his deftly worded exposes which became bestsellers on both sides of the Atlantic. In 1914, in Constantinople, he delivered Britain's World War I declaration of war to the German ambassador. It was there he married; his wife died in 1962.

MORROW BIOGRAPHY

Among his better-known books in the United States was his authorized biography of the late ambassador to Mexico, Dwight Morrow, father-in-law of aviation pioneer Charles A. Lindbergh.

Nicolson's recollections of life with the Lindberghs provided some rare glimpses of the aviator at the time of the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted and executed for the fatal kidnaping of Lindbergh's first son.

Candlestick Park Drag Racers Hit By Raid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police last night broke up what had become almost a nightly drag race in the Candlestick Park area.

They arrested 75 persons, including eight juveniles, and towed in more than two dozen cars. Officers said the cars would be checked to learn if they had been stolen or had stolen parts.

WEST'S OLDEST HUMAN BONES

Scientists display in Washington D.C., what they describe as the oldest human remains ever discovered in the Western Hemisphere. It is a charred and broken skull, believed to be between 11,000 and 13,000 years old which was found at a site in southeastern Washington State soon to be flooded by a federal dam. The skull was found in 1965, but not dated accurately until two weeks ago with the discovery of other objects from the same site. (UPI Telephoto)

Census To Help Map San Rafael's Future

Not only how the citizens of San Rafael work and play will be explored in a special census being conducted this month, but the survey should also reveal their propensity for moving.

Census takers will begin tomorrow to count residents of the San Rafael High School District, which includes the city of San Rafael as well as Terra Linda, Marinwood and Santa Venetia and other unincorporated areas surrounding the city.

In addition to the usual questions asked by census takers — such as number of members of a family, ages and sex — this census will have some additional questions to determine recreation needs, commuter patterns and population mobility.

The census was primarily undertaken so that San Rafael officials will have an accurate count in connection with gasoline tax refunds from the state, which are disbursed on the basis of population.

The San Rafael Board of Education decided to join in the study, according to Dan E. Andersen, city manager, to determine its future needs.

About 65 census takers will start calling tomorrow on an estimated 19,000 residential units in the area.

One of the questions to be answered will not be asked verbally — the workers will make note of race by observation only.

In an attempt to determine work habits of residents, they will be asked for salary range and whether they work in San Rafael, somewhere else in Marin or out of the county. Mobility of the population will be decided by asking people how long they have lived in their present home and where they lived before.

Questions about recreation will include one asking people what other types of recreational facilities they would most like to see in the area. Everyone will also be asked if he owns a boat, and if so, how much money was spent on it last year.

Charles Linthicum, associate planner for San Rafael, said that answers to these questions should be of great help to the planning department in meeting future needs of the city.

Angel Island Bids

The state Office of Architecture and Construction has called for bids on drilling and casing three 200-foot deep water wells at Angel Island State Park. The cost of construction is estimated at $16,000. Bids are to be opened May 21.

10 Nominated For Five Novato Chamber Directors

Ten nominations for five seats on the board of directors of the Novato Chamber of Commerce were announced today by Lee C. Wise, chairman of the nomination committee.

The last date on which other nominations may be made is noon on May 21. Ballots will be mailed out then to the general membership and must be returned to the chamber by May 31. Those elected take office July 1.

Those nominated to three year terms were James Adair and George B. Barnwell, who are just completing three year terms, and Louis Belmour, Joseph Bonomolo, Robert Carrow, Robert McCreadie, Robert Rankin, Angelo Seragusa, Paul Terry and John Trumbull.

Others, whose terms are expiring, but do not choose to run, are Roy Fry, Glen Tovani and Lief Evensen, according to Wise.

The board has 15 elected members, with five new members taking office each year. In addition, the mayor, base commander at Hamilton Air Force Base, president of the junior chamber of commerce and the detective sergeant of the Novato Police Department are appointed to the board.

Sausalito Tennis Lessons Scheduled

Tennis lessons for beginners, intermediates and adults will be sponsored this summer by the Sausalito Parks and Recreation Commission.

Lessons will be given by Donald Hall at the Richardson Bay School tennis courts, with 15 one-hour lessons to start June 17. Pupils may enroll at Sausalito City Hall.

Hills Bros Coffee is more than 10% richer

than other leading coffees

(Source: Pacific Chemical Laboratories independent analysis)

Coffee is all we make. And we've found a way to make it better. A cup of coffee gets its flavor from what scientists call "available flavor solids." We have developed a new way of blending and roasting that gives our coffee more of these flavor solids than other leading coffees. As the chart shows—13% more, 14% more, even 15% more! You get a cup of coffee that has more flavor, more body, more strength. Even with cream and sugar the richer coffee flavor comes through. Enjoy some soon.

CHICKEN RED COAT features chicken parts and sweet potatoes baked with a tangy glaze made from canned tomato sauce. Your oven makes easy work for you of this economical main dish.

Chicken Red Coat Oven Meal

Oven meals are a busy mom's mainstay. While your oven does the cooking, you can busy yourself with other projects, giving the food in the oven only occasional attention.

Only seven ingredients are needed to make this tempting main dish. Make a sunny barbecue glaze of canned tomato sauce, orange marmalade and prepared mustard to glaze the chicken. Season the chicken with salt and pepper, then brush on the bright red sauce. Bake for a while, then tuck some sweet potatoes around the chicken, pour on the rest of the sauce and finish cooking.

Put some brown and serve rolls in the oven to heat, too, and warm some doughnuts to make doughnut sundaes for dessert. (Top the warm doughnuts with vanilla ice cream and chocolate sauce and serve.)

CHICKEN RED COAT

- 1 broiler-fryer (2½ to 3 pounds), cut up
- Salt and pepper
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- ¾ cup orange marmalade or apple jelly
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) sweet potatoes, drained

Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper; place on broiler pan or in shallow baking dish. In saucepan heat tomato sauce, marmalade and mustard until well blended; brush some of sauce generously over chicken. Bake at 350° for 25 minutes. Turn chicken; arrange potatoes around chicken. Brush all with remaining sauce. Bake 25 minutes more or until chicken is tender and potatoes and chicken are nicely glazed. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Grapefruit Cake With Fresh, Tangy Flavor

Top western grapefruit sections also adorn the top of this cake and add to the taste surprise of the filling.

GRAPEFRUIT LAYER CAKE
(4-layer, 9-inch cake)

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 5 egg yolks
- 1¼ cups sugar
- ½ cup fresh grapefruit juice
- ½ cup water
- 1 tablespoon grated grapefruit peel
- 5 egg whites, stiffly beaten

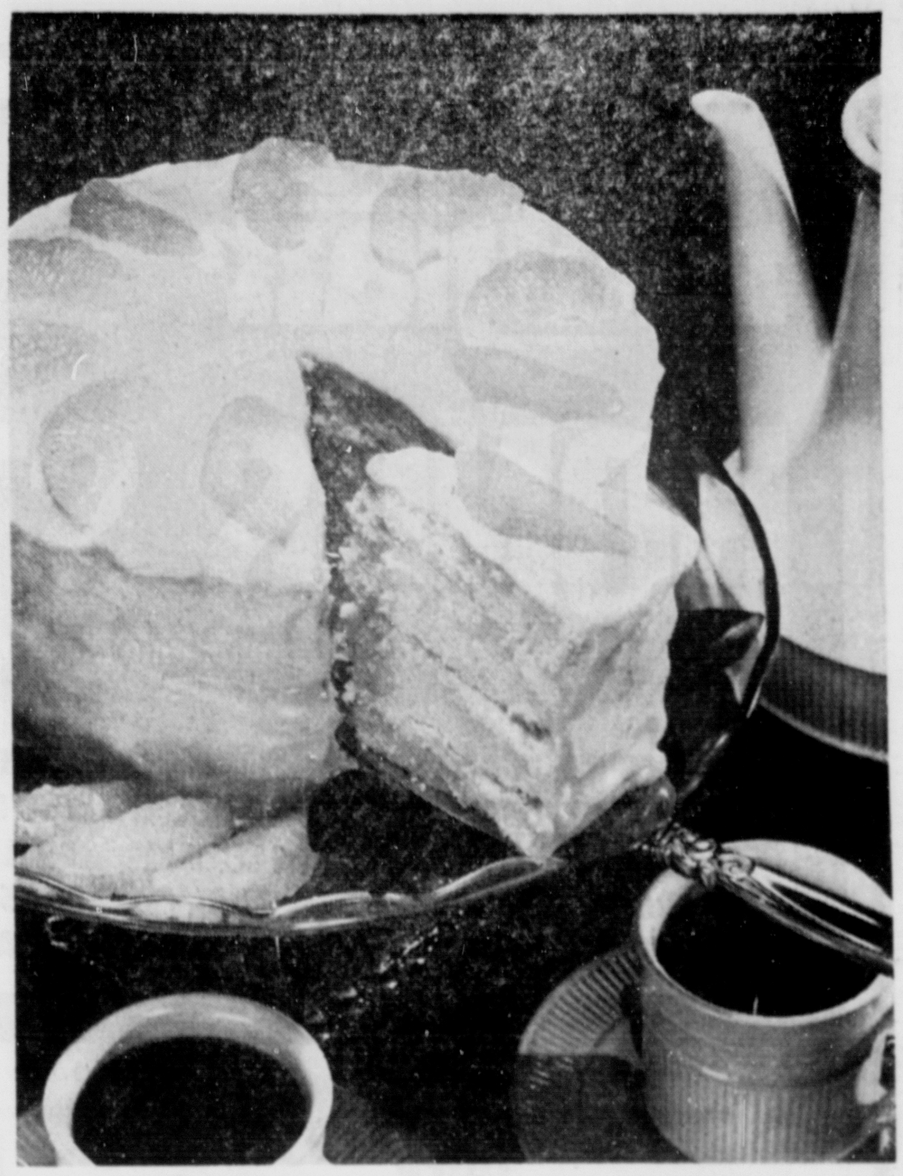
Grapefruit Cream Cheese Frosting

Sift cake flour, baking powder and salt together 3 times. Using an electric mixer, beat egg yolks in large bowl until thick and creamy. Gradually beat in sugar. Add grapefruit juice gradually, beating constantly. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with water, beating after each addition. Stir in grapefruit peel. Lightly fold in beaten egg whites until just blended. Pour into two ungreased 9-inch layer cake pans. Bake at 325 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. Cool in pans. Remove from pans; split cake layers, making 4 layers. Fill and spread top and sides with the Grapefruit Cream Cheese Frosting. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Grapefruit Cream Cheese Frosting:

- 2 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
- 6 drops yellow food coloring
- 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1 tablespoon fresh grapefruit pulp
- 2 California grapefruit, peeled, sectioned

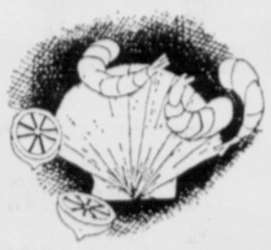
Beat cream cheese until fluffy; add lemon peel, lemon juice and yellow food coloring, blending well. Stir in confectioners' sugar and grapefruit pulp. Split grapefruit sections in half lengthwise, making thin sections. Spread frosting between cake layers, topping each layer of filling with 6 to 8 thin grapefruit sections. Spread top and sides of cake with frosting. Arrange 10 to 12 thin grapefruit sections in pinwheel fashion on top of cake. Chill.



APPETIZER TIME

Shrimp-Stuffed Mushrooms Are Light And Low Caloried

Appetizers designed to delight your guests should fulfill several specifications. First, they should be finger foods that are not difficult to handle. In this day of weight-conscious partygoers, these foods should be high in appetite appeal, but neither filling nor high in calories. Above all appetizers, which are classified in three main groups — cocktails, canapes and hors d'oeuvres — must promise more good foods to come. The following recipe for vegetable-based appetizers combines the complimentary flavors of two well-loved foods, shrimps and mushrooms.



SHRIMP STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- 1½ pounds shelled and deveined small shrimp, fresh or frozen
- 16 large mushroom caps
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons milk
- ¼ cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- Salt and pepper
- Melted butter or margarine (about ¼ cup)

Cook shrimp in boiling salted water to cover. Drain, then chill. Wash mushrooms and remove stems. Trim ends from mushroom stems and chop. Chop shrimp, reserving 16 whole shrimp for garnishing. Combine chopped shrimp, chopped mushroom stems, bread crumbs, egg, milk, lemon juice, onion and parsley. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spoon into hollows of mushroom caps. Top each mushroom cap with a reserved whole shrimp. Brush liberally with melted butter or margarine. Arrange in greased baking pan and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 minutes or until mushrooms are tender. Serve with Mornay Sauce. Makes 4 main-dish servings; 8 appetizer servings.

Wondering What To Serve Bridge Club?—Try A Party Shrimp Salad

When you are hostess for the weekly bridge party, you need a luncheon menu to satisfy hearty appetites as well as the delicate ones of the gals who are dieting. The non-dieters won't be satisfied with a skimpy low-cal plate, but no sympathetic friend would tempt the weight-watchers with a rich luncheon.

How can you please both? Serve a dish that looks rich, tastes sinfully good, and is actually very low in calories — Shrimp Salad Tiffany. This seafood salad features a zingy cottage cheese mold, topped with plump, pink shrimp. What's more, you can buy the shrimp either fresh or already cleaned and frozen. It's a snap to prepare and can be started the day before the party.

- 1 pound fresh or frozen shrimp, cleaned and deveined
- 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup water
- 2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon horseradish
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 carton (1-pound) cottage cheese
- ⅓ cup finely chopped radish
- ⅓cup finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons minced green onion
- 1 small cucumber, cut into ⅛-inch slices

Cook shrimp and cool. Soften gelatine in water; disslove over hot water. Add vinegar, sugar, horseradish and salt; pour off half of mixture and add cottage cheese, celery, radish and green onion to remainder. Dip each cucumber slice into reserved gelatine mixture and arrange around edge of an 8-inch oiled pie plate. Spoon cottage cheese mixture into pie plate; chill until firm. Add shrimp to remaining gelatine and let them marinate at room temperature until mixture in pie plate is firm. When firm, arrange shrimp atop cottage mixture; spoon any remaining gelatine over shrimp. Chill until firm. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Hawaiian Curried Shrimp

Begin your apprenticeship as a curry artist with Hawaiian Curried Shrimp served in warmed pineapple shells.

- 3 whole pineapples with leaves
- 3 cups chopped cooked shrimp
- 6 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- 3 cups thick white sauce
- ½ cup grated cheese
- 1 pound mushrooms, chopped fine
- ½ inch piece of green gingerroot or ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ teaspoon salt (or more)
- ½ cup bread crumbs

Split the pineapples lengthwise, including the leaves. Scoop out the pulp, leaving ½-inch-thick shells. Heat the shells in a slightly warm oven (not over 200 degrees). Protect the leaves from scorching by wrapping in foil. Chop the pineapple pulp fine and mix with the shrimp. Set aside. Heat the butter in a heavy skillet and fry the curry powder to dark brown.

Add the white sauce and simmer for 1 minute. Put the sauce in the top part of a double boiler and add the mushrooms, gingerroot and salt. Simmer for 15 minutes, till sauce is very thick. Remove the gingerroot. Add the pineapple and shrimp mixture; stir well. Spoon out into warmed pineapple shells. Sprinkle the tops with the bread crumbs and cheese mixed. Arrange under the broiler and toast till the cheese mixture is browned.

VIETNAMESE VISITOR — Anna Nguyen, who came to America to continue her education, smiles contendedly as she puts little stitches into a dress she is making by hand. A student at Tamalpais High School, she lives with the Harvey R. Boyd family in Mill Valley. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Vietnamese In Marin

By MARY LEYDECKER

With a shy smile, Anna Nguyen explains, "My country needs someone to help."

This is the reason that Anna, an 18-year-old Vietnamese girl, is in this country studying at Tamalpais High School and living with the Harvey R. Boyd family in Mill Valley.

Not an exchange student, Anna had already completed high school in Vietnam and had worked several months as a secretary for the U. S. Army when she began to think about coming to this country to go to college to learn to be a teacher.

Why an American education to learn to be a Vietnamese teacher?

Anna explained: "Is easier to go to school here because no war."

Otherwise, she said, the effort that she is putting into coping with the English language might go into college studies. She is spending this year and next year at Tam High primarily to become more confident with the language, which she had studied in a Vietnamese high school.

Anna first became interested in coming to America through her friendship with a chaplain at the Army base where she worked. "I often acted as an interpreter for him," she said. He suggested that Anna might continue her studies in this country.

The Boyds came into the picture when one of their daughters, Sharon, 20, wrote to a soldier friend at Di An Army Base at Christmastime in 1965. In the letter she mentioned that the family had a Mexican girl living with them at the time and that they knew many people from other countries.

The soldier mentioned the Boyds to the chaplain, who then wrote to them. A long exchange of letters between Anna and the Boyds followed while she waited for immigration papers to be readied.

"I worry about too much money," Anna said, describing her concern that she couldn't afford to come to America. However, soldiers at the base came through with donations to pay her fare here.

Anna finally arrived last November, and has fit in happily with the Boyds. Another daughter, Susie, 22, and a son, Bruce, 16, live at home with a wide variety of animals, including an iguana, which resides in the dining room in a large cage.

Anna's large family — "a good Catholic family," she calls it — writes to her almost every day, she says. In addition to Anna, there are six girls and two boys. Her family lives in Bien Hoa province, about 55 miles from Saigon.

Anna said there had been no fighting in her village before she left, but that "after New Year, fighting everywhere."

Her family left North Vietnam, where they lived in Haiphong, in 1954 when North Vietnamese were allowed to go south if they wished. "My grandfather is a big man in the village — he's the chief," Anna said. She said that her father and mother haven't heard from her grandparents in many years, as they elected to stay in North Vietnam.

Her father, who was a teacher, now works for the railroad. "He's a training man" was interpreted by Sharon Boyd to mean that he's with the railroad.

About the war, Anna declined to comment beyond "I don't like it." She also said that "I don't like to talk about politics," adding wistfully, "Everybody love their country, don't they?"

Love of country and interest in family are the two primary characteristics of the Vietnamese teen-agers, Anna said. She finds the Tam High students more grown up than their Vietnamese contemporaries, but "they live more for themselves."

Although Anna found her courses difficult at first because of halting English, "she now does all her homework by herself," Sharon Boyd said. Anna is taking classes in geometry, chemistry, English and French. "I love to learn languages," she said, adding with a giggle that she had studied Italian in the Catholic high school she attended in Vietnam.

Although Anna says she has made friends here and has not been lonesome at the Boyd home, she is very eager for a friend — who came to this country with her and is living in Washington, D. C. — to join her in Marin County.

"You know any family that wants nice Vietnamese girl?" she asked. Anna said that her friend finds the cold winters of the east too bitter after the warm Vietnamese climate.

Family Picnic Set By Stanford Club

By MOLLY MARIN

Fifteen hundred invitations were mailed to Stanford alumni in Marin to attend the fourth annual Marin Stanford Club family picnic Sunday at the Town and Country Club in Fairfax.

A chorus of Stanford men, will sing as part of a daylong program of games, swimming and barbeque.

Reservations chairman is Jim Scatena of Mill Valley. Douglas Ballinger is president of the Marin Stanford Club. Michael Dufficy chairman of the picnic, and Mrs. Ross Ashley secretary of the club and picnic publicity chairman.

MR. AND MRS. Lawrason Driscoll of Indian Valley, Novato, have returned home following a trip to Dallas, Tex. where Mr. Driscoll delivered a paper on "air safety" at the International Symposium on Air Safety at Southern Methodist University. Betty also attended the symposium which she said was very interesting. They were also entertained at a number of private parties in the evenings.

AMONG THOSE entertaining Sunday for the opening of yachting season were the R. Jerrold Hoopers of Sausalito. Their guests aboard the Lang Syne were Messrs and Mesdames James Smith, Donald Perry, Robert Bergin, Kenneth Logan, Victor Wollmann and George Chapman.

ON A tour of Europe is Mrs. Dorothy McCone of San Rafael, who sailed aboard the Canberra from San Francisco en route to Lisbon. She will tour the Continent for two months before returning to Marin.

Marin Women

Air Age Woman Aids Africans Who Are Living In Stone Age

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pretty, blonde Jane Hamilton is an air age woman helping people still living in the stone age.

She is a volunteer for Wings for Progress, a charitable organization founded in 1961 by a former Ohio high school teacher and now serving isolated peoples in the rugged mountain and desert lands of six East Africa countries—Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania, Malawi, Zambia and Ethiopia.

Wings for Progress, often described as the "flying Peace Corps," provides no-charge medical, nutritional, educational and technological aid.

"We talk about helping the developing nations," said Miss Hamilton. "In some areas into which we fly the white man has rarely been. They still work with stone age tools, although we've taught some of them to forge."

Miss Hamilton, 30, from Hamilton, Ind., is one of two women pilots serving Wings. The other is Sister Sean, a Vermont-born member of the Irish Medical Missionaries of Mary, an order of doctors and nurses.

WINGS FOR PROGRESS has four fulltime and three relief volunteer pilots, all from the United States but one — a Masai who is the first of his countrymen to have a pilot's license. The pilots are paid subsistence — about $2,000 a year.

"With planes, we're jumping hundreds of years," said Miss Hamilton, "because it will be that long before these people will be able to build roads."

The aviatrix has just returned from three months in Kenya and Ethiopia, ferrying food, equipment, medicine, visiting doctors and nurses, agricultural technicians, Peace Corps personnel, government workers.

"JUST IN THE area I covered, we now have four irrigation projects, two schools, dispensaries and hospitals," she said.

Pilots make it a rule—never an empty plane either way. The six-passenger Cessnas they use are built to haul anything from a refrigerator to a motorcycle for a doctor to a stretcher for a native or missionary's child in need of medical attention at a modern Nairobi hospital.

Said the woman bush pilot: "The first year Mike flew (Mike Stimac is the founder and president of Wings) he ferried 1,492 persons, more than 13 tons of food and medicines, covered 105,000 miles."

Stimac, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, had taught in Dayton where Wings now is headquartered. He went to East Africa in 1961 to teach high school science in the Kenya Reserve, heart of the Mau Mau country, because he felt "there is something I can accomplish" in the primitive areas.

HE FOUND that the peoples were highly intelligent—"all they needed were the tools and the direction," said Miss Hamilton. So was born what originally was called the United Missions Air Training and Transport, Inc. (UMATT), but now officially is simply Wings for Progress, supported by contributions in the United States, Britain, Italy, and Africa.

Miss Hamilton is one of four children of a dairy farmer and joined Wings in a roundabout way.

She held degrees in oriental culture and literature at Ball State University and the University of Indiana and was working toward her doctorate at the University of the Ryukyus in Okinawa. In travelling Southeast Asia to study how developing nations can modernize and still retain their cultures, she concluded that U.S. foreign aid was only developing "haves and have nots" instead of helping all to hitch themselves up by their bootstraps.

She had returned to the States and was teaching at the University of Dayton when she heard of Stimac's project. She offered to volunteer if he would teach her to fly. Now she's Stimac's assistant, shuttling between Dayton and East Africa and studying at the American University in Washington, D.C.

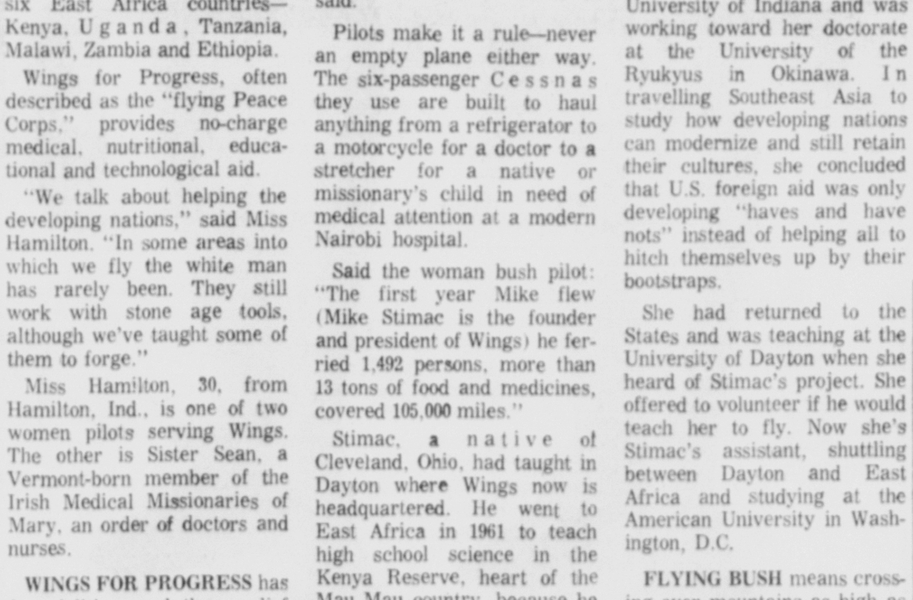
FLYING BUSH means crossing over mountains as high as 11,000 feet, living in a desert climate where temperatures reach 110 and 115 degrees, and landing the small planes on makeshift strips.

Whitewashed stones often are the only markers and through communications by wireless the settlements know when a Wings pilot is en route. Part of the villager's job is to chase donkeys and camels out of the way for the plane to land.

Traditionally, very little clothing is worn in desert country, but the women have seen the missionaries and nurses in dresses, Miss Hamilton in culottes, and so the idea of having a dress has caught on. As a result, another hazard to flying has been added.

WINGS USES sturdy and easily visible black and white striped fabric for wind socks — to tell direction and force of winds at the landing strips.

"We keep having to replace the socks," said Miss Hamilton. "Black and white stripes dresses have become quite fashionable in East Africa."



JANE HAMILTON, 30-year-old pilot from Hamilton, Ind., wears a necklace and earrings common to the Masai tribe and holds a Turkana tribe doll from Kenya. She is one of two women pilots serving Wings for Progress, a charitable organization assisting isolated persons in the rugged mountain and desert lands of six East African countries. Wings for Progress, often described as the flying Peace Corps, provides no-charge medical, nutritional, educational and technological aid.

A Laundry 'Stripper'

If you want to startle your new husband one of these spring mornings, announce at the breakfast table that you're going to turn "stripper." Lest you interpret the term the way he does, you should know that it has a second, most modest meaning. In laundry parlance, stripping refers to the process of getting your clothes and all the rest of your washables to shed their dinginess.

Many times this dinginess results from your over-enthusiastic use of soap or detergent. Rinse cycles of washing machines can't cope with the excess, so traces of soap or detergent stick with your clothes. In time, with multiple washings, the residue builds up and causes greying.

This is where stripping comes in. Abiding by the basic laundry principle of washing whites with whites, light colors with light colors, put a load through its regular wash cycle. But instead of soap or detergent use three tablespoons of sal soda concentrated. The sal softens the water and loosens the residue. Right off you "notice the water sudsing . . . positive proof of lingering soap or detergent, for sal doesn't suds. You may have to repeat the process once, twice or even more. At this point, it's one more time, only now along with the sal you add soap or detergent.

So if you want your launderables . . . everything from lingerie to blouses, sheets and towels . . . to look livelier this spring and last longer, strip, ladies, strip! You'll have your husband's full approval.

Shoe Polish

To remove shoe polish stains from socks, rub the spots with well-soaped fingers. Then wash socks the regular way.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Some Think Working Wives Are Being Discriminated Against

DEAR HELEN:

Never thought I would write to a newspaper column, but Working Wife's complaint re our Social Security laws on retirement benefits for career-women wives changed my mind.

The law now says that when a working wife and her husband retire, she may either have approximately half of his Social Security pension—as his wife; or her own pension as a worker, whichever is greatest. But she always forfeits one to take the other. I say that she should be entitled to both, having earned them. Certainly, with all accumulated Social Security benefits, a couple cannot scrape by these days unless they have other income. Example: top benefits for a 65-year-old man and his never-employed wife of 65: $2,711.80 this year. Had she worked, unless she earned consistent high wages, it would be very little more. Actually she has donated her withholding—or most of it—to the government.

I think working wives are being discriminated against, by a government which says, "Discriminatory labor practices because of sex are illegal." We are penalized under the social Security system for being married working women.

Don't get me wrong: I don't want the dependent wives allowance taken away. I maintain we career-gal wives shouldn't have it taken away either.

To whom do we write, Helen, to get this archaic law changed? — WORKING WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

Write to your congressman. If enough working wives stir up a fuss, we may get action. One compromise is already under consideration—this to pay the working wife her full Social Security benefits, plus a percentage of what she could receive in wife's benefits. That seems fair enough. Hit it hard, gals! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a conscious, hard-working wife and mother, also a self-employed businesswoman, whose employer doesn't share my Social Security tax burden. I pay it all—well over $400 a year, and the ante goes up each year! I figure, subtracting what I might have got as a dependent wife from what I will get as a retired worker, I'll have to live until I'm 91 to get back what I paid in, plus interest. Needless to say, I'm stoking the old engine with vitamin pills! — GOTTA OUT-LIVE 'EM

DEAR HELEN:

I paid some Social Security for a couple of years which I'll never see, but I figure it all comes out in the wash. If "Working Wife" thinks she is cheated, how about those childless people whose real estate taxes go mainly to support schools?
GLAD TO TAKE THE WIFE'S SHARE

DEAR HELEN:

Perhaps Working Wife is not aware of the protection she is providing for her children, in the event of her early death. There are many Social Security benefits other than retirement payments, such as providing her widowed husband with financial help in the care of the kids.

If she is childless, and becomes widowed, she still has a possible benefit over and above her dead husband's Social Security. She can re-marry and draw her own benefits, while the non-working wife loses her S.S. benefits if she re-marries. Then there is the possibility of divorce. She is protecting herself by having her own coverage.—GLAD TO BE PAYING

DEAR HELEN:

My husband worked for many years, all the while paying Social Security tax. At the time of his death, four years ago, I received $255 as the S.S. payment toward funeral bills. Since I was working and had no dependents, I could draw nothing more.

Now, in a few months I will retire and draw my own Social Security but nothing as my husband's widow. Thus you can readily see, the only amount available to my husband's family was the $255 in spite of his paying into the system for 25 years.

Need I say more? — WORKING WIDOW

DEAR HELEN:

I'm having a hearty laugh at the Working Wife who complains about her Social Security tax. She has worked for the luxuries while we true wives-and-mothers, who stay at home, have done without. These working wives walk around with their noses in the air, and every chance they get they belittle and stomp the stupid housewife into the dirt. They neglect their families and their homes so they can have luxurious vacations and three or four cars. Then they're the first ones to scream discrimination when they have to pay taxes.—HA, HA, HA!

DEAR HA:

Aren't you generalizing just a wee bit, dear?—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Variety Of Foam Rubber

NEW YORK (UPI)—The quality of the foam rubber used on carpet varies considerably.

Here are some guidelines from the Latex Foam Rubber Council: A good foam backing is rather rigid; the carpet sample will not droop limply. The backing should be at least three-sixteenths of an inch thick, and preferably more. Foam cells should be of fairly uniform size. To test a sample, bend the carpet. A good foam backing will not crack.

ON THE AGENDA

Southern Marin Church Women Will Hold May Fellowship Day

Church Women United of Southern Marin will sponsor May Fellowship Day on Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Larkspur.

"Human Values in a Technological Society" will be discussed by the Rev. Francis Geddes, new pastor of the First Congregational Church of San Rafael. His luncheon hour talk will be based upon his experiences as coordinator of the West Coast Urban Training Center in San Francisco, and the work of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, to which he has been appointed.

A morning study panel on the question, "Are You a Name or a Number?" is scheduled, with Mrs. Gilbert Slusher of Corte Madera, chairman. Ben Young, Mill Valley Community Church; Mrs. Vaughn Marker, Redwoods Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Richard Walters, San Rafael Methodist Church; and Mrs. John Foley, San Anselmo First Baptist Church, are the panelists. Mrs. Harold Stephenson Jr., Redwoods Presbyterian Church, is luncheon chairman.

THE CAMP Fire Girls office in Marin is looking for a new home. The lease on the present cottage at 263 West End Avenue in San Rafael is up May 15 and the office is seeking another home in a central Marin location.

THE MARION School Parent-Teacher Association has chosen the theme of "Funtime Frolic" for this year's festival, to be held from 5 to 9 p.m., Friday at the school in Novato.

Mrs. Robert Listman and Mrs. Jack Pinckney are co-chairmen.

A spaghetti dinner will be available as well as a variety of booths.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY of the Merrie-Go- Round School in Corte Madera will be observed with coffee and dessert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The social hour will be followed by a round table discussion. Panelists will be Mrs. Pat Hammill, nursery school director, "Short and long term goals of good nursery schools"; Mrs. Margaret Azevedo, County planning commission chairman, "Family recreation and conservation"; Mrs. John Fitch, Larkspur-Corte Madera School District curriculum coordinator, and John Fitch, Reed Union School District director of innovations, "Kindergarten eligibility and expectations."

THE MARIN Chapter of ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) will have a dinner and game night on Saturday, at 7:30 p.m. It will be held at the Jewish Community Center, in Santa Venetia. Mrs. Stephen Jaffe and Mrs. Stephen Marks are reservations chairmen.

A GOURMET spring luncheon with "The Foreign Touch" theme will be held by the Women's Guild of San Geronimo Valley Presbyterian Church Saturday at the church in San Geronimo. The annual event will begin at 1 p.m. Speaker will be Peggy Hopkins, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. home economist, whose topic will be "Easy Do Parties."

Chairman is Mrs. Anne Wagner, assisted by co-chairman Mrs. Mark Tuel, and Mesdames George Shand, Bill Frederickson, Louis Parada, John Lindsay, Gene Chadwick, Eldon Halseth and Miss Virginia Gilstrap. Guests and committee will come in costumes of foreign lands.

A PUBLIC wine festival from 2 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, will be sponsored by the Alumnae Association at Caleruega on the Dominican College campus.

Music will be provided by a strolling mariachi trio.

Mrs. Frank Ortman Jr., is chairman. Committee members are Miss Alicia McEvoy, Miss Geraldine Mulchay, Mrs. Robert Fair and Mrs. Charles Gardiner.

Welcoming guests will be the Mesdames Charles Sweeney, N. C. Mirassou, James Drennan, Robert A. Jeffrey Jr., Martin Murphy Jr., William Elliott Jr., Donald Steinwert and Kenneth Nehmens.

Tickets which benefit the scholarship fund, may be obtained from Wine Festival Chairman, Dominican College, San Rafael.

A ONE-DAY fund raising art show and sale of paintings done by inmates at San Quentin is slated to benefit the Ross Psychiatric Center on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Marin Civic Center in San Rafael.

Serving on the committee are Mesdames Ralph Potter, Mill Valley; Jim Denebeim, San Anselmo; Rex Rolle, Novato and Kitty Oppenheimer of Kentfield.

Prisoners at San Quentin are now preparing nearly 1000 paintings to be sold that day.

Volunteers are needed to assist with the show and sale and may call the Ross Psychiatric Center to arrange the schedule.

THE REED School District and the Reed Union School District Parent-Teachers Club are co-sponsoring a Children's Art Festival at the Boardwalk Shopping Center in Belvedere-Tiburon on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Children's art will be displayed from all schools in the Reed District. There will also be an art in action program conducted by teachers in the district who have volunteered. Children will be working on collage mobiles from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. under the direction of Carol Nicolaisen of Bel Aire School. From 11 a.m. to noon the children will make tissue paper flowers taught by Jane Cope, also of Bel Aire. In the afternoon there will be a session on sand paper printing from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and one on clay from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. These sessions will be led by Selby Kee from Granada School and Anna Lese Pesl from Tiburon School. Throughout the day easel painting with tempera paints will be available for 6 to 8 years old children.

Marshall Martin, art director for the Reed District is chairman. Mrs. Glen Petersen, former art director for the district, is assistant. Parents on the committee are Mmes. Robert Bixby, I. E. Levine, Stuart Waters, Gerald Yaffe, Harold Newton, James D. Lowe, James Olson, Bruce Manheim and Alan Ehrenberrg.

CANNED CURLS WITHOUT KINKS

Two 17 year old twins, Debby and Denny Duenow of St. Louis, take small orange juice cans opened at both ends to set their hair because "they give you curls without kinks." Their parents like the fact the girls have put to double use a plentiful household commodity but disapprove of the girls wearing the cans outside the house. The family normally consumes three cans of juice a day so there's never an argument about who has the curlers. (UPI Telephoto)

Mrs. Hubert Pessner Leads Marin-Sonoma 14th District

Angela Lansbury Captures 'Mame'

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Angela Lansbury took the old city by storm last night as Mame, that wonderful zany aunt who has been the darling of the Broadway musical comedy stage for the past two years.

And from the crowd's final approval, Miss Lansbury could reign forever at the Curran Theater on Geary Street.

The occasion was the opening of the 31st season of the San Francisco Civic Light Opera Association which has been needing a shot in the arm like Auntie Mame for a couple of seasons.

BOUNCY OVERTURE

From the bouncy overture to the final strains of "coax the blues right of the horn" from the title song, "Mame," it was a dazzling production.

Miss Lansbury begins tearing down your resistance from the beginning. And nearly three hours later, you have adopted her as your own personal Mame. That must be what they call "magnetic star quality" in show business.

The veteran screen actress, who has scored in secondary roles in such films as "The Picture of Dorian Gray" and "The Manchurian Candidate," had to go to New York to earn that big star status.

A SURE THING

"Auntie Mame" has been kicking around since the 1950s when Patrick Dennis introduced her in his best-selling book. Sensing a sure thing Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Leee brought her to life in a straight comedy starring Rosalind Russell, who later transformed the show into a screen hit. The pair has again turned the trick in the form of a musical with the luck to have another giant star.

Miss Lansbury is sheer joy to watch. She can belt out a song with the best of them. It shows in "My Best Girl," "Open New Window," and the melodic "If He Walked Into My Life." Too, she can keep up with the most experienced of dancers. (Try her recent Academy Award show stopper.)

Granted there can be only one Mame to show you her sunshine filled world, but she muust have around her a strong cast to give the show balance. And that she does.

BEST FRIEND

Add Jane Connell as Agnes Gooch and the trio is complete. Miss Connell, a charter member of the Straw Hat Theater, now the Festival Theater of San Anselmo, stops the show with her "Gooch's Song," relating how she lived in little too much.

Mark Savage as Mame's nephew Patrick at age 10 lends to the gaiety of Act One, but somehow his young voice was a little too nasal to the ear. Savage was announced at showtime as a replacement for Michael Maitland, the regular young Patrick Dennis.

The two other main principals Willard Waterman as Dwight Babcock, the legal overseer of Patrick's education, and Charles Braswell as Beauregard, Mame's Southern husband, add sparkle to the large cast.

The personalities are equalled in the dazzling costumes, simple but enchanting sets which don't seem to overpower the small Curran stage and the youthful choreography.

The musical continues for six weeks with daily evening performances at 8:30 p.m. and regular matinees at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2:30 p.m.

School Sign-Up

Pre-registration for kindergarten classes in the Kentfield School District will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 8 and 9 at all district schools. Classes start Sept. 10.

Combined Choir Plans 'Messiah'

Marin County's Winifred Baker Chorale will be joined by the San Francisco Chorale for a performance of Handel's "Messiah" at 8 p.m. Saturday in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Winifred Baker will conduct the combined choirs, baroque orchestra and organ played by Ludwig Altman.

Soloists will be soprano Marian Marsh and baritone Byron Jones, both of Marin County, and tenor Edward Jameson and alto Margery Tede.

Dominican Recital

The Dominican College music department will present two 13-year-old students, Sara McKinnon and Janice Tschache, in two piano and solo recital tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Angelico Hall, on the San Rafael campus.

Sonoma Workshop Set Drama Scenes

The Sonoma State College drama workshop will present "Battle of the Sexes," 11 scenes from great plays of the world, at 8 p.m. May 10, 11 and 12 in room 101, Ives Hall.

Scenes will be given from Euripides' "Medea," Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," Moliere's "Doctor in Spite of Himself," Ibsen's "Ghosts," Lorca's "Yerma," Betti's "Crime on Goat Island," William's "Streetcar Named Desire," Anouilh's "Waltz of the Toreodors," Ianesco's "Jacques and the Submission," King's "See How They Run" and an original mime.

Tryouts Slated

The San Geronimo Valley Players will hold casting tryouts for three plays Monday and Tuesday, at 8 p.m., in the Woodacre Improvement Club. The plays, from which one will be selected for performance, are "A Thousand Clowns," "Cat on A Hot Tin Roof" and "Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

Collegiate Chorale Will Sing May 15

The Sonoma State College collegiate chorale and the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Joseph Liebling, will present a program at noon May 15 in the college's Ives Building.

The chorale will sing works by Handel, Haydn and Brahms. The Madrigal Singers will sing works by Morley, Buxtehude, Pfautsch, Haydn and Poulenc.

Senior Citizens Club Slates Open House

The Goldenaires Club of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department will hold an open house from noon until 3 p.m. on Friday at the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks Streets.

There will be a dessert card party at noon, and displays of various hobby and craft items made by senior citizens.

MUSIC-GO-ROUND — The Morning Glory, a local rock group on the move after winning a $50,000-plus record contract, goes round and round like the music in Gerstle Park, San Rafael. Clockwise, starting at bottom, are Personal Manager Ralph Pepe, Bob Bohanna, Daniel, Allen Wehr and Larry Gerughty. The children are just along for the ride. MARIN'S SERIOUS HEP MUSICIANS

Morning Glory Embraces The 'Sound'

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Pop music is taking off and leaving behind the instant rock groups that were a dime-a-dozen in Marin 18 months ago.

Cute high school rock'n'rollers with their $65 guitars are out. Adult, brain-bending, ever-loving, all-embracing sound is in with this hepped-up new generation which places a premium on change.

Growing out of this massive consolidation of forces on the Marin music front are the four men of the Morning Glory, one of the first serious local groups to turn out an album for a major label.

Cutting their eye-teeth in teen-age combos — some of which are now no more than a name — the Morning Glory is part of a wider, more mature musical world already spinning off sub-cultures in dress, hair-styles and mannerisms.

The pop music of today is far more complex and sophisticated in composition and creation. And the youthful audiences are grooving along with it.

No longer is it good enough to get $40 a night at a local dance hall. These days, the bread is real big, man, and it falleth like manna from heaven

Morning Glory has netted a fat $10,000-a-year-plus-royalties contract guaranteeing work for the next five years at least.

With its first album, "Two Suns Worth," just hitting the racks, the group has signed with Fontana Records, a subsidiary of Mercury, to produce two records a year until 1973.

In short, drummer Allen Wehr, 19; lead guitarist Danny S. NuDelman, 19; and Bob Bohanna, 24, organ, all of San Rafael; and Larry Gerughty, 21, of San Anselmo, on bass and rhythm guitar, have it made.

The group's $10,000 a year plus royalties of eight per cent for an over-the-counter sale of 140,000 records could mean $65,000. At the moment, they are living off a $25,000 advance from the company.

Publishers rights and royalties also figure in the setup, as the long-haired quartet write their own songs, arrange them and publish under the company name, Morning Glory Music.

This means they get an additional two per cent in royalties whether their song is performed by the Morning Glory or someone else. Another two cents goes into the bank every time a disk jockey drops a needle on one of their record tracks anywhere in the United States.

The money-making starts all over again when a single record is cut from an album should a particular song begin to spark.

The spiral goes on and up. Morning Glory's one-night-stand price increases with its popularity.

A little over a year ago, the group was prepared to work for glory and wait for money. Two or three months ago, it was averaging $650 for single appearances at such spots as the Avalon and Fillmore in San Francisco. With the success of this or any other record, the group could demand an average $1,500 or more.

Guiding lights behind Morning Glory's rapid growth are personal manager Ralph Pepe of San Anselmo and road manager Larry Ghilotti of San Rafael.

Pepe, 24, was promoting dances at the Santa Venetia Armory, at the Fairfax Pavilion and other local "hops" when he was 19. First he was in partnership with his brother, Al. Then Ghilotti came along.

About 14 months ago, the Morning Glory asked to play at one of the partners' dances. The two accepted, listened and were up, up and away.

"After my first exposure . . . I just fell in love with them," said Pepe. The group was without a manager and asked him to take over.

"They are just beautiful people," he said, earnestly. "They're devoted 200 per cent to music and are among the most dedicated people I know." Which sounds kind of natural, coming from a promoter.

But Morning Glory's first album speaks for itself. Arrangements are more elaborate and creative than the old rock format, although the beat continues to be pronounced.

The sound is provocative and the right side of the psychedelic. This is particularly true of "Jelly Gas Flame" by NuDelman—who prefers Daniel as his professional name—and "Need Someone," a song by Bohanna to be released as a single in June.

As is the mode of the day, several of the Morning Glory numbers end in a type of electronically induced freak out, evidently simulating the effects of LSD.

One of the tracks called "I See the Light," by Daniel and Gina Graybeal — a singer no longer with the group — has the trappings of a hit.

"That was my choice for a single," said Gerughty, smiling as he adjusted his steel-rimmed glasses. "But we couldn't hold up our heads with the other groups if we went all out with something so thoroughly commercial. The kids would like it . . . but we have to maintain a degree of dignity."

He started out with groups like the Classics, the Morlocks, and The Styx. Earlier days saw Daniel with The Trolls and other local groups and he once played with a combo backing up Herman and the Hermits in an appearance at the Cow Palace.

Bohanna — a friend of Pepe since their days at Sir Francis Drake High School — was once with Jane and the Americans "a big group back East."

Wehr said he first started with a group called Music City Amals, but was unable to say exactly what the last name meant.

The Morning Glory has apparently hit on a winning combination of talent that could lead to success. Each member has signed separately with Fontana in the event of the group breaking up.

"But we intend to stick together indefinitely," said Pepe. As for the opinion of the group? That can best be expressed in Bohanna's words and music for the album's final track.

Innocent Plea To Marijuana

John F. Chafin, 23, of Mill Valley, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to a charge that he possessed marijuana Nov. 18 in Sausalito.

He asked for a trial before a judge, which was scheduled for July 8.

Chafin was arrested after an undercover Sausalito policeman was offered a marijuana cigarette at 55 Sunshine Avenue, Sausalito. Chafin allegedly had marijuana in his possession.

Police Still Seek Pair In Tiburon Office Holdup

Police were looking today for two neatly dressed Negro men, aged between 20 and 25, in connection with the armed robbery of a Tiburon apartment house manager yesterday morning.

Hans Wachsmuth, 51, said they walked into his rental office at 11:09 a.m. yesterday, brandished a long-barreled revolver and calmly asked for the office money.

When Waschsmuth said he did not have it, the robbers demanded and received his $1,800, diamond studded wristwatch and $400 in a gold money clip.

Wachsmuth, who lives at 18 Janet Way, Tiburon, said the bandits made their getaway in a dull red Volkswagen.

The man with the gun was wearing a sportscoat and sported a goatee and long sideburns, Wachsmuth said. The other was neatly dressed in sports closthes. Both were of slender build, he said.

Marin Will Host DeMolay Session

The Redwood Empire Division of DeMolay, a Masonic youth organization, will hold its annual convention Friday through Sunday in San Rafael.

Highlighting the convention, which will start at 6:30 p.m. Friday with registration of delegates, will be the election of 1968 division officers and the selection of a DeMolay sweetheart at the Saturday night ball.

Marin Chapter Order of DeMolay No. 115 will host the convention which will take place in the Masonic Building, Fourth and Lootens Place.

Union Support Given To Turner

William W. Turner of Mill Valley, a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Sixth Congressional District, has been endorsed by the Union Labor Party in San Francisco.

The party is composed of members of waterfront trade union members, Turner said. The Sixth District includes the western portion of San Francisco and most of Marin, except Novato and West Marin.

Stolen Watch Found; Three Juveniles Cited

A $1,000 gold watch stolen Sunday from Dr. John H. Clayton of Mill Valley has been recovered and citations issued against three juveniles in the case, Mill Valley police reported today.

The watch, a 1900 Waltham with solid gold hunting case, was stolen from Clayton's home at 209 Ethel Avenue. Clayton told police he saw juveniles running from the area.

Trial Slated In Shooting Of Novatan

The trial of Floyd Richard, 29-year-old San Francisco man charged with the involuntary manslaughter of Sp/4 Harry James Smiley of Novato on Dec. 22, has been set for next Wednesday in San Francisco Superior Court before Judge Harry J. Neubarth.

Richard has pleaded innocent to the charge of involuntary manslaughter and not guilty to a charge of marijuana possession.

Smiley was killed when the gun of San Francisco Police Officer Norbert Gutierrez accidently discharged during a struggle between Gutierrez and Richard.

Officers testified at a coroner's inquest that they had stopped Smiley, Richard and a third man, Herbert J. Fraser, 26, of San Francisco, for questioning because they suspected that a sale of marijuana was taking place.

Police further testified that Richard threw away marijuana cigarettes and a matchbox containing marijuana when Gutierrez started to question him.

Physician Asserts Teacher Should Weigh Around 150

The "optimum weight" of Redwood High School's 212-pound physical education teacher should be more like 150 pounds, the school physician testified today at a special hearing in the Civic Center.

Dr. Nutting said he has seen Miss Blodgett on several occasions during school functions but never as a patient.

Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel representing the school district, and Principal Donald Kreps, called Dr. Nutting to the stand in an effort to support the principal's recommendation that she not be rehired next school year.

For a person of Miss Blodget's height, 5 feet 7 inches, and her age, "I would say 150 pounds is the optimum weight," declared Nutting. "I wouldn't argue too much about 10 pounds over that, no," he added, in answer to a question by Bjorklund.

In examining employees for Pacific Telephone Co., the doctor said he uses a weight consultants scale which puts the normal range of a person of Miss Blodgett's height and age at between 138 and 178 pounds. But he would consider 178 would be overweight, Nutting said.

In direct examination by Godino, Nutting testified that taking off the first 20 to 40 pounds would be the easiest, and then the weight reduction would become "progressively more difficult."

Dr. W. H. Butler of Ross Valley Medical Clinic testified on Monday that Miss Blodgett had been 253 pounds when she consulted him on Jan. 5. He said she has reduced about two pounds a week since then and could be under 200 pounds by the end of June if the present treatment continues to be effective.

"Every pound means a mile of blood vessel and an added burden on the heart" Nutting said. "The more active and more overweight they are, the more danger to the health."

Nutting said he is school and team physician for Redwood and Drake High schools, drawing $6,000 per year from the two schools as school physician and $25 per football game as team physician. He said his work with the schools represents about 15 per cent of his practice.

Innocent Plea To Selling Of LSD

Steve Cowan, 22, of Marin City, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to charges that he sold LSD to Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau agents Dec. 6 and Feb. 16. Jury trial on the charges was scheduled for July 15.

What? J. Edgar Hoover A Campaign Issue?

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota has said that, if elected president, he would retire J. Edgar Hoover from the directorship of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

McCarthy said Hoover has made the FBI "a kind of fief which is somewhat beyond criticism and outside judgment." He said the FBI chief, who is three years beyond the federal government's so-called mandatory retirement age of 70, has been on the job too long.

We doubt that Senator McCarthy can make much of a campaign issue out of J. Edgar Hoover, but he might, at that.

HOOVER HAS HELD his job so long that "hardly a man is now alive" who can remember when he was not "chief G-man." Over the years, he has acquired such prestige as to stand beyond criticism or questioning — somewhat in the category of God and mother.

How Hoover got to his position makes an interesting story, and perhaps has a bearing on much of the role the FBI has long played in alerting or alarming Americans to the dangers of communism.

The United States' first "big Red scare" came just after World War I. Atty. Gen. A. Mitchell Palmer set it in motion, and a bomb mailed to his home gave it added impetus.

An act of Congress of Oct. 16, 1918, provided for expulsion of aliens teaching or advocating overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States. The attorney general set his agents and those of the Immigration Bureau to round up hundreds of aliens who belonged to the Communist party. They were taken to Ellis Island and held for deportation.

Palmer's task then was to prove that Communist party membership was grounds for deportation under the 1918 act. He turned this over to a 25-year-old, little-known special assistant in his office: John Edgar Hoover.

THE YOUNG ATTORNEY who later became FBI chief did his best. But early in 1920, an appeal by 25 of the seized Reds was heard by Judge George W. Anderson in U. S. District Court in Boston, and he ruled:

"There is no evidence that the Communist party is an organization advocating the overthrow of the United States by force and violence."

Two hundred forty-nine aliens already had been deported to Russia aboard the old Army transport Buford. But Judge Anderson's ruling ended the big roundup. The hundreds still at Ellis Island were freed.

It did not, however, end the career of the young attorney who had prepared the government's brief. Far from it. Four years later, as President Calvin Coolidge sought to cleanse the Justice Department's Division of Investigation of the political spy aura it had acquired under William J. Burns, he tapped Hoover to be its head. A few years later, the division became the FBI.

DESPITE EXCURSIONS into chasing bank robbers and other gangsters, breaking up Nazi spy rings, etc., the FBI in its 44 years under Hoover has never long neglected the Communist party. Hoover has carried on the fight against Reds consistently since he wrote that brief in 1919.

Fourty-four years may be too long for any man to head such an agency as the FBI. But one thing is sure: in suggesting that Hoover go, Eugene McCarthy has "rushed in where angels fear to tread."

"Thank you, sir... Every signature counts!"

Dawn Redwoods Can't Compare

The dawn redwoods, discovered living in a remote valley in Hupei province in China more than a quarter of a century ago and hailed as a living fossil and an ancestor of our own Redwoods, cannot compare with its California relative in the quality of wood it produces.

Dawn redwoods were widely propagated in this country following their discovery. Superficially, the wood closely resembles our own redwood in color and cell structure. However, exhausting tests by the Department of Agriculture show the wood is too light, weak, limber and soft.

Exposition Opening Date Nears While Funds For Site Run Short

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A good many trials and tribulations are being experienced by Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, director of the state Department of General Services, and as such, guiding light of the new California Exposition.

Right now, Lolli is concerned with the problem of getting the exposition ready for a July 1 opening, and despite the hampering events which have taken place during the last year, he expects to accomplish that.

Under the arrangement, the staff of the exposition will have nothing to do with this show, which is being handled by the staff of the old state fair formerly at the old location on Stockton Boulevard. The new staff takes over for the 1969 fair.

THE DUAL arrangement, however, hasn't a whole lot to do with the problems of completing the new fair site, located north of Sacramento, and getting the buildings and grounds ready for the public, a job which is primarily in Lolli's hands.

He says he's about $3.5 million short of funds to finish the job, and as yet, doesn't know just where the money's coming from. On top of that, his operating funds for this year are a half million short, and he sees no prospect of the Legislature coming to his relief.

Cost of the complete operation will amount to approximately $34 million, and it was estimated when the project was started several years ago that this would be available through the sale of revenue bonds, and of the old fair site.

However, the state didn't receive as much as it hoped from the sale of the old site, which was purchased with retirement funds as a stop-gap until it was decided what finally would be its fate.

IN ADDITION, it was estimated that a substantial amount of revenue would result from lease or sale of perimeter area at the new site, for private business enterprises. But private business, says Lolli, isn't falling over itself in a rush to get this area.

Neither has private enterprise come forward with plans to build golf courses at the new fair site, which originally were looked upon as a certain source of revenue.

The original idea of the new fair was that it would be self-supporting and cash in enough revenue to pay for itself, including retirement of the bonds sold to finance the construction work.

Talk To Students Considered Discipline

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am compelled to answer your personal attack on me for my alleged lack of disciplinary action in the black students' obscenity case at College of Marin.

Within an hour of the incident, I had begun a long discussion with the two students involved. I told them they were jeopardizing the future of free speech on campus, and assured them that such conduct, if repeated, would make necessary their suspension or expulsion. In my mind, this constituted disciplinary action.

Your attack was unfortunate because it only supports the students' contention that the white community is more interested in attacking obscenity than in trying to understand the attitudes of young blacks in this country.

Furthermore, I noticed that while reporters from the I-J and two San Francisco newspapers attended the follow-up meeting which proved to be a healthy, "clean" exchange between white and black students, no report ever appeared in any of the papers.

Should the I-J be interested in the serious implications stemming from the racial problem which has been our deep concern this year, you may count on every cooperation from the Dean of Students Office.

Student Unrest Blamed On Commies

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Communists and their New Left associates who are working assiduously to destroy lawful government and promote anarchy in the United States have been trying and succeeding in involving universities, junior colleges and high schools in their revolutionary plans.

Carl Davidson, last national secretary of the National Students for a Democracy Society, instructed and contended that it was possible for students to exercise complete authority on their own campuses.

For high schools they say "fires in wastepaper cans will be interpreted by the Administration as a sign of student discontent." In eight schools in the Los Angeles area their efforts are bearing fruit. These have been associated with the presence of outside agitators and acts of violence including "setting fires in waste paper baskets." Many times they have forced the educational authorities to surrender.

The Commies and Socialists plans are devious and tailored to meet each individpal situation. Even if the blue print for the junior colleges were openly disclosed, I doubt if the public would believe or care what they were doing. After the commie plans succeeded of course it was not planned but just "happened."

The only thing communism cannot stand is to have their plans exposed. Why cannot the public see what they are doing before it is too late, and the happenings become a fact, and our way of life?

Quality Education, And Ways To Save

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial, "Figures Contradict Reagan on Tuition," fails to consider certain pertinent facts which support the governor's viewpoint. While it is true that U.C.'s fees of $213-$268 are about average for public institutions of higher education, many schools included in that average are in no way comparable as regards faculty, curriculum, and facilities . . .

You cited the large proportion of the 211,448 junior college students who do not go on to state schools offering upper division courses as an apparent argument for extending "free education" rather than for increasing fees. Present university facilities and staff could not accommodate such an annual increment . . . Moreover, your presumption that all the junior college students discontinued their educatiou solely for ecomomic reasons fails to consider those who quit because they were not interested in or lacked the capabilities to profit from further education, those who preferred to go to work, were drafted, etc. . . .

Before requiring increased taxes, both schools and students could alleviate economic hardships to some extent themselves. A great deal of scholarship and loan money at many colleges goes unused. Last year, Reagan questioned the need for a $700,000 annual budget for public relations at U.C. Part of the total student costs included a compulsory activity fee levied by the students themselves.

Why Have Laws If Each Chooses?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In response to Mrs. Robert Bjorn's letter, "Why No Outcry at Chicago Order?" in the April 22 issue of the Independent-Journal, she states, "No moral citizen is required to obey an immoral law or directive."

Does Mrs. Bjorn mean that any citizen, who does not agree with local, state or national laws, has the moral right to disobey these laws? If so, any citizen then has "the moral right" to set fire to, or loot, any other citizen's property. This being the case, we apparently do not need law enforcement agencies, and each citizen, right or wrong, may do what he thinks is "morally right."

What of the offended person's moral rights? Is his property to be burned, looted, etc., with no protection. If Mrs. Bjorn's property was subject to arson and looting, would she stand by and watch, relying upon her fellow citizen's moral interpretation of the situation or would she call upon the law enforcement agencies for protection and justice?

I sincerely hope that Mrs. Bjorn never has to face a "Chicago" situation as a test of her true identity towards her fellow man and peace officers — and the mayor elected to serve her and her community. May her neighbors, and fellow man, never be obligated to call upon her for assistance when in need!

Perhaps Mrs. Bjorn should review the 10 Commandments . . . and, give sincere thought to Commandments 10, 8 and 6.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THERE'S NO END to those stories about super-rich Texans and their peccadillos. When Wall Street financier Arthur Goodman, for example, asked a Dallas customer, "How's business holding up in your sector?" the Texan drawled, "My boy, in Dallas we do more business by accident than you coots in Wall Street do on purpose!"

ART LIMKLETTER tells about the lone lady diner at a fashionable restaurant who observed that a gent at a nearby table had left a succulent lamb chop untouched on his plate. Remembering her two very-hungry poodles locked up in her car, she ankled over to the table, and had just wrapped the chop in a napkin and was depositing it in her purse when a waiter tapped her on the shoulder and whispered, "The gentleman who was eating at this table just stepped outside for a telephone call.'

MARQUIS CHILDS

Reagan Too Little And Too Late? Perhaps Not For Vice Presidency

SACRAMENTO — Californians the other day felt for the first time the bite of a $1 billion increase in state taxes. Many in the middle-income brackets found their tax bill upped from three to four times.

Gov. Ronald Reagan blames much of this on his predecessor, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, who in the last years of his second term in the governorship used every possible device to postpone the evil day. Yet as the pressures of the office bear down harder and harder, with the prospect of even higher levies just ahead, Reagan, a former film and television actor, is increasingly restive and uneasy.

He is starting soon on what is close to an open campaign bid for the presidency. Using that convenient euphemism, "reassess," to describe his attitude, Reagan is moving from noncandidate to a modest political strip tease.

NEXT MONTH he will speak in three states, accompanied for the first time by reporters in a chartered jet — four times in Florida, once each in Cleveland and Chicago. As of now, his associates say, he is not going into Oregon to campaign for the May 28 primary where his name is on the ballot. But his wealthy backers are putting a sizable chunk of money into the state, estimated at from $200,000 to $300,000, most of it for television

Here in the capital the image makers are sharpening a new look for Reagan. The key phrase is human relations. The governor is not a penny-pinching executive who cut mental health programs simply for the sake of economy. He wants to do things for people but do them through the route of local and individual initiative as against big government and the ogre of Federal intervention. He spoke of this theme the other day at a statewide conference on the prevention of juvenile delinquency, which his office had helped to bring about.

THE COURSE that a humanized Reagan must steer to the national convention in Miami Beach if he is to have chance for the prize is a narrow one. His appeal must be as in the past to right of center and possibly, if the image-making is effective, to middle-ground Republicans. The moderates, and particularly the eastern seaboard moderates, believe he would be poison at the head of the ticket. Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania predicts that Reagan would lose his state by a million votes.

The road on the right of center is, however, a bit crowded. Richard Nixon is appealing in one primary state after another to those who want to believe that the status quo is good enough with only the modest improvements a sensible Republican administration can put through. He is cast as every man's candidate, tempering the winds of change with comfortable platitudes about America's strength and virtues.

Reagans attacks on big government and the snafu of federal poverty programs are understated, phrased with irony and sarcasm. They go over big with the upper-middle-class, fund-raising audiences he addresses around the country.

BUT IN AN AGE of increasing extremism and violence they have a rather old-fashioned sound. He won his first public office two years ago at the age of 55. For eight years he had been the hired lecturer across the nation for General Electric, expounding the virtues of free enterprise. That is his ideology today. It sounds today too little and too late. Moreover, Nixon articulates it against the background of his long experience in presidential politics.

No one can deny Reagan's chief political claim — he is the party's star fund raiser, a vaudeville turn that packs them in on the whole circuit. This might well mean the reward of second place on the Republican ticket. Reagan has repeatedly said he is not interested in the vice presidency. But a draft by the convention would take him out of an office more and more burdensome and frustrating and with very little future.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Report On Mankind Asked As United Nations Function

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — As the major powers of the world flounder from crisis to crisis, a proposal is gathering steam in the U. S. and other key areas of the world to promote the United Nations as a forum for a state-of-mankind message.

The plan, originating at the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, Calif., calls for U. N. Secretary-General U Thant to deliver the unprecedented report over a worldwide satellite TV-radio hook-up.

Groups and individuals supporting the concept of world government, including the World Federalists and a number of liberal U. S. senators, are promoting the idea in connection with the international organization's Human Rights Year, now under way.

RESOLUTIONS are before the Senate foreign relations and House foreign affairs committees to have Congress direct President Johnson to call on U Thant to discuss the principal issues confronting mankind in these troubled times.

According to chief sponsors Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Rep. Fernand J. St. Germain, D-R.I., the main objective of this special message would be "to galvanize large numbers of people all over the world into taking steps to solve problems such as those posed by increased population, arms races, war, poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, and the need for conservation of natural resources."

PROXMIRE CREDITED Frank K. Kelly, vice president of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, as being originator of the idea.

With help from the Ford Foundation and the World Federalists, Kelly has been in contact with hundreds of officials of foreign governments and private groups overseas, whipping up support for U Thant or some other noted world figure to become the spokesman for mankind.

In one speech boosting the idea recently, Kelly stated:

"My startling proposition is that a world society has already come into being, although we are not fully aware of its growth and its effects on the future of every one of us.

"This is the first age in which the word 'mankind' has a universal vibration in the minds and souls of men. So I call for an annual report on the state of mankind — to be broadcast in color and beauty around the world."

In addition to a special report in 1968, Kelly suggested that a regular state-of-mind message be made once a year — perhaps on the last Sunday in January — and the U. N. secretary-general be given several hours of prime time on all broadcasting networks. The message would be translated into every language.

Cost Per Vote About Same For Winners, Losers In Tiburon

Tiburon's biggest vote-getter in the recent city council election paid as much per vote as did the third place runnerup.

Denis T. Rice filed expenses of $1890.78 for his 604 votes, which my rusty arithmetic computes as $1.47 a vote. For his 421 votes, Fred R. Mantegani filed expenses of $622.66, which also figures to $1.47 per vote. Anne L. Ellinwood totaled her expenses at $795.84 for 555 votes, or $1.43 a vote. Stephen H. Nash on Monday filed costs of $586.55 for 313 votes, or $1.87 a vote.

Fred C. Hannahs hasn't officially filed yet but said Monday his expenses totaled $178 for 299 votes, or 59 cents per vote.

In Belvedere, expenses zeroed out for the three incumbents who were elected without opposition.

FOLLOWING a writeup in the New York Times magazine section on Easter Sunday, the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society received four communications from the east and a total of $125 in donations toward its work in conserving wildflowers and history of the Tiburon Peninsula.

One letter was from a man in Providence, R. I., who said he was born in Sausalito and used to ring the bell in the old wooden tower at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon and serve at Mass. The church has since been converted into a museum by the society.

Other letters were from Huntington and Brooklyn, N.Y. The fourth communication was in person. One woman flew out from Scarsdale, N.Y., on the museum's opening day (April 21) and was pleased with the wildflowers and the museum, according to the society's executive director, Mrs. Carol Ericson.

AT LEAST TWO citizen committees have bloomed to aid people who will be displaced when Hilarita housing is torn down in 1972.

One committee, headed by Tiburon author Kenneth Lamott, is concerned that the plan being considered for 12 single-family lots and 55 moderate-income housing units will not help enough of the present residents, even with the aid of federally supported leased housing.

The committee has asked the Tiburon City Council to reduce the number of single-family lots to 10, to provide more space for moderate-income housing and to extend leased housing to the maximum number possible.

The other committee is one formed by residents of Hilarita, headed by Richard Mermin.

Mermin, in a letter to the council, describes residents there as mostly either elderly retired people or young families.

Many of the older people have lived in Hilarita for many years, Mermin reminds the council, while the younger ones work in Tiburon, in business, or providing gardening and household services.

"It would seem an unfortunate paradox if the city's wage earners could not afford to stay in town," Mermin commented.

He urged the council to consider low rent housing as "present proposals for moderate rentals seem unrealistic." Rent would start at $121 in the proposed plan.

ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — It was bound to happen. The students of Goodcheer University, after having attained all their goals, had nothing more to demonstrate about. They called a mass meeting on the quadrangle in front of the administration building.

"Students," yelled Hardin Helrazor, "we have run out of demands. The administration has given in to our every wish, and if we don't come up with something soon, we may have to go back to classes."

Loud booing.

"WHY CAN'T WE demand that boys and girls live in the same rooms?" a student shouted.

"They can, stupid," another student shouted. "We got that privilege when we locked up the football coach for three days in the shower room."

"Why don't we demand that no teacher can be hired without first going through a year of hazing at one of the fraternities?" another student said.

"Idiot, that was put through after we burned down the science building," Helrazor said.

"No, we got the coffee break after we kidnaped the dean of men."

"COME ON, students, don't just stand there with your tongues sticking out," Helrazor said. "There must be something we want that they haven't given us."

"What about parking space?" a coed cried. "We don't have enough parking space."

"We got them to tear down the medical school to give us more parking space," Helrazor said. "It would be hard to go back to them again with that one."

"Free love in the library," someone shouted.

"We're allowed to have free love in the library now."

"Yeh, but you have to show your student union card. If it's free, it should be free for nonstudents as well as students."

"Let's kidnap the dean of the law shcool, and let them come up with some ideas," a bearded youth yelled.

"Yeh," his companion shouted. "Why should we have to think up our demands all the time? The school has a responsibility to make some up for us."

Loud cheering

HELRAZOR SAID, "That's playing the administration's game. They'd love to think up student demands they could give in to. But what kind of demonstration is that? I say this time we have to go for broke. They've got to believe we mean business. Otherwise, they'll have us back in those classes studying all that garbage. Is that what we came to college for?"

Chorus: "No!"

"I've got it, I've got it. Let's hold a demonstration protesting the fact that the administration has given in to all our demands," a student said.

"They're patronizing us."

"They've taken our pride away from us."

Muttering from the crowd.

"We're sick and tired of living in a permissive society."

HELRAZOR TRIED to restore order. "It may work. We'll lock the dean of women in the drama department and won't let her out unless the university takes disciplinary action against us. We want our manhood back."

"If they give us an amnesty, we'll tear the faculty club apart."

AFTER THE DEAN of women was held for four days, the administration of Goodcheer University finally gave in and agreed to punish all the troublemakers in the school.

It was the demonstrators' finest hour. Goodcheer has been served notice that if, in the future, they refuse to discipline any student for an infraction, the student union will be burned to the ground.

Mill Valley School Meeting Changed

The next meeting of the Mill Valley School District board has been moved up to Monday from May 13 and will start at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Point School, 117 East Strawberry Circle.

The board will discuss teacher salaries, outdoor education, and may discuss salaries of non-teaching employees.

Iceland is the westernmost section of Europe.

San Rafael High Students Will Run School Monday

Students will take over the classes and administration of San Rafael High School Monday as the school participates in the second Student Teaching Day.

Organized by the Quintilians, a future teachers club, affiliated with the California Teachers Association and the National Education Association, Student Teaching Day "allows students who want to be teachers to find out what it's like on the other side of the desk," according to Dr. Alan Ellsberg, school principal.

Dr. Ellsberg siad the first Student Teaching Day held last fall was "very successful" with 65 students participating. He expects over 100 students to take part in the program on May 6, including two who will split the principal's job.

Students are selected for their teaching assignments by a committee of students and teachers with first preference given the Quintilians. They are not allowed to teach more than three class periods during the day and must have their lesson plan approved by the teacher before taking over the class.

The student teacher is also required to either be taking the course this semester or to have received a B grade in it in a past semester. Permission of the class teacher is also needed before the student teacher is assigned, Ellsberg said.

NOTICE OF COMMISSIGNER'S SALE
No. 48571

In the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Marin.

Notice is hereby given that by a judgment of foreclosure of mortgage in favor of plaintiffs herein and order of sale dated April 2, 1968, and entered on April 2, 1968 in Book 89 of Judgments at Page 216, the above-entitled Court has appointed me Commissioner to sell and ordered me to sell the real property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and more particularly described as set forth below.

Notice is also hereby given that on Thursday, May 2, 1968, at 10:00 a.m. on the steps of the County Courthouse, on 4th Street in San Rafael in the County of Marin, State of California, I will sell said property or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of sale, the amount of the judgment and costs and interest thereon to the date of sale to the highest bidder for cash in lawful money of the United States of America.

The property to be sold is as follows:

a. That certain real property situate in the City of Mill Valley, County of Marin, State of California, described as follows:

PARCEL ONE

LOT 3, in BLOCK C, "MAP OF LYON & HOAG'S SUBDIVISION OF THE SUNNYSIDE TRACT, MILL VALLEY", and filed February 29, 1904 in Book 1 of Maps, at page 132, Marin County Records.

BEING the same property mentioned and described in that certain deed dated May 23, 1910 from George F. Lyon to Joseph Palazzi and Rosa Palazzi and which said deed was recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Marin County, State of California, on May 24, 1910 in Volume 129 of Deeds, at page 53.

PARCEL TWO

COMMENCING at a point on the Westerly line of Laurel Avenue, distant thereon fifteen feet Southerly from the point of conjunction of said Westerly line of Laurel Avenue with the Northerly boundary line of Lot 2, in Block C, map hereinafter referred to; running thence Westerly and parallel with said Northerly boundary line of Lot No. 2, 83 feet, more or less, to the Northwesterly boundary line of said lot No. 2; thence Southwesterly along said Northwesterly boundary line of Lot No. 2, 48.51 feet, more or less, to the Southerly boundary line of said Lot No. 2; thence Easterly along said Southerly boundary line of Lot No. 2, 108 feet to said Westerly line of Laurel Avenue; thence Northerly along said Westerly line of Laurel Avenue, 40.10 feet to the point of commencement.

BEING a portion of said Lot 2, Block C, "Map of Lyon & Hoag's Subdivision of the Sunnyside Tract, Mill Valley", filed February 29, 1904 in Map Book 1 at page 132, Marin County Records.

PARCEL THREE

COMMENCING at the Southwest corner of Block 41 as shown in Tamalpais Land and Water Company's Map No. 1; thence North 18° 43' West along the Westerly line of Block 41, 136.4 feet, more or less, to the Southerly line of Sunnyside Avenue as said avenue is shown on Map of Sunnyside Tract filed in Book 1 of Maps at page 119; thence Easterly along said Southerly line 101.5 feet, more or less, to the center line of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio, the center line of which Arroyo is the patented line of the Sausalito Ranch; thence following the said center line of Arroyo and said patented line, in a general Southerly direction to the Southeasterly corner of said Block 41; thence South 72° West 30 feet more or less, to the point of beginning, as shown on map entitled, "TAMALPAIS LAND AND WATER COMPANY, MAP NO. 1", excepting the reference herein to Sunnyside Tract. Said Tract is also shown on the hereinbefore mentioned "MAP OF SUNNYSIDE TRACT", as an unnumbered lot lying South of and adjacent to Sunnyside Avenue and West of and meandered by the said Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio. Being the same property in Deed recorded in Volume 101 of Deeds at page 100.

PARCEL FOUR

BEGINNING at the most Southerly corner of the property described in the deed from Corinda Biggio to Marion Jean Gomez dated February 9, 1951, recorded February 13, 1951 in Volume 673 of Official Records at page 410; running thence North 72° 27' East 30 feet to the center line of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio; thence following the said center line of said Arroyo South 28° 30' East 34.0 feet, and South 73° 33' East 48.0 feet; thence leaving said line South 39° 11' 17" West 69.50 feet to a point on the Easterly line of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad; thence along the last mentioned line on an arc of a curve to the right with a radius of 309.95 feet, a distance of 100.44 feet to the point of beginning.

b. That certain real property situate in the County of Marin, City of Mill Valley, State of California, described as follows:

DEADLY GAME OF HIDE-AND-SEEK IN VIETNAM SWAMP

New Headmaster At Girls' School

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Katherine Burke School for Girls, a 60-year-old private organization, is going to have its first headmaster.

The headmaster, who arrived yesterday, is Nickels Wright Houston, 42, a former Marine who succeeds Oliver Balcom who is retiring after 46 years at the school.

He comes to Miss Burke's from the Barstow School in Kansas City.

Two Bikes Reported Missing In Belvedere

Two bicycles were reported missing in Belvedere yesterday. William L. Weismann of 332 Golden Gate Avenue, said he discovered a blue bicycle missing from his residence at 11:30 a.m.

At 4:10 p.m., William McIlroy of 260 Bayview Avenue, said his stingray bicycle was taken from the garage between 2 and 5 p.m. Monday.

Hearing Set On Cable TV Service

A public hearing will be held at 2 p.m. May 14 at the Civic Center to see whether cable television companies which have franchises in Marin are doing an adequate job, and if not, why not.

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday set the hearing after receiving complaints from Strawberry Recreation District that cable television service has been at a standstill in the area for 14 months.

"We ask this board to take steps now to see that the area is served with a community TV aerial," said attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann, representing the recreation district. "The overall reception in our area is very poor."

Kaufmann said one company (Cable Television of Marin) has a franchise and an agreement with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for use of the poles, and another (Clear View Cable Systems) has a franchise but no right to use the poles. The franchises have been in effect for 14 months but there has been no action, said Kaufmann.

Joseph E. Sheeks, attorney for both Clear View and Tele-Vue System Inc., charged that Cable TV controls the use of PT&T poles, but has not been extending its services. The other two companies cannot provide more service because they must lay underground cables since Cable-TV controls the poles.

"If we cancel the franchise with Cable, can the phone company cancel the pole agreement?" asked Supervisor John F. McInnis. If the franchise is canceled, the pole agreement would be null and void, replied John D. LaNoue, representing the telephone company.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen said the problem affects various communities in Marin, not just Strawberry, and the overall picture will be taken up at the May 14 hearing.

Guilty Plea To Drunken Driving

Phillip Lloyd Mickley, 34, of Hamilton Air Force Base, pleaded guilt in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to drunken driving April 13 on Highway 101.

Judge Peter Allen Smith placed him on a year of probation and fined him $202.

William Leonard Gray, 44, of San Francisco, was fined $174 and placed on a year of probation for the same offense April 23 on Highway 101.

Kindergarten Signups Tomorrow In Novato

Kindergarten registration for next school year will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. tomorrow at all elementary schools in the Novato Unified School District.

Children should be four years and nine months old by next Sept. 1, to be eligible. Proof of birth should be taken to the nearest school when the child is registered.

Poor, Unskilled Job Drive Wins Support

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday enthusiastically endorsed a nationwide program by business and industry to provide jobs for the poor and unskilled.

E. A. Petterle, personnel manager for the North Bay Division of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., reported that he had been named to represent President Johnson's National Alliance of Businessmen's Program in Marin.

"My immediate job is to contact about 400 businesses and ask for pledges for jobs," said Petterle. He said the nationwide program is aimed at finding jobs for heads of households who have little or no skills, who have been out of work for a year or more, those on welfare, and the school dropouts.

"On behalf of the board, I am encouraged to know that people of your stature are helping out, said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "You can call on us for help at any time."

On a motion by Supervisor Peter H. Behr, the supervisors asked the county counsel to draw up a resolution endorsing the National Alliance of Businessmen's Program.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

USO FUND — Referred to the County Administrator for study a request for a $3,800 contribution to help support the Bay Area USO Inc. Lex J. Byers, representing USO, said he will ask all Bay Area counties to help make up a deficit in the USO operating budget. The supervisors decided the matter should be studied by the county administrator and taken up at budget time.

BON AIR ROAD — Approved an agreement with the Marin General Hospital District to realign Bon Air Road to give more space to the hospital. The road between the two entrances to the hospital will swing away from the hospital into the lands of the catholic Archdiocese. The hospital district bought five and one-half acres from the Archdiocese for the realignment.

CAPE COD KNOLL — Approved a tentative map for a 10-lot subdivision for developer John Ribeiro of Larkspur at the corner of Molino and Edgewood Avenues, Tamalpais Valley. Among conditions attached is the requirement that the excavated edges of the knoll be planted to prevent erosion.

MANZANITA SCHOOL — Approved an outlay of up to $7,000 for electrical, structural and architectural remodeling of Manzanita School in Marin City, which is used as the county-operated Pre-School Program and Child Care Center.

UNDERGROUNDING — Approved a new ordinance for undergrounding of overhead utility lines, to conform with a new rule by the State Public Utilities Commission whereby each utility company earmarks undergrounding funds for each local agency. The county's present ordinance covers undergrounding when roads are relocated or reconstructed but does not conform with the new PUC ruling.

LAND ACQUISITION — Agreed to purchase for $85,000 18 acres of land owned by Anthony Carrozzi south of Muir Woods National Monument, for use as public park. Approval to pay half the cost still must come from federal government.

KETTENHOFFEN RESOLUTION — Adopted resolution by Kettenhoffen reassessing and rededicating the board to insure equal justice, opportunity and peace.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE — Approved two cases for general relief, one for special tuition.

FLOOD CONTROL — Approved resolution providing specific assurances of local action on Corte Madera project, Unit 2; approved agreement with Corte Madera Sanitary District on relocation of Corte Madera Creek sewer lines; approved purchase of Parcels 27 and 119, Corte Madera Creek property.

FUND TRANSFERS — Approved funds transfers previously voted.

UNDERGROUND UTILITIES — Set May 28 at 3 p.m. for public hearing on undergrounding of utilities on South San Pedro Road.

ELECTIONS — Approved resolutions ordering the county clerk to canvass returns of June 4 primary, appointing certain election boards, providing polling places and naming election officials for primary.

COVENANTS — Approved declaration of covenants and restrictions for Oceana Marin at Dillon's Beach.

TAX REFUNDS — Approved recommended tax refunds.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — Approved acquisition of property from Louis and Maria Giomi for widening of North San Pedro Road and also approved acquisition of property from Robert R. and Alyce J. Fuller for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Mayor Fails To Announce Novato Job Decisions

At the end of the closed meeting of the Novato City Council last night, Mayor Harley McAskill forgot to make one appointment and announce the rejection of another, according to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack was appointed to the underground utilities committee, it was agreed in the closed meeting but not announced later, Baget said.

Baget wanted to promote Warren Baker, assistant planning director to head of the planning department, but Baker refused the appointment, prefering to stay in the second position, Baget said. Department heads in Novato are appointed by the city manager and ratified by the council.

Sausalito City Clerk Injured

Sausalito City Clerk Miriam Ansell was injured Monday evening in a head-on collision on a narrow hillside street in Sausalito.

Mrs. Ansell's car collided at 7:55 p.m. at Prospect and Spencer avenues with a car driven by Robert R. Dinelli of 99 Cloudview Road, Sausalito.

She reportedly suffered minor cuts and bruises and was to see her own doctor. Police cited Mrs. Ansell, of 614 Locust Street, for driving over the center line.

Marinite Wins Venue Change In Bribe Case

Venue for the trial of David Green, a Greenbrae contractor charged with trying to bribe three Tehama County supervisors, has been changed from Tehama County to Sacramento County.

Defense attorney William O. Weissich of San Rafael successfully filed for a change of venue and Green, 55, of 70 Corte Dorado, is scheduled to appear in Sacramento County Superior Court tomorrow for setting of the trial date.

Weissich said today reasons for the change were pre-trial publicity in a Tehama County newspaper and the fact the three supervisors, involved in the alleged bribe attempt, are empowered to select jurors and are known personally to 300 of the 390 jurors in the county.

The change of venue was granted by Plumas County Superior Court Judge Bertram D. Janes who took over the case after Weissich successfully filed for disqualification of Superior Court Judge Curtiss E. Wetter on the grounds he knew of the alleged offense before charges were brought.

Green has pleaded innocent to trying to bribe the supervisors to vote for a vacation housing development.

San Quentin Prisoner Walks Away

A 28-year-old San Quentin inmate walked away from the outside dormitory of the prison last night and is still being sought by county law enforcement officers.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Willard Avery, a parolee who had been returned for treatment at the prison's Narcotics Treatment Clinic, was found missing at the 10:15 p.m. bedcheck. The dormitory is located outside the prison walls.

Avery, a Negro, was described as six feet tall, 160 pounds, with a slender build, black hair, brown eyes and no unusual marks or scars. He is presumed to be wearing a prison blue shirt and blue denims.

Avery, returned to the treatment clinic on March 11 for a 90-day maximum sentence, was due to be released from the prison in early June. Park said the escape was probable grounds for revocation of parole which would mean Avery could be returned to prison for an indefinite sentence.

This was the first escape from the narcotics clinic, Park said.

No Exchange On Racism With Brooke

WEST LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UPI)—A white liberal arts student who plans to marry the daughter of Negro Sen. Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., said yesterday he has never discussed the race issue with his future father-in-law because "we are not affected by it."

Donald Hasler, 18, made the disclosure at a news conference at Monmouth College, where he is a freshman. He and Remi Brooke, 19, have set June 22 as the wedding date. The ceremony will be at the Brooke family estate, Marjorie Morningstar, in Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

"The family is really great". Hasler said of his prospective in-laws. "I especially like her mother's cooking. It tastes even better than ever after a week of cafeteria food."

He had high praise for the senator.

"He's a capable, intelligent man and a swell person to know. I am extremely impressed by his knowledge of so many subjects. He is also a great family man."

Collision Hurts Motorcyclist

John D. Uberuaga 25, was treated for cut knees and multiple scrapes at Marin General Hospital and transferred to San Francisco General Hospital.

His westbound motorcycle drifted over the white line on a curve of San Pedro Road, east of Sunny Oaks Drive, and hit the left side of an eastbound car driven by Grace P. Quan, 67, owner of the China Camp resort, at 4:30 p.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Auto Collision

Curtis Robert Royston, 17, of 18 Laverne Avenue, Homestead Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for cuts and bruises after his motorcycle and a car collided in Mill Valley.

Police said Royston made a right turn onto Reed Street from Miller Avenue, took the turn too wide and hit an oncoming car driven by Kenneth T. Packer, 47, of 207 Evergreen Avenue, Mill Valley.

Heart Transplant Rejection Still Long Way From Defeated

VAN DELLEN

Many physicians agree that heart transplants are exciting, brilliant feats, even though these are experimental procedures. The technic has been worked out but we have a long way to go to combat the rejection process.

The rejection phenomenon is no mystery but many people cannot understand why heart transplants are not so successful.

First, it is easier to find a compatible donor. Those needing a new organ are kept alive indefinitely with an artificial kidney while the search for the right donor goes on. At best, the heart-lung machine can sustain life for only 4 to 6 hours. Time is of utmost importance.

THE TRANSPLANTED kidney will continue to function for more than a year in 73 per cent. There are a few individuals in whom the kidney has been functioning for up to seven years. This explains why 1,200 men and women are walking about with a new kidney.

When the organ is rejected, the individual goes back to his artificial kidney and starts over. Under similar circumstances, the heart recipient dies.

It is possible to type the donor's and recipient's tissue by matching the red and white blood cells. We know that the white cells in the donated kidney or heart contain substances (antigens) that sensitize the recipient of the implanted organ.

This leads to rejection which can be diminished with certain drugs. But these substances also lower the body's resistance. In other words, those who do not die of rejection, succumb to infection.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN dentist who received a heart was kept in surroundings more antiseptic than those found in an operating room. He is home and at this writing is doing well.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HEREDITY AND INSANITY

D. W. writes: If there is a history of insanity in the family, does it show up in every generation?

REPLY

No. The relationship between insanity and heredity is not so close as once believed. Millions of sons and daughters of emotionally distrubed parents have suffered unnecessarily because they feared that they were doomed to insanity. Idiocy and other forms of retardation are more likely to be congenital.

PREGNANCY RISKS

A reader writes: I am 48 years old and still menstruating. If I do not take precautions, is there any danger of becoming pregnant? My husband thinks I have passed this stage, but I am not so sure.

REPLY

The possibility of pregnancy exists as long as menstruation continues. A woman in her late forties is not so fertile as she was when 20 years younger, but don't rely too heavily on this to avoid pregnancy.

INHERITED ASTHMA

A reader writes: My husbnad is a victim of bronchial asthma. Will this condition be passed on to our child?

REPLY

Possibly. The allergic tendency, but not necessarily the specific manifestation, is inherited. In other words, your child may have hay fever or hives and not bronchial asthma.

NERVOUS IN CLASS

E. L writes: When I read aloud in class, my voice trembles. This also happens to other students. What causes this? I would also like to know how I might overcome this problem.

REPLY

Nervousness is the cause. The cure is developing selfconfidence. You might try reading to someone at home.

SOAP AND SKIN

REPLY

Soap may have a drying effect on skin that already is dry but it will not harm normal skin.

SITS LIKE TAILOR

A reader writes: My 12-year-old grandson sits with his legs tucked under, like a tailor. Will this posture cause hime to be bowlegged when he grows up?

REPLY

No. Bowleggedness is common in cowboys but not in tailors. Your grandson might get bunions from sitting this way, but not bowing of the legs, even though he is watching Marshal Dillon on TV.

CATARACT SURGERY

F. B. writes: After cataract surgery, do you have to lie flat on your back without moving for three weeks?

REPLY

No. In the past this way considered necessary to avoid hemorrhage and other complications. With improved surgical technics, the patient is able to sit in a chair a day or two after the operation.

THE SECOND TEST

A reader writes: Is it true that a person must wait six to eight months to take a second radioisotope test?

REPLY

No; the test can be repeated within a few days or a week, if necessary.

NERVES FROM SMOKING

A reader writes: Do cigarettes cause butterflies in the stomach? I never had this sensation until I started to smoke.

REPLY

Yes, this sensation is a nervous phenomenon that has many origins, including the stimulation from nicotine.

TEEN NEEDS MILK

Mary writes: I am 13 years old and drink a half gallon of milk daily. My friends tell me this will cause hardening of the arteries. Please advise.

REPLY

Teen-agers need milk and can handle those few ingredients in whole milk that are said to raise the blood cholesterol level later in life. Skim milk is fat-free and is better for older persons and those who are obese.

WEATHER AND HEART

A. P. writes: My angina pectoris always kicks up before weather changes bring rain or snow. Is this unusual?

REPLY

No. Weather has as much influence on the heart as on the joints, and corns or calluses. Changes in barometric pressure are said to be responsible.

PREGNANCY WITH ONE OVARY

REPLY

Yes, provided she is not going through the menopause and her reproductive organs are otherwise normal.

PAIN IN SHOULDER

P. K. writes: Could pain under the shoulder blades be due to a gas pocket?

REPLY

Yes, because pressure on the diaphragm is felt in the shoulder area.

Disease Report

There were 42 cases of gonorrhea, 30 strep infections, eight cases of mumps, two syphillis, one tuberculosis and two infectious hepatitis reported in Marin County the week ending April 27, according to county health officer Carolyn Albrecht.

College Board To Consider Resignations

Action on the resignations of two board members and the district superintendent-president is scheduled for the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Marin Junior College District board at the College of Marin physical education building.

Resigning are William K. Ramstad, superintendent-president; Elizabeth M. Deedy, board president, and Theodore C. Wellman, vice president.

The board also is scheduled to consider adoption of a policy requiring animals on the campus to be kept on leashes, and resignations of three teachers.

Budget Study Set

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District will review its preliminary budget tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Strawberry Point School.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — "Hallelujah, Leslie" is a one-hour musical show starring Leslie Uggams in her first special. Joining her are Robert Morse, Noel Harrison and The Rascals.

KTVU (2), 9 p.m. — "Wednesday Showcase" presents "Hollywood, the Fabulous Era." Henry Fonda narrates this colorful salute to Hollywood's years of flamboyant glamour and exciting stars.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m. — Eddy Arnold is host to singer Margaret Whiting, comedian John Byner, magician Mark Wilson, the Montfort Mission and special guests, the Everly Brothers, on "The Kraft Music Hall."

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 9:30 p.m. — "Wednesday Night at the Movies" presents "Paths of Glory," a motion picture about the senseless punishment of three French soldiers during World War I, starring Kirk Douglas and Ralph Meeker.

KQED (9), 10 p.m. — "NET Festival" offers an objective view of Chopin's life. Included are examinations of his early family life in Poland, his concert career, his music and the romantic legends about him. Hungarian pianist Tamas Vasary performs some of Chopin's works.

"CBS presents this day in color!"

This could be your lucky break.

Now, if your windshield needs replacing you can get the safer L-O-F windshield. It "gives" on impact to cushion shock—tends to bulge instead of break. We have it for replacement for all U.S. cars back through 1960.

Betty Furness Urged Need Of Fish Inspection

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Betty Furness, the President's special assistant for consumer affairs, told members of the fish industry yesterday fish inspection laws would boost consumption of their product.

Speaking before the 23rd annual convention of the National Fisheries Institute she noted Americans now eat 11 pounds of fish a year as compared with 165 pounds of meat.

"I know you would like to see these figures grow," she said. "I would, too. I also know that the bill now before Congress is not going to be a panacea for all the problems of the fish business, but it will help."

"It will create conditions encourage our consumers to eat more fish. It will eliminate a lot of the unsavory competition that hurts the reputable producers and the whole business."

Inverness Theft

Thomas L. Drew of Rannoch Way, Inverness, complained to sheriff's deputies Sunday that someone stole two paintings, six kerosene lamps, a Civil War-Vintage saber and a bronze door handle molded in the shape of a dragon from his home Saturday.

Marijuana Case To Juvenile Authorities

James Douglas Steele, 18, of Novato, was referred to juvenile probation from Marin Municipal Court yesterday for possible certification to juvenile court on a charge that he possessed marijuana in San Rafael Thursday.

Steele, who allegedly had two packets of the weed when searched in the Northgate Shopping Center, was ordered to return to court May 14.

Two Mirrors Now

The California Highway Patrol today reminded Marin motorists they must have two rearview mirrors on their automobiles. The law requiring the two mirrors, including one on the outside left hand side of the car, became effective Jan. 1.

Three-Way Tie In Prep Baseball

After a day of superlative performances, the Marin County Athletic League baseball race is still fouled up.

Although all three front-runners — Redwood, Terra Linda and Novato — looked good in winning over second-division clubs, all had to settle for a share of the lead at 6-1. The logjam will be eased a bit on Friday, when Novato faces Redwood.

Novato and Redwood were the loudest clubs yesterday, each whacking out 14 hits, as Novato blanked Marin Catholic 12-0 behind the tough pitching of Russ Dillon, and Redwood clouted Drake 11-4 with heavy hitting and fine relief pitching by ace Mike Terry. Terra Linda mixed good hitting with the continued great pitching of Mike Timmel and some flashy baserunning to down Tamalpais 6-3.

Dillon held Marin Catholic to two harmless singles while walking two and striking out 10. Mark Newsome and Barry Berringer each had two hits to lead the Hornets' usual potent attack, aided by Tom Thomas' home run and Dillon's enlightened self-interest (two-for-three, including three RBI's).

Terra Linda's baserunners, who'll steal anytime the opposing battery isn't looking (and sometimes when they are) made eight thefts yesterday in aid of Timmel's four-hit, 11-strikeout pitching, which gives him a 6-0 record and all the Trojans' MCAL wins. Mark Buckley had a homer, double and stolen base on the day, while the Trono brothers collaborated for five steals between them, Gary pilfering three and Steve two.

Bob Torrey and Ken Johnson led Redwood's assault on Drake pitching, as Torrey lined five straight singles and Johnson smashed a three-run homer. Oddly, of six extra-base hits in the game, five were triples. After starter and winner Jim Peters and reliever Roger Smith had some difficulty in containing Drake. Terry came in and pitch-

CHAMBERLAIN GIVES 76ERS ULTIMATUM

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain says he won't play for the Philadelphia 76ers next season if Frank McGuire or someone comparable doesn't get the National Basketball Association club's vacant coaching job.

Does Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 superstar want to be a player-coach?

"Rather than have some stumblebum on the bench," Chamberlain told basketball writer George Kiseda of the Philadelphia Bulletin, last night, "I would consider coaching. I think no one knows player Wilt better than Wilt."

Giants, A's In Winner's Circle

S.F. To Open Series With Cincinnati Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The "new look" Giants, who open a two-game seriess with Cincinnati tonight, are secretly hoping the Reds had no scouts at Candlestick Park yesterday.

McCormick, the 1967 National League Cy Young award winner, probably hopes the Giants' attack will again feature the new-found speed which figured in a 7-0 victory over the Braves yesterday.

FOUR THEFTS

For a team which stole only 22 bases last season, the lowest total in the league, the Giants stole four bases on Atlanta—all resulting in runs off Ken Johnson and reliever Clay Carroll.

Manager Herman Franks wouldn't say whether more running baseball could be expected from his second-place club. "When you have fast guys in there, you run," he offered.

0.25 ERA

Sadecki had to work hard for the win. He stranded nine runners the first six innings and was aided by inning-ending double plays in the eighth and ninth.

Sadecki has won nine of his last 10.

Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch, stole second and scored on Willie McCovey's single in the first inning.

DOUBLE STEAL

Marshall and McCovey singled and staged a successful double steal in the sixth. Both scored on Jim Davenport's single.

Marshall singled, and scored on Willie Mays' hit off Carroll in the seventh. McCovey's walk and Jim Hart's single made it 5-0.

Tamalpais Captures Swim Title

Winning the biggest meet of the season the same way it had won the "big ones" all season — close and tough — the Tamalpais High swim team took the undisputed 1968 Marin County Athletic League championship with a 54-41 victory over second-place San Rafael.

In the other meets, Redwood routed Drake 62-33 and Novato downed winless Terra Linda 58-37.

Coach Norm Cady's unbeaten Indians, who had to beat San Rafael in the Bulldog's pool to avoid a title tie, came through where it counted, as Chris Averill set a Tam record in the 50 freestyle (23.3) and the freestyle relay team broke the old school mark by five seconds (3:30.1).

Bob Girvin of Drake broke a record set by his brother George in winning the 100 fly in 54.3. George's old Drake mark had been 54.6. In the same meet, Bruce Lederman of Redwood won the diving competition to remain undefeated on the year.

In Class B competition, Terra Linda won the championship

Athletics Drop Tigers; To Face Indians Next

CLEVELAND (AP) — Johnny Odom will go to the mound for the Oakland Athletics against Cleveland tonight, and he hopes he can pick up where Paul Lindblad left off.

Lindblad pitched four and one-third innings of perfect relief as the A's stalled the Tigers' first-place drive 3-1 last night.

BEST SHOWING

The southpaw flinger said it was his best showing this year, and no one was more surprised than he was.

"I was just trying to keep the ball in the park," he said. "You get an inferiority complex about this place." Tiger Stadium is known for its close-in fences.

Lindblad shrugged off a brilliant fielding play he made. Dick McAuliffe's grounder bounced off Ramon Webster's glove into Lindblad's hands as he raced over to cover the bag.

"JUST GRAB IT"

"I saw he booted it and just grabbed the ball," he said. "I figured McAuliffe was right behind me and would have to run over me to reach the bag.

Oakland Manager Bob Kennedy said Lindblad had been pitching well all spring and "this relief job may have been his best."

The batting star of the game was Ramon Webster whose three-run homer, as it turned out, settled the issue in the first inning.

Webster struck his blow behind Bert Campaneris, who had walked, and Sal Bando, who singled.

RUN IN SECOND

The Tigers picked up their run in the second on a run-scoring double by Dick McAuliffe.

He went into the game after reliever Ed Sprague had allowed three straight singles.

Sprague had hurried to the mound after Oakland started Jim Nash caught his spikes on the rubber and pulled a hamstring muscle while pitching to Ray Oyler in the fourth.

Top-Flight Swim Meet In Novato This Weekend

SPLASH — Anyone who thinks this weekend's Marin Invitational Swim Meet at Novato High will feature a bunch of little kids carelessly splashing up a storm has another thought coming. So thimk, man, thimk.

This is an "A" meet, sanctioned by the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, which means the competitors must measure up to some pretty fast qualifications. No dog-paddlers allowed.

For the fifth consecutive year this meet has attracted the cream of the western Age-Group crop. Upward of 450 boys and girls, ranging in ages from 8 to 17 years of age, will represent some 47 swim clubs. Of course Marin will be well represented by the stars of the Hamilton Voodoos, Novato Aquanauts, San Rafael and Tamalpais swim clubs and the Marin Swim Club, which is co-sponsoring the event with the Independent-Journal and the Novato Recreation Department.

To give you an indication of quality of this meet, in four years it has produced six national records that still stand plus a flock of PAAAU and pool marks too numerous to mention.

Some Stars Of Past Meets

Some of the previous participants who since have achieved world wide fame through international competition are Mark Spitz, Debbie Meyers, Pokey Watson, Ray Rivero, Evelyn Kossner and Tom Belfanti.

Last year local fans had special cheers when one of the four national records that fell belonged to the Marin S.C.'s Robin Bachrach in the girls' age 11-12 100-meter butterfly. Also, the San Rafael Swim Club accounted for two Pacific Association relay records featuring Jo Hislop, Kim Knudsen, Cookie Arrighi, Lucy Suttles and Katie Parnow.

Among the top Southern California entrants this weekend are Nino Duccini, 12, of Sherman Oaks, and Jeff White, 14, of North Hollywood, both holders of numerous national records. Young White will be making his second splash in Marin. Back in 1964 he cracked two national marks in this meet.

Like Cecil B. DeMille Production

To produce a meet of this caliber takes a quality staff of officials and this one has an outstanding crew, headed by co-directors Mary Lou Shistar and Carney Campion. Swimming meets require staffs that resemble a Cecil B. DeMille production and Mrs. Shistar and Campion have 45 adults listed under their command plus many more who help out in various capacities.

I think you'll enjoy their production this Saturday and Sunday. You can't beat the price: 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Also, if you'd like to see a couple of members of the Swimming Hall of Fame, Mrs. Beth Kaufman of Greenbrae and Ann Curtis Cuneo will be there. Mrs. Kaufman is credited with originating the Age-Group program and Mrs. Cuneo, a coach of the Marin S.C. team, dominated women's swimming at the international level in the 1940s.

Houston Gets Some Revenge

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

With nowhere to go but up, Larry Dierker and the Houston Astros went for double or nothing . . . and made a twin killing.

The Astros, rebounding from a chaotic 17-2 loss to Cincinnati that deposited them in the National League cellar, backed Dierker's two-hit pitching with five double plays last night and blanked the Reds 3-0.

It was only the second victory for the Astros in their last 11 games and the first triumph for Dierker after three straight setbacks during which he was given a total of three runs' support.

In other N.L. night games St. Louis held off Los Angeles 2-1 and Pittsburgh overtook the Chicago Cubs 4-3. The New York Mets edged Philadelphia 1-0 and San Francisco trimmed Atlanta 7-0 in afternoon action.

Dierker, a 21-year-old fireballer whose fortunes had sagged after an opening day victory over Pittsburgh, limited the hard-hitting Reds to a pair of singles. He struck out seven and issued three walks, but the Houston infield turned over double plays in the second, third, fourth, sixth and seventh innings for a single game club record.

The Astros broke up a scoreless duel between Dierker and Cincinnati southpaw Gerry Arrigo in the eighth, tallying all their runs on Ron Davis' double and singles by John Bateman.

Quarry's Rib Not Broken

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heavyweight fighter Jerry Quarry is recuperating, but not from a broken rib as first feared.

Quarry, beaten by Jimmy Ellis in the World Boxing Association's heavyweight title fight last Saturday, learned in an examination yesterday that no ribs were broken. Quarry suffered bruises to ribs previously injured in a fall.

Ellis slammed a hard right into Jerry's ribs in the third round of Saturday's championship bout. After the fight Quarry's mother said the blow broke a rib.

Friends of Quarry disclosed that recently Quarry had fallen against a juke box and bruised his ribs, the same ones Ellis used as a target.

Celts Take Advantage In Pro Cage Showdown

BOSTON (UPI)—Don Nelson and Mel Counts, a couple of players who switched jerseys in the middle of their pro careers, are both having the last laugh on their former owners. But Nelson is laughing louder at the moment.

Ex-Laker Nelson and the rest of the Boston Celtics will be trying to wrap up their 10th National Basketball Association playoff championship in 12 years tomorrow night when the Eastern Division champions invade Los Angeles for game six of their title showdown.

At the same time, former Bill Russell understudy Counts will apparently have to carry the heaviest load of his budding NBA career if the Lakers are to force the series to a conclusive seventh game on Sunday at Boston.

The Celtics regained the one-game edge they have held twice before in th playoff finals with a 120-117 ovrtime victory last night.

Nelson, acquired by the Celtics three years ago for $1,000 when he was released by the Lakers, and ex-Celtic Counts played the key roles in the fifth game of the series.

Nelson finished with a career high of 26 points and added 12 rebounds. Counts tallied 20 points for the Lakers but an even dozen of them came in the fourth quarter as Los Angeles stormed back from deficits of up to 19 points to tie on Jerry West's breakaway layup with 12 seconds remaining.

West, who led all scorers in the game with 35 points despite a painful ankle injury, got his last four in the five-minute extra period. But Boston point leader John Havlicek (31) and Nelson collected four points each in the overtime session to settle the issue.

The score was tied at 115-all with 69 seconds remaining when Nelson popped in a rebound layup. West scored on a ten-foot jump shot to tie the score with 65 seconds left but Havlicek put Boston on top to stay with a 15-foot jump shot from the right side.

Angel Skipper Says Watch Out, Siebert

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

American League hitters are ahead of the pitchers, particularly when the pitchers are doing the hitting. And the California Angel hurlers may do some hitting of their own the next time Cleveland pitcher Sonny Siebert steps to the plate against them.

Minnesota's Dave Boswell, California's George Brunet, Baltimore's Bruce Howard and Chicago's Gary Peters all came through with big hits yesterday but only the first two managed to pick up victories for their pitching.

And Siebert may have started a beanball war by allegedly brushing back California's Don Mincher three times in Cleveland's 5-3 loss to the Angels. Siebert also yielded two singles to opposing hurler Brunet, who scored both times.

Boswell drove in two runs with a homer and double but needed relief help as Minnesota edged Boston 7-6. Howard knocked in a run with a double but had to leave in the third inning after walking six batters as Baltimore outlasted New York 6-5.

Peters doubled to start a three-run seventh-inning uprising as Chicago took a 4-1 lead over Washington. But the Senators tied it in the eighth on Ken McMullen's two-run homer and won out 5-4 on McMullen's second homer of the game in the 12th.

Oakland's Paul Lindblad put an end to the nonsense with 4 1-3 innings of perfect relief as the A's whipped Detroit 3-1 on Ramon Webster's three-run first-inning homer.

California Manager Bill Rigney was seething about the Siebert-Mincher episode.

"Tell Siebert we owe him one," he snorted. "He's going down the first time we see him again. He leaned my big guy (Mincher) back three times. That's the guy who took one on the chin from Sam McDowell the last time we were here."

The Angels, trailing 2-1, scored the tying and lead runs in the sixth inning on Jimmie Hall's double and consecutive

Santa Rosa Turns Back Marin Nine

The College of Marin baseball squad fell a full game behind archrival Santa Rosa J.C. in the Western Division of the Golden Valley Conference by losing a 4-1 verdict to the Bear Cubs in Santa Rosa yesterday.

The Tars must now beat the Santa Rosans Friday in Kentfield to force a playoff for the division title Marin is now 7-4 to SRJC's 8-3. Two of those losses were to Marin.

A walk, two singles, and a fielder's choice in the first off War starter Ed Beckley gave Santa Rosa ace Tom Shepherd (now 5-0 in the GVC) all the runs he needed.

The Mariners picked up a run in the second as Ron LaRuffa tripled, and Jay Capell sent him home with a groundout. But from then until the eighth, when pinchhitter Phil Tobler singled, the Tars were unable to hit Shepherd. Marin got two men on and had the typing run at the plate in the ninth, but Shepherd worked his way out of the jam.

Hunt More Valuable As Leadoff Or No. 2

Herman Franks isn't quite sure whether Ron Hunt is more valuable as a leadoff man or batting in the No. 2 hit-run position. This spring the manager of the Giants put Hunt in the leadoff role and he was sharply criticized for it.

"Hunt is a hit-run man who should be batting No. 2," a critic told Franks, who acknowledged that Hunt was a pretty good hit-run man.

"But," said the manager, "he also is a valuable fellow in the No. 1 position. He takes a lot of pitches. He makes a pitcher work. And he gets on base. He'll hit his way on, get hit by a pitch or get a base on balls."

FOR THE first nine games this season Hunt was in the leadoff spot and he was on base 13 times. He missed games No. 10 and 11 with a split finger on his throwing hand. When he returned to the lineup in game No. 12, Franks dropped him into the No. 2 batting position and put Jay Alou in the leadoff spot. Jim Davenport, who had been batting No. 2, was dropped to No. 6.

Well, that lineup shuffle made Franks look like a genius in game No. 12 which was played in Philadelphia April 23 and won by Davenport with a grand slam home run. Franks modestly allowed that he was a brainy manager to have Davenport come to bat with the bases jammed, something not likely to happen with Davenport batting No. 2.

"DAVENPORT ALWAYS hits well with men on base," said Franks. "And I know it looked like brilliant strategy to drop him into the No. 6 slot when I did. Yes, I'm forced to admit it was brilliant. But honestly compels me to admit also that I wanted to see what Hunt could do in the No. 2 slot."

In his first 18 plate appearances in the No. 2 batting position. Hunt reached base 10 times on hits, walks and being hit. Two of his hits advanced Alou from first to third on hit-run plays. Another of his hits scored Hal Lanier from second base.

HUNT'S ON-BASE record for the first three weeks of the season is remarkable. In 48 official times at bat, he reached base 23 times. He hit his way on 13 times, got hit by a pitch four times and drew six bases on balls.

"He's a fine leadoff man," said Franks, "and he also is a fine man in the No. 2 slot. Alou has been doing a smart job in the leadoff role. How many times has Alou been aboard since he began batting No. 1? Seven, I think. Seven in his first 18 times at bat in the No. 1 position. That's the report I get from our statistician."

EVEN HORACE STONEHAM isn't quite sure whether Hunt is more valuable in the leadoff role or batting No. 2. During spring training the owner of the ball club felt Hunt was the best leadoff man the Giants have had since Eddie Stanky.

"Hunt is a fighter and scrapper who gets on base anyway he can," said Stoneham. "He reminds me of Stanky in that respect."

Now, after watching Hunt operate as a hit-run man in the No. 2 position, Stoneham says:

"He's a fighter and scrapper wherever you put him in the lineup."

Denis Menke, Jim Wynn and Doug Rader.

Ray Washburn stopped the Dodgers with ninth inning relief help from Joe Hoerner and ran his pitching mark to 3-0 as the Cardinals won for the seventh time in their last eight starts.

St. Louis scored its first run on a three-base error by left fielder Jim Fairey in the third inning and added what proved to be the winner in the sixth on Curt Flood's infield hit, a wild pitch by loser Bill Singer and Mike Shannon's bad-hop single past second baseman Paul Popovich.

The Dodgers ruined Washburn's shutout bid in the eighth, when Fairey tripled and scored on an infield single by Popovich.

Pittsburgh spotted the Cubs two ninth inning runs, then rallied for three in the bottom of the ninth, Manny Mota driving in the last two with a two-out pinch double.

Run-scoring singles by Al Spangler and Don Kessinger gave the Cubs a 3-1 lead before the Pirates pulled it out on a single by Willie Stargell, a walk, Gene Alley's run-scoring single and Mota's double to center field off reliever Bill Stoneman.

Ron Swoboda seized the major league home run lead and powered the Mets past Philadelphia with his seventh homer, a second inning blast off Chris Short. Don Cardwell stopped the Phillies on five hits for his first victory after two losses.

Cleveland errors by second baseman Chico Salmon and first baseman Tony Horton.

Chicago's Peters was two innings away from being a winning pitcher after Tommy Davis smashed a three-run homer in the seventh.

But the Senators bounced back on a single by Sam Bowens and Frank Howard's run-scoring double before McMullen homered on reliever Bob Locker's first pitch to tie the score. His game-winning blast in the 12th was his fourth home run of the season.

Redwood Trackmen Triumph

Redwood and Novato high schools made up a postponed track meet yesterday afternoon and Novato probably would rather have kept it postponed, as the Marin County Athletic League-leading Giants beat them 77-50.

Bill Sather of Redwood swept both hurdles, the highs in 15.5 and the lows in 20.9, while Phil Emswaller of Novato won the long jump at 19-7½ and the 100 in 10.4.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Tricks On Trailering; How To Avoid Trouble

It's very easy to spot a boat being trailered by a car ahead of you; the bulk of the boat usually stands out like a sore thumb. But have you ever run up behind a car to discover, just in time, that he's got an empty boat trailer on the back?

The skeleton frame of the trailer often escapes notice—it's hit. Perhaps it's because it's so low.

I've often stopped at a traffic light and felt the car behind bump my trailer, when it's empty, yet it's never been hit when the boat is on it. I've also heard of several cases where trailers have been sideswiped by cars coming onto a fast highway where you can merge without stopping. It's common practice to come up to speed with the traffic on the throughway then slip into a space behind a car. And what a shock to find it already occupied by a low, skinny trailer you didn't see.

THERE ARE a couple of accidents on record where a trailer has been shoved into another lane by a car slipping in behind the one towing the trailer, resulting in a fearful traffic mix-up.

Most of the time, though, damage to the trailer is slight and the accident a minor one, but still it's a lot of trouble to stop and exchange names and addresses.

A lot of this trouble could be avoided if the empty trailer were made more easily noticed. Here's a way to do it:

GET A COUPLE of pieces of one by two lumber about three feet long. Stick them up like flag poles at the rear of the trailer, one at each side. Hold them with C-clamps. Mount a couple of small flags or any bits of cloth at the top of the poles and on a couple of pieces of string run forward from the tops to the winch stand. The string will also support the poles.

Believe me, your trailer will never get hit again.

However, there are other problems concerning boat trailering and here are some of the questions I've been asked:

Q. Is it good practice to leave a boat stored on its trailer?

A. Yes, as long as the trailer "fits" the boat well and gives the keel good support. This is so the boat won't go out of shape.

Q. Are trailer rules the same in all states?

A. Anything but. It's one of the wildest jungles of inconsistency you can imagine.

Q. How long can a boat trailer be?

A. In most states, it can't be any longer than 35 feet and the combination car and trailer length can't exceed 50 feet. However some states permit a combined length of 60 feet, and a few permit 70 feet — for example, on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Q. If you put a lot of gear in a trailer boat, should it be forward or aft?

A. The weight should be distributed so that 15 per cent of the total weight of trailer, boat and contents should be on the hitch. I use a bathroom scale to balance the load this way.

Q. I have to add weight to our boat to make it heavy in the front, otherwise all the weight is too far back. Should I try a new trailer?

A. First, see if the trailer axle and wheels can be moved on the frame a little to the rear. Most can be adjusted. This will give better weight distribution.

Q. My trailer wiggles from side to side at high speed. How can I stop it?

A. This is called "fishtailing" and is due to poor distribution of the weight . . . usually too far to the rear.

Q. Does pulling a boat and trailer hurt a car?

A. It certainly wears out the engine, bearings, tires and brakes a lot faster . . . probably a few other things I haven't noticed, too.

Q. I notice trailer manufacturers in their manuals warn against putting the trailer wheels in water when launching a boat. How can you avoid it?

A. In most cases, you can't. Launching ramps aren't constructed with the proper slope. The only thing to do is service the trailer wheel bearings with grease after every few dunkings.

Q. Any safety advice for pulling a heavy boat on a trailer?

A. On a trip, stop after the first 15 miles and check the trailer wheel bearings for heat, check the hitch and safety chains, the lights and the load fastenings. Then check the same things every 50 to 75 miles. Wheel bearings are most important. If they are running hot, stop at a service station and find out why. Maybe they just need grease.

Q. Is there a maximum to the weight of boat and trailer the average car can pull?

A. For the average 6-cylinder passenger car, auto engineers recommend a maximum trailer load of about a ton . . . 2,000 pounds. Anything bigger might require a pick-up truck or, at least, a car with specially heavy springs, bigger shock absorbers, maybe a bigger radiator and a five-bladed fan . . . even perhaps a lower ratio rear axle.

Seven Marin Drivers Race At Monterey

Seven Marin County drivers will be displaying their talents among more than 200 competitors in the Laguna Seca U. S. Road Racing Championships Friday and Saturday at Monterey.

The regional preliminaries are set for Saturday and Sunday, prior to Sunday's 2:30 p.m. professional start for the U. S. Road Racing Championships.

Jerry Lewis of Mill Valley will be in a Bourgeault racer in the Formula race along with Gene Pridmore of Tiburon in a Cooper-Ford.

Dave Parkhurst of Mill Valley will be in an A/H Sprite in the H Production race. Bud Harrington of Mill Valley will be in a TR Spitfire in the D Sports Racing event.

Harald Kirberg of Mill Valley in a Porsche and Bob Blackwood of Sausalito in a Porsche will be in the E Production race.

Marin Drivers Win Honors At Petaluma

Jerry Hoover of Mill Valley won the first heat at last weekend's Petaluma Auto Races at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

In the sportsman's first heat, Bob Filippi Jr., of Mill Valley and Chuck Louwaert of San Rafael finished second and third, respectively. Louwaert went on to finish second in the sportsman's semifinal.

Barber Moves Into $$ List

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Miller Barber's $20,000 first prize in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic moved him into the list of the game's top 10 money winners this year with a total purse of $53,918.

Barber had $47,587 in official PGA tournament winnings and $6,330 in unofficial prize money to place sixth on the list which is still headed by Tom Weiskopf with official winnings of $71,122 and a total of $77,677.

Others on the list with official and total winnings:

3. George Archer, $53,714, $56,557; 4. Don January, $48,428, $50,288; 5. George Knudson, $48,382, $55,030; 7. Kermit Zarley, $46,200, $49,793; 8. Tony Jacklin, $45,690, $48,652; 9. Gardner Dickinson, $45,369, $47,227; 10. Al Geiberger, $40,595, $41,726.

Lions To Trade For Bill Munson?

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions have all but agreed to trade three players and the team's top National Football League draft choice next year for quarterback Bill Munson of the Los Angeles Rams.

"There is no such deal, nothing is in the works in that area," said Joe Schmidt, head coach of the Lions.

But a high Lions' source said: "What did we give up? Nothing. I don't want to go to training camp this year with the same situation we had last year."

The situation was quarterbacking, Detroit's major problem for several years. Last season, with veteran Milt Plum and Karl Sweetan alternating at quarterback, the Lions managed only 1,631 yards passing compared with 2,752 in 1966.

The source said Detroit will trade flankerback Pat Studstill, halfback Tommy Watkins and Plum, plus the team's top draft choice for Munson.

BASKETBALL

BOWLING

CINCINNATI — Bowl Rite Bowling Supply of Joliet, Ill., won the championship in classic standings, and Dave's Auto Supply of Philadelphia won the regular team division top spot at the windup of the 75-day American Bowling Congress Tournament.

GENERAL

DENVER — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's 18-member council proposed resolution aimed at chartering a new organization to control track and field in this country.

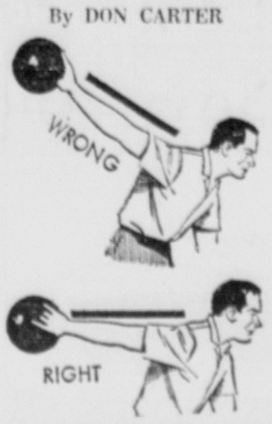
DUNFERMLINE, Scotland — Forty-nine fans were injured when the grandstand collapsed at a soccer match.

HORSE RACING

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Proper Proof, $6.20, narrowly beat Jig Time in the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Sometimes bowlers will swing the ball back too far in an attempt to gain more power and speed. This is a serious mistake. A too-high backswing will cause the bowler's accuracy to suffer, for such a "big" movement is difficult to control. Swing back to not more than shoulder height. Remember, speed is largely the result of a good, high release with your wrist stiff so that the finger lift gives the ball a forward spin.

Napa Driver Trying For Another Victory

Gene Dudley of Napa will be trying for three main event wins in a row when he leads a field of 60 hardtop drivers at the hardtop races in Vallejo speedway Saturday night.

MARIN BOWLING ROUNDUP

Conti Leads Record Spree In Classy Masters Event

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Orlando Conti Jr. of San Rafael led some record-cracking bowling in the qualifying round of the seventh annual Marin County Masters Tournament last weekend.

Conti, an owner in a San Rafael plumbing company, averaged 237 during the four-game block to wind up with a 950 series. His games scores were 225, 226, 252 and 247, wiping from the books a previous high qualifying series of 867.

Also going over the 867 mark were Gene Bluder, 246-264-184-232—926, and Tom Amiral, 222-238-222-204 — 886. That 264 by Bluder wiped out the previous single game record of 256. Ray Brusati also went over the mark with a 258 line.

The tourney's 15 top qualifiers and defending champ Elmer Tynes will begin semi-final round action Saturday at 7 p.m. Finals will be held the following day at 1 p.m. The weekend competition, as was last weekend's, will be at Country Club Bowl, San Rafael.

If the scores in the qualifying rounds are any indication, it will be quite a tournament. It took an 810 four-game block or better to reach this weekend's head-and-head phase of the tourney.

DOWN THE LANES — Mary Ann Powell rolled her first 200 game — exactly — in the Wig League No. 4 at Country Club. . . Elains Dias came close to a triplicate in the Nave Lanes Alley Kats II, 117-117-122. . . . Nancy Menary converted the 6-7 split in the Morning Glories at Country Club Bowl. . . . Jerry Lile again was hot in the Lucky Strikes League at Country Club, rolling a 636 series, but Peg Quezada stole the thunder with a 255 game, 101 pins better than her average and good enough for a Century patch from the Woman's International Bowling Congress. Peg had eight consecutive strikes in that game. . . Alice LaRue went up the ladder in the Wig League No. 6 at Country Club, 131-132-133.

THIS AND THAT — Elaine Collins of the Country Club Bowl Keglerettes League went 78 pins over her average with a 207. . . . Big scores in the Week-Enders League at Country Club came from Ron Baccei, 635, and Pat Piver, 574, while Joe Stocker picked up the 6-7-10 split. . . . In the Automotive League at Country Club, Dick Neal went 83 pins over his average with a 234 line and Harry Bower came near a slick triplicate, 188-188-192. . . . Bill Nave III led the Thursday Late Mixed at Nave Lanes with a 614 series, and Bobbe Hulbert had a near triplicate, 133-133-131. . . . Josi Kwan had an all-spare 179 game in the Friday Nite Leftovers at Nave Lanes. . . . It was a splitting day in the Sleepers League at Country Club Bowl, Pat Piver picking up the 6-7-9-10 and 4-10 splits, Arlene Fredieu the 4-10 and Sherry Ford the 6-7-10, but Myra Yerion was the star with a 231 game.

12 Marin Swimmers Make Class A Times

Twelve Marin Swim Club youngsters turned in A times at the San Rafael Swim Club's B meet at Terra Linda High School last Saturday and Sunday.

CAIN'S CAR CARE SERVICE

BRAKES
$39.50 most cars
• Arch shoes to fit drum
• Rebuild all cylinders
• Turn drums
• Add fluid, road test
• Free Brake adjustment

NOTE: Please shop for your complete price on these "come on" brake specials. Keep this fact in mind. There isn't one car in thirty that you can simply slap on new brake shoes, without turning drums—replacing seals and etc. So please be careful as it is common for that $20.00 brake special to wind up costing $60.00 or more. CAIN'S price is complete. Your invoice charge will be the price we advertise in the paper.

FRONT END ALIGNMENT
• Adjust camber caster. Toe in using shims as needed.
• Adjust steering column
• Lubricate parts as needed.

NOTE: Cain's averages an hour to an hour and 15 minutes on an alignment. In most cases for a car to be properly aligned it must be shimmed; shims when needed are always included in our price. The reason I'm going into this is, that recently a Tire Company store has moved into Marin County. They advertise a $5.95 alignment. People BEWARE, they can no more properly align a car for $5.95 than you can buy a pound of butter for 30 cents. The gimmick is that once they get your car in the air they scare the devil out of you and sell you a complete front end job, at list price or better. So beware—protect yourself and be certain to ask what your final bill is going to be! But better yet, come see us—we have no time for NONSENSE.

Today is Wednesday, May 1, the 122nd day of 1968 with 244 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Saturn and Venus. The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1873 penny post cards were placed on sale for the first time.

In 1884 work was started in Chicago on a 10-story building to be called "The Skyscraper."

In 1931 the Empire State Building, the world's largest skyscraper with 102 floors, was dedicated by Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

In 1960 the Russians shot down an American U2 plane on a spy mission over the Soviet Union.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. DUMMY TAKE

West opened the queen of hearts, and my candidate for deucedom won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts. He promptly blew the hand by leading out the ace and king of spades.

The queen of spades was not among those present on the second trump trick, and South was in trouble. He led the ace of clubs and then a low club, but West stepped up with the queen of clubs to cash the queen of spades. This left only one trump in dummy, and South couldn't ruff two clubs with that one trump.

South dragged it out for five long minutes, but wound up losing a trump, a diamond and two clubs. Down one.

SAFE GROUND

South was on safe ground when he took the ace of hearts and the ace of spades, but then he should give up a club trick before playing a second round of trumps.

No defense can then hurt South. If the defenders return a heart, South ruffs and leads out the king of spades. If the queen of spades is going to drop, she will do so just as happily at this stage as if the king of spades had been taken earlier.

RUFFS CLUB

Actually, as we know, the queen of spades does not drop. South takes the ace of clubs and ruffs a club in dummy. He returns to his hand by ruffing another heart and ruffs his last club in dummy. Then he cashes the top diamonds to score 10 easy tricks. Everybody would be happy, and my telephone bill would be much smaller.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Your hand is an unsavory stew since it contains neither an ace, a king, nor even a singleton, but the raise to two spades does not promise very much.

Snooty Waiters Hurt Trade

LONDON (UPI)—It's not the prices that keep people away from high class restaurants. It's awe, according to a report published by a London research sociologist.

"Snooty," waiters and "flamboyant, incomprehensible menus" discourage potential customers, the report said. "Customers are overawed," it said. "This, rather than cost, is what keeps them away."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

No Employment Drop Seen; Name Added To Legal Firm

For the rest of this quarter, at least, employment is not expected to drop off in San Rafael.

If a survey recently conducted by Manpower, Inc. is any criterion, most local businessmen expect either to maintain their present level of employment for the three-month period through June — or increase it. Of representatives contacted in 25 industries, 82 per cent thought it would stay the same; 18 per cent thought they might increase their hiring. No one predicted cutbacks.

For the three states of California, Nevada and Arizona, 23 per cent foresaw increased employment, 73 per cent expected no change and 2 per cent looked for a decrease in employment. Those expecting increases were predominantly in apparel manufacturing, retail department stores and in the beverage industry.

Shoeland's New Opening

The store is located in Northgate's unit three between Longs Drug Store and Lyons Restaurant. Civic leaders and company management personnel will cut a ribbon at 11 a.m. It is the first Marin outlet in a chain of retail establishments owned by G. L. Salinger and Associates of San Leandro and is the 12th store in the Bay Area.

Shoeland will offer a variety of footwear and accessories for men, women and children. It occupies 5,450 square feet and has been furnished with modern cases, chairs, fixtures and fitting equipment. Furnishings were designed for the store by the Weber-M and D Co. and color-coordinated by Mrs. Beverly Howland. Nat Burmeister was the general contractor.

The Northgate store will be managed by Richard A. Falcon of Bel Marin Keys. Falcon has lived in Marin since 1960. He previously managed a shoe store in San Francisco. He began selling shoes in his family's stores while going to school and has managed shoe stores in Chicago, Cleveland and New York.

Shoeland merchandise is in the company's general warehouse in San Leandro. Stock is brought in from Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and other major shoe centers.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

General Electric Potential Good

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Nearly 70 and retired, I've become discouraged with by 300 shares of General Electric bought in 1956-57 as an investment of great potential. The dividend has been increased once and we have only a 20-point price gain after 10 years. What would be a good switch with a higher yield? — C. F.

A. General Electric still has that great potential, in my judgment, and I would hold at least 100 shares to realize on the company's gradual emergence as a prime factor in growing markets both here and abroad for nuclear power plants, computers and commercial jet plane engines.

Over the period of your holding, GE's earnings have been depressed by the expenses connected with developing these markets and by claims arising from an antitrust suit back in 1960. More recently home appliance sales slowed down and consumer products represent over a quarter of the company's output. As the market soared upward from the March lows, your stock responded well to a series of favorable earnings reports. Shares are consequently trading higher and blue chips seem to be gaining somewhat in favor.

If you want higher-yielding replacements, you might switch 200 General Electric into Allied Chemical and Winn-Dixie Stores. The latter has boosted dividend payments for 24 consecutive years.

In conclusion I would like to say that my records show two GE dividend increases, one each for the years 1964 and 1966. These increases followed an extended period when $2 was paid annually.

Q. Due to an unforeseen accident my records of stock purchases have been destroyed. How can I get information on the original cost of these stocks? Some were purchased from a broker and others through payroll deductions. — L. W.

A. You have set yourself a painstaking task which I hope may be carried through to your satisfaction. My inquiries on your behalf lead me to suggest that you make a written request for help from the treasurer's office of the firm that made payroll deductions for you. You should also call on your broker — or the salesman who took your orders — to learn whether either one can assist you from sales records on file or from estimates based on statistical reports for the companies involved.

Bay Conservation Bill Snagged In Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to plug a major loophole in the law that created the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission yesterday got stuck, at least temporarily, in the Senate Finance Commiteee.

It got stuck when its author, Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, found he did not have the necessary seven votes to drop an amendment previously added to the bill by the governmental efficiency committee. The amendment exempts Emeryville from the bill, and possibly Albany.

The loophole is that the commission's control over bay fill expires next January when it makes its final report to the Legislature. The bill would extend the commission's control until 90 days after the final adjournment of the 1969 Legislature, thus allowing time to enact new fill controls if the lawmakers wish.

Legislative Analyist A. Alan Post estimated the cost of the extended control at $9,000.

The exemption, which Miller made clear he will try to water down, would allow Emeryville to do an undisclosed amount of bay filling for park and recreation purposes. The city has been feuding with BCDC, and has won a court decision to allow it some filling.

Emeryville's lobbyist, Allan D. LeFevre, told the Independent-Journal that the city sought the amendment to prevent any undercutting of the legal position won in court. He predicted that Miller would not get enough votes to drop the amendment when the bill is heard again 9 a.m. Tuesday in the Capitol.

Miller, the cnairman of the committee, said his bill would be heard first next week. Yesterday, his bill was not heard for more than three hours after the committee opened its hearing.

The finance committee also recommended that the Senate pass a bill by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, to authorize the state Department of Water Resources to acquire land for recreational purposes in federal flood control projects. The bill could affect projects in Mill Valley and the Ross Valley.

Gottlieb Faces More Fines For Hippies' Haven

SANTA ROSA (AP)—Wealthy Lou Gottlieb, actor and former member of the Limeliters, was fined another $2,000 yesterday for violations at his hippie-haven ranch.

Gottlieb, under court order from Judge Lincoln Mahan to either kick out his hippies or install sanitary facilities, now owes $8,500 in fines.

The hippies live in shacks and tents on the 31-acre Morning Star Ranch at Occidental. The far-outs call it "Alternate Society."

One of the 40 hippies living at the ranch said Sonoma County officials were "liars" when they said there were no toilets or bathing facilities.

Dist. Atty. John Hawkes said he now intends to seek a permanent injunction to bar hippies from Gottlieb's property.

Charges Against Mayor Dropped

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — Charges against former Millbrae Mayor Anthony Rossi and an associate, Joseph L. Fagani, have been ordered dropped on motion of the San Mateo County district attorney.

The accused men had been charged with perjury and conspiracy to avoid a penalty in connection with $10,627 in real property taxes.

The motion was heard yesterday by Superior Court Judge Melvin Cohn, who issued the order.

A jury trial in February concluded with the panel standing 9-3 for acquittal. The motion to drop charges came as the court was about to set a retrial date.

ANDERSEN'S
CARPET & UPHOLSTERY CLEANING SERVICE
PUTS LIFE BACK INTO YOUR CARPETS AND FURNITURE

Have you ever had your carpet or furniture cleaned and it seemed limp and lifeless?

Well stop worrying because Andersen's guarantees that you can actually see and feel the difference. If you can't you are given a full refund!

We use a new soil retardant method. This new plastic retardant, manufactured by Dupont, is driven deep into the material in a safe luke-warm solution.

We clean at lukewarm temperatures because it is safe, colors won't bleed, no shrinkage and most of all, mild temperatures won't damage carpet or upholstery fibers. For example, would you wash your best wool sweater in boiling water?

Manufacturers of the Kodels, nylons, and the polyesters specify "Do not use Hot water temperatures when cleaning."

We guarantee cleaner, more beautiful carpets and furniture with protection and body you can actually see and feel, or your money back. We know what we're doing and we guarantee it.
